SHRI BAHADUR SINGHJI SINGHI

By

Acharya Jina Vijaya Muni

On 7th of July, 1944, Babu Shri Bahadur Singhji Singhi left his mortal coils at the comparatively early age of fiftynine. His loss has been widely felt. His aged mother received this rude shock so ill that she did not long outlive him. His worthy sons have lost an affectionate and noble father, the industrialists and businessmen of the country one of their pioneers, the large number of his employees a benevolent master, scholarship one of its best patrons and the poor people of his native district a most generous donor. To me his loss has been personal. My contact with him was a turning point in my life. Whatever I have been able, during the past fifteen years, to achieve in the field of scholarship is due directly to him. The financial assistance with which he backed up my activities was the least of his contributions. But for his love of scholarship with which he inspired me, this chapter of my life would have been entirely different. To his sacred memory I am penning these few lines.

Babu Shri Bahadur Singhji was born in Azimganj, Murshidabad, in Vikram Samvat 1941, in the ancient family of the Singhis, who were of old the treasurers of the Mughal emperors. The family had passed through many viciisstudes of fortune and in the 17th century it migrated from Rajaputana to Bengal, but thanks to the energy and enterprise of Singhiji's father, Babu Dalchandji Singhi, the family firm became a very flourishing concern.

At an early age Singhiji joined the family business and by pushing ahead with father's enterprises, succeeded in making the firm the foremost in the mining industry of Bengal and Central India. Besides he also acquired. vast zamindaries and had interests in many industrial and banking concerns This early preoccupation with business affairs prevented his having a college education. But Singhiji was studious and introspective by nature. Unlike many other wealthy men who spend their money and time in such fads as the races, the theatres, and the like, he devoted all his spare time to study and cultural development. He acquired an excellent command over several languages. Art and literature were the subjects of his choice. He was very fond of collecting rare and invaluable specimens of ancient sculpture, paintings, coins, copperplates and inscriptions. His manuscript collection contained a large number of rare works of historical and cultural importance, among which mention must be made of a unique manuscript of the Koran which was handed down from Baber to Aurangzeb and bears the autographs of all of them. It is recorded therein that it was considered by them all as more valuable than the empire.

His numismatic collection, especially of Kushan and Gupta coins, is considered the third best in the world. He also had a good and large collection of works of art and historical importance. Singhiji was a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts (London), a member of the Royal Asiatic Society of Bengal, the Bangiya Sahitya Parishad, the Indian Research Institute and a Founder-Member of the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan. He was also the President of the Jain Shwetambara Conference held in Bombay in 1926. Though he had made no special study of law he was well up in the legal matters. On one occasion when he found that his lawyers were not properly representing his case he himself pleaded out the case successfully, much to the surprise of the bench and the bar who took him for an accomplished advocate.

Though a highly religious and leading figure in the Jain Community he had an outlook which was far from sectarian. More than three fourths of the six lakhs and over of his donations were for non-Jain causes. More often than not he preferred to give his assistance anonymously and he did not keep a list of his donations even when they were made in his name. To the Chittaranjan Seva Sadan, Calcutta, he gave Rs. 10,000/-, when Mahatmaji had been to his place for the collection of funds; to the Hindu Accademy, Daultapur, Rs. 15,000/-, to the Taraqi-Urdu Bangala 5000/-, the Hindi Sahitya Parishad 12,500/-, to the Vishuddhanand Sarasvati Marwari Hospital 10,000/-, several maternity homes 2,500/-, to the Benares Hindu University 2,500/-, to the Jiaganj High School 5000/-, to the Jiaganj London Mission Hospital 600-, to the Jain Temples at Calcutta and Murshidabad 11,000/-. to the Jain Dharma Pracharak Sabha, Manbhum 5,000/-, to the Jain Bhavan. Calcutta, 15.000/-, to the Jain Pustak Prachar Mandal, Agra, 7,500/-, to the Agra Jain Temple 3,500/-, to the Ambala Jain High School, 2,100/-, for the Prakrit Kosh 2,500,-, and the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan 10,000/-. At the Singhi Park Mela held at his Ballyganj residence in which Viscount Wavell, then Commander-in-Chief, and Lord John Herbert, Governor of Bengal and Lady Herbert participated, he donated Rs. 41,000/-, for the Red Cross Fund.

The people of the district of Murshidabad, his native place, will ever remain grateful to him for having distributed several thousand maunds of rice at the low price of Rs. 8/- when rice was selling at Rs. 24/- in those terrible years of 1942-41, himself thereby suffering a loss of over three lakhs. In May-June 1944 he again spent Rs. 59,000/- for the distribution of cloth, rice and coins for the people of that place.

My close association with Singhji began in 1931, when he invited me to occupy the Chair for Jain Studies which he was starting at the Vishvabharati. Due to unfavourable climatic conditions of Shantiniketan I could not continue to work there for more than four years, but during those years was founded the Singhi Jain Scries. During the period of ten years of my principalship of Gujarat Puratattva Mandir, Ahmedabad, and even before that I had been collecting materials of historical and philological importance and folk-lore etc. which had been lying hidden in the great Jain Bhandars of Patan, Ahmedabad, Baroda etc. I persuaded Singhiji to start a series which would publish works dealing with the vast materials in my possession, and also other important Jain texts and studies prepared on the most modern scientific lines. On the works of the Series he spent through me more than Rs. 75,000/-. During this long period of over a dozen years he not even once asked me as to how and for what works the amount was spent. Whenever the account was submitted he did not ask for even the least information, but sanctioned it casting merely a formal glance on the accounts sheets. But he showed the most discriminating interest in the matter that was being published and on the material and manner in which they were being brought out. His only desire was to see the publication of as many works as possible during his lifetime. In May 1943 at my instance he gave over the Series to the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan. In September 1943 I had been to Calcutta to negotiate the purchase, for the Bhavan, of a well-equipped library of a retired professor. Singhiji casually asked me what arrangements had been made for meeting the cost. I promptly replied that there was no cause for worry as long as donors like himself were there. He smiled; he had decided. Eventually he pursuaded me to go in for the Nahar Collection which was a still more valuable one. He did not live long enough to present this literary treasure to the Bhavan; but his eldest son and my beloved friend, Babu Shri Rajendra Singh has fulfilled his father's wish though he was totally ignorant of it and has got this unique collection for the Bhavan and spent Rs. 50,000/- for the purpose.

By the end of 1943 his health began to decline. In the first week of January, 1944, when I went to him at Calcutta in connection with the work of the Bharatiya Itihasa Samiti I found him extremely unwell. Notwithstanding his ill health he talked to me for more than a couple of hours on the day of my arrival there. The first thing he said in the course of this lengthy, though very sweet talk, was to give me a mild reproof for undertaking the long and tedious journeys to Calcutta, Benaras and Cawnpore in spite of my ill health. He discussed with absorbing interest the details of the Samiti's proposed History of India, a subject of great interest to him. Our talks then drifted to the subject of the History of Jainism in which connection also he expressed his opinion about the material to be utilised for such a work. At the termination of our talks, which this time lasted for over three hours, I found him much exhausted and drooping in spirits.

On the 7th January his health took a turn for the worse. On the 11th January I went to take leave of him, which he, full of emotion, gave with a heavy heart, exclaiming, "Who knows whether we shall meet again or not?" I requested him to take heart and remain buoyant. He would be soon restored to normal health. But while I was stepping out of his room, my eyes were full of tears and his last words began to eat into my heart. Ill luck prevented our second meeting. That lofty and generous soul finally left its mortal hebitat at mid-day on 7th July, 1944. May his soul rest in peace!

His sons, Babu Rajendra Singh, Babu Narendra Singh and Babu Virendra Singh are treading in the footsteps of their revered father. During the past year on the Singhi Series alone they have spent over Rs. 20,000/-. I have already mentioned how Babu Rajendra Singh purchased for the Bhavan the valuable Nahar collection. Babu Narendra Singh has also spent Rs. 30,000/- for a foundation of a Jain Bhavan at Calcutta. Babu Rajendra Singh and Babu Narendra Singh have also very generouly promised me to continue to meet all the expenses of the Singhi Jain Series and requested me to bring out as many works as possible, at whatever cost so that this unique series founded and cherished by their late lamented father may continue to bring to light the invaluable treasures of Jain literature and culture.

In recognition of his unique assistance the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan has decided to perpetuate Singhiji's memory by naming its Indological library after him. Further, one of its main halls will bear his name. The Bhavan's Jain Department will also be known as the Singhi Jain Shikshapith.†

GENERAL EDITOR'S FOREWORD

Today I am placing in the hands of scholars the first part of Svayambhūdeva's great Apabhramsa epic Paümacariu as the Thirtyfourth Volume of the Singhi Jain Series, and it is but natural for me to feel a sense of joy at seeing my long-cherished hope fulfilled at last in this form.

It is commonly known among earnest scholars of Apabhramsa that among the very few precious jewels preserved to us from the vast literary treasures of Apabhramsa language, the present epic of Svayambhū occupies the foremost place. My attention was drawn to the existence of this poem for the first time in 1919-1920 A.D. when, during my stay at Poona, I got the most pleasant opportunity of examining the rich Bombay Government collection of ancient MSS, which was formerly kept at the Deccan College and was shifted afterwards to the famous Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute. At that time late Dr. P. D. Gune, who was among the chief founder-members of the Institute and who eventually became one of my most affectionate friends, was working as a very enthusiastic secretary of the B.O.R.I. He was also a keen student of Indian philology and hence one of the results of our contact was that his interest in the study and investigation of Apabhramsa became greatly sharpened. Once he read with me a few Sandhis from the beginning and end of the Paümacariu and also took down some notes with a view to prepare a short article on the subject, for the Annals of the B.O.R.I. During those days at Poona my learned Digambar Jain friend Pandit Nathuram Premi also used to visit me now and then and give me the pleasure of his company for several days, during which I received his enthusiastic co-operation in the research and publication of Jain literature. I drew his attention also to the important Apabhramsa work of Syavambhū and he wrote a few informative lines on the Paümacariu too in his article 'Mahākavi Puspadanta aur un-kā Mahāpurāņa which was published in the Jain Sähitya Samsodhak (July, 1923), then freshly started by me from Poona as a quarterly for bringing to light researches on Jain literature.

In my Gujarati Foreword to the Paumasiricariu of Dhāhila Kavi, jointly edited by Professors M. C. Modi and H. C. Bhayani and published as the Twenty-fourth Volume of the present series, I have already outlined in short the course of progress achieved so far in the field of Apabhramsa studies, and it need not be repeated here. During the course of last forty years hundreds of Apabhramsa works, big and small, have been traced and many of them either have been or are being edited and made known to the public by various scholars, Indian as well as foreign.

Among them the compositions of three Jain poets enjoy prominence because of their great extent and their epic form. These three poets are Svavambhū, Puspadanta and Haribhadra. Of these, Svavambhū belonged most probably to the Yapaniya Jain sect (a sect which though existing at present only in name, once enjoyed a status parallel to the Svetambara and Digambara sects) and Puspadanta was a Digambara, and their literary activity flourished in the Mahārāstra-Karņātaka region. Haribhadra, on the other hand, was a Svetambara Jain and his literary activity was carried on in the Rājasthāna-Gujarāta region. Chronologically Syavambhū comes first, Puspadanta next and after him appears Haribhadra. Svayambhū's date is not fixed with definiteness, but as shown in the Introduction by Dr. Bhayani we can reasonably place him between the beginning of the eighth and end of the nineth century. Puspadanta's date is fixed as his Mahāpurāņa was composed between 959 and 965 A.D. Similarly Haribhadra's date is supplied to us by his own work which was completed in 1159 A.D. Talking of the compositions of these great poets of Apabhramsa letters. Svavambhū's two extensive works are the Paimacariu and the Ritthanemicariu, Puspadanta's big work is Tisatthimahapurisagunālamkāra or Mahāpurāna, while Nemināhacariu is the corresponding epic of Haribhadra. Of these Mahāpurāņa has been already properly edited by Dr. P. L. Vaidya and published in three parts in the Manikvacandra Digambar Jain Granthamālā. A portion of that poem dealing with the narrative of Hariyamsa has been also separately published by that eminent German scholar Dr. L. Alsdorf and published by the Hamburg University.

As suggested at the outset, the idea of publishing the works of Svayambhū as also the Nemināhacariu of Haribhadra was with me since quite long. When I was working as the Director of Gujarāt Purātattva Mandir (Gujarat Oriental Research Institute) which functioned as the Postgraduate and Research Department of Gujarāt Rāstrīya Vidyāpīth (Gujarat National University) founded in Ahmedabad with the great efforts of Mahatma Gandhi, I had prepared a scheme for that Institute for publishing ancient Indian literature and in the Series that was consequently started under the name 'Purātattva Granthāvali' I had intended to include, along with many Sanskrit, Pāli, Prakrit, Apabhramsa and Old Gujarati works, the Harivamsapurāņa of Puspadanta and the present work of Svayambhū. With that end in view I had also got them copied from the MSS. But due to lack of favourable circumstances the idea could not be carried out. Afterwards in A.D. 1930, when I undertook to work as the general editor of the Singhi Jain Series, my old temptation of bringing to light those two works revived with fresh force. In the meanwhile, through the admirable efforts of my learned friend Pandit Nathuram Premi, the Mahāpurāṇa of Puṣpadanta was, as said above, edited by Dr. P. L. Vaidya and published in the Māṇikyacandra Digambar Jain Granthmālā. The remaining work, the Paümacariu of Svayambhū has been taken up for editing by my learned pupil Dr. Bhayani and its first part comprising the first Kāṇḍa (the Vidyādhara-kāṇḍa) is happily published herewith.

When Prof. Bhayani requested me to allow him to work under my guidance for the Ph.D. degree of the University of Bombay, I advised him to take up some Apabhramsa text for that purpose and accepting that advise whole-heartedly, he started in all earnestness to study Apabhramsa literature.

Already Prof. (now Dr.) Bhayani had acquired sound knowledge of Sanskrit. He held an M.A. degree of the Bombay University with the first class in that subject. But I found him more attracted towards linguistic studies and therefore I asked him to familiarize himself with Prakrit and especially with Apabhramsa literature. Later on at my suggestion he undertook to study several aspects of that unique Apabhramsa poem, Samdeśarāsaka of Abdala Rahamāna, then being edited by me. This study along with my edition of that poem has been published as the Twenty-second Volume of the Singhi Jain Series. After that in collaboration with Prof. M. C. Modi he edited the Paumasiricariu of Dhāhila Kavi which has appeared as the Twenty-fourth Volume of the same series.

Finding him now well-equipped I induced him to take up for his Ph.D. thesis the work of editing Svayambhū's Paūmacariu, which, as stated above, occupied first place among all the works of Apabhramsa literature available to us and hence to bring it out was my persistently cherished desire. In view of the great extent of the work it was decided that in the first instance he should prepare a critical edition of the first Kāṇḍa only of that work and should confine his textual and general studies to that portion. It hardly needs to be told that the present volume is the result of these studies of Prof. Bhayani. In view of its merits, the University of Bombay has accepted this thesis and its editor has been awarded a doctorate. This success of my beloved pupil was naturally a matter of great pleasure to me and I also take this opportunity to offer him my cordial congratulations for that.

Though, in this way, Dr. Bhayani had completed his task so far as his immediate purpose of preparing a doctorate dissertation was concerned, in view of his intense interest in Apabhramsa studies, I urged him to edit whole of the Paümacariu. He accepted the task gladly and continued his work on that text. And in this connection I am very glad to note here that the printing of the second and third Kāṇḍa of the Paümacariu is nearing completion and, along with the first part, I hope to place them in the form of the second part of that work in the hands of the learned readers of the Singhi Jain Series.

The present work of Svayambhū has already attracted attention of several scholars and critics in Hindi and Gujarati. For instance in his Apabhramsa selections called 'Apabhramsa-pāthāvalī' the Gujaratī scholar Prof. M. C. Modi has included a few Sandhis from both the epics of Syavambhü. Similarly the famous Buddhist scholar and Hindi author Pandit Rahula Samkrityayana has given a prominent place to the Paümacariu of Svayambhū and has included several Sandhis from it in the first volume of his anthology of Hindi poetry called Hindi Kāvya Dhārā. In 1943 during his halt at Bombay prior to his departure to Russia, Pandit Samkrityayana stayed with me at the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan for about a couple of months and at that time he had an occasion to examine the good collection of Apabhramsa literature that was with me. He was quite impressed with it and took down numerous excerpts, notes, etc., which material he utilized in preparing the first volume of Hindi Kāvya Dhārā (Hindi Poetic Anthology) intended to serve as a sort of convenient Apabhramsa reader for the Hindi students. In his introductory remarks to that work my learned friend Rahula Samkrityayana has made certain observations which are worthy of note for all students of this subject. He says: "हमारे इसी यगमें नहीं हिन्दी कविताके पाँचों युगोंके जितने कवियोंको हमने यहाँ संग्रहीत किया है, उनमें यह निस्संकोच कहा जा सकता है, कि स्वयंभ सब से बड़ा कवि है। वस्तृतः वह भारतके एक दर्जन अमर कवियोंमेंसे एक था। आश्चर्य और कोघ दोनों होता है कि लोगोंने कैसे ऐसे महान किं को भला देना चाहा। (It can be said without hesitation that not only among the poets of this-i.e. the first-period, but among those of all the five periods of Hindi poetry represented in the present anthology, Svayambhū was the greatest. In fact he was one of the dozen immortal poets of India. It is a matter of wonder and indignation that people could forget such a great poet.)

As Mahāsthavira Pandit Rahula Samkrityayana has prepared his selections with a view to unfold rise and development of Hindi, we can quite understand why he regards Svayambhū as the leading pioneer among Hindi poets. Really speaking Svayambhū was the chief literary ancestor of Apabhramsa poets. Apabhramsa being the source of early as well as modern forms of New Indo-Aryan languages like Marathi, Hindi, Gujarati, Rajasthani, Bengali, Oriya, Assamese, Panjabi, etc., Svayambhū's poetry can be looked upon with equal propriety as the forerunner of Hindi poetry as that of the poetry of other vernaculars like Gujarati, Marathi, Rajasthani, Bengali, etc. Accordingly Svayambhū's work would prove very much useful to all students of New Indo-Aryan languages also.

I also earnestly hope to bring out, circumstances favouring, in near future, the remaining two Kāndas also (they are under preparation) as the third part of the Paümacariu, so that a highly valuable and pioneer source for the study of Apabhramsa language and literature becomes available in full to scholars, to shed fresh light on the problems under their investigation.

PREFACE

When, in about 1942, I was encouraged by Muni Śrī Jinavijavaji to take up study of some Apabhramsa work for my doctorate dissertation. I had little imagined he would suggest to me to select with that purpose such an important work as Svayambhū's Paümacariu, which was known to be the earliest Puranic epic in Apabhramsa, available till then only in the MS. form. Considering myself fortunate for getting, through Muniji's kindness, such a singular opportunity. I started, under his instruction and guidance, collecting materials with a view to prepare a critical edition of the Vidyadharakanda (and eventually, of the whole text) of the Paümacariu. It is now-after a lapse of eleven years that I have been able to complete and put before the public the critical edition of the first Kanda of that work. Having had to shoulder various other duties, it was not possible for me to devote to that task sufficient time and attention at a stretch. I could work on it only at intervals. This would explain the long time taken to complete it.

I had two Mss. of the Paümacariu to begin with. At that time the information regarding a third Ms. of the work was quite indefinite and the chances of acquiring it, very remote. Hence I had prepared the text of the whole of the Vidyādhara-kāṇḍa running over some 2700 distichs by collating the two Mss. then at my disposal. But later on I came to know of the whereabouts of the third Ms. and when I could get and examine it, I found it superior to both the other Mss. that were with me. As a consequence I had to reconstitute the whole of the text of the Vidyādhara-kāṇḍa. This fact also was responsible for considerable delay.

Although with the publication of this edition I have completed my work on the Vidyādhara-kāṇḍa for the present, I feel dissatisfied with it in more than one ways. Especially in the critical studies connected with the Vidyādhara-kāṇḍa I have not been able to touch some interesting aspects, like the form of the Apabhraṁśa epic, Svayambhū's style, his poetry, etc., and even the aspects that are studied still leave scope for further investigation. The only genuine satisfaction I can derive from the present effort is in hoping that this might induce some research workers interested in bringing to light Apabhraṁśa literature, to devote more attention to the external aspects of the texts like language, metre, form, style, etc., which are found neglected in general. Of course all the while I was engaged in the present study, the highly prized pleasure of being mentally in the intimate company of a poet of lasting glory like Svayambhū was mine own, and needs no express mention.

PREFACE ix

There have been already several valuable efforts to present systematically the facts of Apabhrainsa grammar taking some particular text as the basis. One such attempt has been made from a comparative view-point also. Hence for the Apabhrainsa of the text edited here I have thought it enough to point out only those grammatical facts which in some way or other appeared striking or which were found to specially corroborate facts known from other sources. Similarly in preparing the Index Verborum the aim has been rather to give a glossary of select words than to register all the words exhaustively. Still all the verbal forms have been included along with their analysis, and care has been taken not to leave out any word of note.

Svayambhū would naturally invite comparison with his successor Puşpadanta, the only Apabhraṁśa epic poet whose works are published so far. And to anyone making a casual comparison it will be obvious that Svayambhū's style as compared with that of Puṣpadanta is simpler, direct, less elaborate and ornate and less weighed down with the burden of learning. His language is also comparatively simpler. Of course a correct appraisal of Svayambhū's poetic genius could not be made till all his works are published. In this connection I may state that so far as the Paümacariu is concerned further thirty-six Sandhis have been already printed and it is intended to publish the rest of the text as early as possible.

As the present edition was prepared by way of a thesis for the Ph.D. degree of the University of Bombay and as a particular time limit was fixed for its submission, the Introduction had to be rushed through the press within the short period of one month. Without much difficulty one can spot a few signs of hurry in the printing etc., of this work. For these I crave the indulgence of the scholars.

In the end there remains for me the pleasant duty of acknow-ledging my obligations to various persons and institutions who have been in some way or other helpful to me in the task that was undertaken by me. In the first place I have to express my deep sense of obligation to my Guru Acharya Jinavijaya Muni. I owe to him so much right from the selection of the subject and acquiring and deciphering of Mss. down to the taking up of the work for publishing in the Singhi Jain Series that it would be very difficult to mention everything in detail. This last fact of becoming once again associated with the Singhi Jain Series, which has been accepted by the world of scholars as a highly illustrious achievement of its all-dedicating general editor, I regard as a valuable privilege. Without Muniji's help and guidance and especially without his personal and affectionate interest in my studies, I could not have undertaken or brought out the present work.

I also express my sincere gratitudes to the generous patrons of the Singhi Jain Series. Though Babu Bahadur Singhji Singhi, the noble founder of the Singhi Jain Series is no more with us, his pious wishes for furthering the cause of our ancient heritage of literature has been quite willingly carried out by his two worthy sons, Babu Rajendra Singh Singhi and Babu Narendra Singh Singhi, and lovers of learning cannot but appreciate this contribution of theirs towards bringing to light priceless riches of our literary past.

My thanks are also due to Prof. Dr. Hiralal Jain, to Pandit Nathuram Premi, the General Secretary of the Māṇikyacandra Digambar Jain Granthamālā, to Prof. P. K. Gode, Curator, Bhandarkar, Oriental Institute, Poona, to Pandit Ambalal P. Shah, to Pandit Chainsukhdasji Nyāyatīrtha, Adhyakṣa, Śrī Digambar Jain Sanskrit College, Jaipur, and to the Secretary, Sri Digamar Atiśay Kṣetr Śrī Mahāvīrjī Prabandhkāriṇī Committee, Jaipur, for getting the information and loan of the various Mss. of the Paümacriu; to the Manager, Nirnayasagar Press and to late Shri Dhirubhai Dalal, Secretary, Akhil Bharat Printers Ltd., for their co-operation while the work was under print. Without the special attention given by the latter, whose unexpected early demise will be greatly regretted, the Introduction could not have been printed so promptly.

I also avail this opportunity to thank the University of Bombay for having awarded to me a research scholarship for three years during the initial stage of my occupation with the present study.

I would be failing in my duty if I do not give here expression to my feeling of obligation to the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan which has provided me all the facilities for carrying on this research work in Apabhramsa language and literature.

INTRODUCTION

1. INTRODUCTORY

The Jainas and especially the Digambaras deserve great credit for continuing the Sanskrit and Prakrit Epic, Puranic and Mahākāvya traditions in their highly precious contributions to Apabhramśa literature. Along with Caturmukha, Puspadanta and several others, Svayambhū's name stands in the front rank of Apabhramsa poets and scholars. His poetical works, and especially his two voluminous epics dealing with the narrative of Rama and of the Pandavas and Krsna had earned him the cherished titles of Mahākavi and Kavirāja. His manual of Pk. and Ap. metres is invaluable for us for the light it throws on the pre-ninth century literary activity in Pk. and Ap. Held in high respect by Puspadanta and many others, his position cannot be overestimated.

These facts would serve as sufficient inducement for any one interested in bringing to light MIA. materials and sources for the study of Indian literature and culture, to undertake publishing the works of Svayambhū. Of his two Ap. epics the Paümacariu (Pc.), Sk. Padmacaritam, containing the Rāma-story in accordance with the Jain tradition is proposed to be published in the first instance.

The Paimacariu has ninety Sandhis and is divided into five Kāṇḍas or Books. For the purpose of the present thesis I have critically edited and studied the first of the five Kāṇḍas, called the Vijjāhara-Kaṇḍa, Sk. VidyādharaKāṇḍa, which comprises the first twenty Sandhis of PC. The general studies contained in Introduction and Index in the present work are confined to the Vidyādhara-Kānda alone.

2. CRITICAL APPARATUS AND TEXT-CONSTITUTION Critical Apparatus.

The Jinaratnakośa records only one Ms. of Svayambhū's Paümacariu. It gives the following information under the entry Rāmāyaņavurāņa:

by Caturmukha' Svayambhudeva. It is written in the Apabhramsa language. It was begun by Caturmukha Svayambhū and was completed by his son, Tribhuvana Svayambhū. It contains 90 Sandhis (Bhandarkar) V Report No. 1120.

Since the Jinaratnakośa is compiled from the published Mss. catalogues only and since the Mss. collections of many Jain Bhandars have not been catalogued, the possibility of tracing other Ms. or Mss. of PC. was quite obvious. And through the efforts of my guide Acarya Jina Vijaya Muni and others I succeeded in securing another and later on a third manuscript of PC. The source and description of these three Mss. utilized in constituting the text of the Vidyādharakāṇḍa are as follows:

1. Ms. P. From the Government Mss. collection deposited at the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona. This Ms. is No. 1120 from the Collection of 1884-87 described in the 'Fifth Report of a Tour in Search of Sanskrit Manuscripts by Dr. R. G. Bhandarkar'. Paper Ms. size $11\frac{1}{2}$ " \times $4\frac{1}{2}$ ". 226 folios, of which folios No. 19, 24, 34, 164-172, 189-192 (16 in all) are missing. About 13 to 16 lines per side. About 46 to 56 letters per line. Pegins on folio 1 verso. ends on folio 226 recto. Jain Devanagari script. Corrected at several places in a different hand, which casually notes variant readings also. Occasional marginal glosses in vulgar Sanskrit, which also appear to have been copied from an earlier Ms. On folio 1 recto is noted रामायणपुरा गं (बालभाषायाम). Colophon of P. ।।छ।। संबत १५२१ वर्षे (added marginally) जेष्टमासे सुदि १० वृद्धवारे ॥ श्रीगोपाच रेट्गाँ श्रीमलसंघे बला-त्कारगणे शरदवतीगच्छे। श्रीनंदिसंघे। भ० टटारक श्रीकृंदवृंदान्तवन्त्रये। भ०। श्रीप्रभाचंद्रदेवा । तत्पटटे । श्रीपञ्चनंदिदेवा । तत्पटटे श्रीशुभवंद्रदेवा । तत्पटटे श्री जिनचंद्रदेवा । तत्र श्रीपद्मनंदि-शिष्य-श्रीमदनकीतिदेवा । तत-सिप्य-श्रीनेत्रानंदिदेवा । तिन्निमिन्ने पंडेलवालान्वये । लहाडचागोत्रे । सं० गही धामा तदभार्या धनधी तयो पूत्री सं ६ ईन्हा-बीझा तत्र सं ० ईन्हा-भार्या साध्वी सबीरी तयो पताः सं ० वोहिष्ट-भरहो । मं० ईस्वर-पूत्री मुवा। एतानज-न्यान्यावरणीय कर्म-प्यार्थ ६६ पुस्तकं लिप्या पिनं ॥ ज्ञानवा ज्ञानदानेन निर्भयोऽभयदानत:। अन (the rest is illegible. as the edge of the folio is damaged).

Thus the Ms. is dated 1521 V.S. or 1464-5 A.D. and was copied at Gopācala-durga, i.e., Gwalior Fort. The anonymous marginal gloss is earlier to this date at least by several years, as it also seems to have been copied from an earlier model. Its Sanskrit is cureless, incorrect and considerably vulgarized. At a few places he gloss gives vernocular equivalents of the terms occurring in the text.

2. Ms. S. This Ms. belongs to the Mss. collection of the Jain Bhandar of the Godika temple in Samganer situated in Jaipur State Paper Ms. size 12'' < 5-2.5'' 358 folios, of which Nos. 149 and 150 are missing. About 13 lines per side. About 40 letters per line. Begins on folio 1 verso, ends on folio 358 verso. Jain Devanagari script. Bold hand.

Colophoa of S.:॥ छ॥ रामायणपुराणं समाप्तं॥ चतुर्मगर्णमन्यादि सदा॥ Marginally b. a different and obviously later hand: संवत् १७०५ आगीज (illegible) वि क त्याराम-लक्कीरामाभ्यां रामायनाभिधानं बारअ गंगानेरिमध्ये गंदीका है देहरै सास्त्रं वत ॥१॥

Thus 1775 V.S. is the date of presenting the Ms. to the Bhandar. The date of conying may be much earlier. On account of greater proportion of gum in the ink used for writing this Ms., many folios had got stuck with one another and hence the writing on several pages has been blurred or illegibly damaged.

3. Ms. A. This Ms. is from the Mss. collection in the Bhandār at Amer. Jaipur in the management of Sri Digambar Jain Atisay Ksctr Srī Mahāvīrjī Prabandh-Kārini Committee, Jaipur. Paper Ms. size $11\frac{1}{2}'' \times 4\frac{1}{2}''$. 357 folios. About 13 lines per side. About 39 letters per line. Begins on folio 1 verso, ends on Iolio 357. Jain Devanāgarī script. Colophon of A: ।। छ।। संवत् १५४१ वर्षे वंशाष सुदि १५ सोमवासरे अनुराधानक्षत्रे घटिका ६० मुरिताण-बहलोल-राज्ये. (marginally: ग्रं.० संस्था १२०२५ ।)

Thus the copying date of A. is 1541 V.S. i.e. 1484-45 A.D.

Text-Constitution.

At the time I started preparing a critical edition of the Vidyādhara-Kāṇḍa of PC., I could secure only two Mss., viz, P. and S. The information relating to the Jaipur Ms. was of an indefinite character. Of the two Mss. the Poona Ms. was earlier, more carefully copied and possessing the advantages of corrections and marginal gloss. Compared with it, the Ms. from Sāṃgāner indicated some carelessness on the part of its scribe, as occasionally some letters or lines of the text which, on other grounds could be shown to be genuine, were missing in it. Considered from the point of view of orthography also, P. in many points appeared to preserve faithfully the original spelling, while S. exhibited a strong tendency to modernize it. In the light of this comparison, I accepted P. as the basis and edited the first twenty Sandhis by collating P. and S.

In the meanwhile, the information regarding the Jaipur Ms. became definite, and, with some effort, I succeeded in securing it. On examining that Ms. it was found that though its copying date was twenty years later than that of P., in many places it preserved the text of the original more faithfully than did any other Ms. and thus the conclusion became inevitable that A. was based on an original which was older than the original of either P. or S. The correquence of this finding also was quite apparent. I should constitute the text taking A., and not P., as the basis. Accordingly I reconstituted the text of the first twenty Sandhis. This fact would explain why the variant readings in the text portion in the present edition are recorded in the order P., S., A., though A. is accepted as the basis.

A study of the variants makes it clear that, whenever the difference of reading is real (and not merely orthographical), P. and S. mostly agree against A., that in a very few cases there is agreement between S. and A., and that the variants recorded by the marginal gloss in P. agree for the most part with the readings of A. As to the orthography, the agreement obtains between A. and P., they being earlier than S. The scribe of A. appears to have been careless in the latter portion of the text edited here, as in several places A. drops one or more letters or lines.

The superiority of A. over P. and S. can be established on the following grounds:

1. In many a case A. preserves e (short), o (short).

Anunāsika and other such spelling features comparatively free from modernizing influence.

एउमचरिय—-रचिता महाकित स्वयंभु, त्रिभुवन-स्वयंभु। भाषा अपभ्रांश पत्र-संस्था ३७५. साइज ११x४॥ इञ्च । प्रत्येक पृष्ट पर १३ पंकितयां तथा प्रति पंकित ३८-४२ अक्षर। लिपि संवत् १५४१ वैशास मुदी १५। Then follows the colophon reproduced above.

- 2. In numerous cases where the text in P. and S. is found grammatically incorrect or metrically defective, A. has a corresponding better reading, which removes these defects.
- 3. At times a word or letter omitted in P. and S. is found intact in A.
- 4. Occasionally when the reading in P. and S. does not make good or any sense, A. presents a variant which removes this textual obscurity.

A very significant fact may be noted in this connection. As stated above, in the beginning I had constituted the text with the help of the Mss. P. and S. only, as Ms. A. was not available at that time. The text so constituted had numerous lines which were metrically defective. I had noted down all such cases and after due consideration suggested probable emendations for most of these cases. Later on when I could secure the Ms. A. I found that in almost all cases in which P. and S. had a reading which spoiled the metre, A. had a corresponding reading that preserved the metre, and some ninety per cent of the emendations suggested by me were actually supported by A. The table below gives such readings of P. and S. which disturb the metre and the corresponding readings of A. which keep the metre intact and which are adopted in the constituted text. In several of these cases A.'s reading is found superior to that of P. and S. on other grounds also.

When, therefore, the readings were of equal merits, A.'s reading is accepted in the text. In other cases the selection is made with the criteria of metre, grammar, context, orthography etc. Principles of selection from orthographic variants are explained at length under 'Orthography' in Section 6 below.

A giance at the variants of the first few Sandhis would make it clear that genuine variants are considerably few. For the most part the difference relates to the spelling of the same word in different Mss. In other words the variation in readings is ortho-This orthographical, not textual in the strict sense of the word. graphical variation in one and the same Ms. or between different Mss. of the same text is valuable in so far as it throws light on the original spelling and in so far as it is indicative of actual change that had crept in later pronunciation—in one word, of modernization. But once we discern and fix up the orthographic tendencies and spelling mannerisms of each Ms., the value of the orthographic variants is exhausted. If these considerations are kept in view, it will be easily granted that there was no sense in going on recording the spelling variations for the whole of PC. with the extent of twelve thousand Granthagras. It would have greatly inflated the critical notes without having added anything of corresponding value to text-criticism. Keeping these facts in view. the spelling variants have been recorded exhaustively for only a limited portion of the text. Thus for the portion from the beginning upto the third Kadavaka of the 7. Sandhi all the variants are noted. For the following portion upto the end of the 11. Sandhi a limited number of orthographic variants is noted. For the rest of the text mere spelling variants are not recorded, unless they have some significance from text-critical or linguistic point of view. But in all such cases where the spelling adopted in the constituted text differed from that found in all the three Mss., the readings of the Mss., are recorded without fail and the corresponding letter or letters in the constituted text are indicated with a wavy underline. For such cases as also for nasalized extended forms, see under 'Orthogrophy' in Section 6.

Where text was found uncertain or obscure, it has been indicated by a query placed besides the doubtful word or line as required. Emendations and metrically redundant portions are enclosed in parenthesis, while additions unsupported by the Mss. are indicated by square brackets. All the lines are metrically tested and the short e, o and the Anunāsika are indicated as a rule, except where e and o are short by position. The Anusvāra is given as the class-nasal. The gloss found in the Ms. P. is given at the foot of the page below the variants and the corresponding words in the text are marked with Devanāgarī numerals. As stated above (p. 2) the Sanskrit of the gloss is incorrect and vulgarized. To give the idea of the vernacular influence, little attempt is made to correct it. unless there was some likelihood of misunderstanding. In places the gloss is obscure or positively wrong in interpretation.

Such places are indicated by a query.

3. DATE AND PERSONAL ACCOUNT OF SVAYAMBHÜ.

Svayambhū's Date.

Nowhere in his three available works Svayambhū has made a statement giving us the definite and exact date of composition of any one of them. Nor has he referred to any ruler or political event of his times, which can help us in fixing his date with some certainty. Thrice he has recorded the day and the nakṣatra of completing a particular portion of his epics, but unfortunately at none of these places, he mentions the year and hence, as will be shown below, these chronological data loose all significance. Under the circumstances we have to fall back upon the usual method of gleaning bits of information from Svayambhū's writings and from later references to him and trying to squeeze something out of them.

Svayambhū has mentioned some of his distinguished predecessors in the domain of literature. In the Svayambhūcchandas he quotes from no less than fifty-eight poets. But most of them become known to us for the first time. These are mere names to us and therefore practically of little use in determining Svayambhū's date. But the writers mentioned by Svayambhū in the introductions' to PC. and RC. are important for this purpose. Well-known names like those of Bāṇa, Śrī-Harṣa, Bhāmaha, Daṇḍin, Raviṣeṇa figure there. Of these Raviṣeṇa, who is respectfully called ācārya by Svayambhū and whose Padmacarita served as the basis for his PC. is the latest. Raviṣeṇa completed his work in the 1204th year after Mahāvīra i.e. in 677-678 A.D.*. This gives us the earlier limit of Svayambhū's time.

On the other hand, of the numerous authors that know and refer to Svayambhū or his works, Puspadanta is the earliest. In his Mahāpurāna he has mentioned Svayambhū twice. Firstly he appears in the company of Bhāravi, Bhāsa, Vyāsa, Kālidāsa, Caturmukha, Droṇa, Iśāna, Bāṇa—all of them distinguished predecessors of Puspadanta and considered at those times standard authors to be studied by those who wanted to be adepts in literature or aspired to be good poets. Second time he is aptly remembered (as an illustrious author of a Rāma epic in Apabhramśa) in the beginning of the section on Rāmāyaṇa (MP, 69-79). The Mahāpurāṇa was begun in 959-960 A.D.

Thus we get 677-960 A.D. as the limits within which Svayambhū flourished.

Let us see if this interval of about three centuries can be shortened.

First of all it should be understood that when Svayambhū talks of his having tackled the theme of Rāmāyaṇa through the favour of Acārya Raviṣṣṇa this does not necessarily mean that he was actually a disciple of the latter or that they were contemporaries. It may mean simply this that Raviṣṣṇa's work supplied so far as the subject-matter was concerned the basis, plan and pattern for Svayambhū's PC. This is acknowledged by the latter' It should be also remembered that Ravişena was a staunch Digambara while Svayambhū was a Yāpanīya.

In this connection Premi emhasizes the fact that Svayambhū does not refer to Jinasena, the author of the Harivamśa (784 A.D.) though he mentions many non-Jain authors. He considers it likely that the Harivamśa might have been composed later than PC. On this view Svayambhū can be assigned to the middle of the eighth century. But the value of argumentum ex silentio is mostly doubtful. So long as no fresh, decisive evidence is forthcoming to support this, Premi's suggestion remains just a likely inference.²

The Yuddhakānda of PC. is complete with the 77. Sandhi and the Uttarakanda begins with the 78. Sandhi. But due to some confusion we find at the end of the 78. Sandhi also a statement saying that the Yuddhakāṇḍa was completed on Monday the first day of the dark half of Jyeştha". Similarly at the end of the 92. Sandhi of RC. that completes the Yuddhakānda, the date of completion is given as Wednesday, the third day, Phālguna Nakṣatra, Siva Yoga. We are also informed that it took Svayambhū sandhi years, three months and eleven days to compose the 92 Sandhis of RC. And then the date of beginning the Uttarakānda is given as Sunday the tenth day, Mula Naksatra and 'the eleventh moon'. It should be noted that the year is not given at any of these three places. Now from a stanza at the beginning of the 100. Sandhi of RC. (written, according to our interpretation, by Svayambhū) we gather that Svayambhū wrote PC. and another work Suddhayacariu before RC. Further, as shall be shown in Section 4, RC. was Svayambhū's last work and therefore the Siri-pañcamīkahā and the Svayambhūcchandas also were written before RC. Therefore the date given in PC. should precede both the dates given in RC. and there should be a gap of several years between the date in PC and the first date in RC. There might have intervened a few months or more between the two dates in RC., for in the case of PC., we know that the composition was twice interrupted.

A reference to Pillai's Ephemeris has given the following dates between 700 A.D. and 850 A.D., that can prove suitable within the limits of the above data.

the limits of the above data.

Of the numerous dates corresponding to Wednesday, the third day, Phālguna Nakṣatra, and Sunday, the tenth day, Mñla Nakṣatra, which are given respectively for the completion of the Yuddhakānda of RC. and the beginning of its Uttarakānda, only some five are such as have an interval of less than six years between them. The rest give a very high interval which does not appear reasonable.

⁽²⁾ The first half of the Prasasti stanza at the end of the 20. Sandhi (Appendix I. 13) is quite corrupt and obscure and yet on the strength of its first word dhuarāya Sankrityayan (1945, 23) thinks that Svayambhū flourished in 780-794 A.D. during the reign of the Rāştrakūta king Dhruva Dhārāvarṣa. Personal account of Svayambhūdeva'.

The trait of self-consciousness in some of the Apabhramsa poets has made them somewhat communicative, though in view of the general tradition of the ancient Indian writers to maintain as it were a religious taciturnity concerning themselves, it is to be expected that this communicativeness of theirs is far remote from supplying materials sufficient for sketching their life and literary activity. From the few details that lie scattered in the opening portions of PC and RC, in the Sandhi-endings of these two works and in their colophons composed by Svayambhū's son Tribhuvana" we can gather a few facts relating to Svayambhū and his family. Māüraeva (or Māruyaëva)" and Paüminī (Padminī) were the parents of Svayambhū. One Māüradeva quoted at Sc. IV 9 was possibly none else than Svayambhū's father and in that case Svayambhū's family can rightly feel proud of maintaining the literary tradition for three successive generations: Māüradeva followed and excelled by his son Svayambhū, who in his turn followed by his younger son Tribhuvana. This latter, out of fond-into consideration most of the previous writings.

(2) The stanzas are collected in Appendix I.

(3) In PC. 1 2 10 we have Mārūeēva (P.), Mārūyayeva (S.), Mārueēva (A.), but the metre requires something like Māruyaeva. One of the colophon stanzas (Appendix I, 53) has Māūra (A. Movara). SC. IV 9 is given under the caption tahā a Māūradevassa, Māruya can wellbe a metathetical substitute for the comparatively unfamiliar Māūra.

ness, repeatedly tells us that acquiring proficiency in grammar and scriptures, he alone among the sons and numerous pupils of Svaymbhū came forth, even though still young, to shoulder the burden of continuing and completing Svayambhū's literary work. Tribhuvana holds his father in the highest regard, refers to him as Svayambhūdeva, Kavirāja, Kavirāja-Cakravartin, Vidvān and Chandaścūdāmani' ('crest-jewel of metrics' means?) and makes it a point not to mention his own name alone—unaccompanied by the He calls himself Tribhuvana Svayambhū and not merely Tribhuvana. From his reference to himself as Svayambhú's younger son (lahu-taṇao, lahu-aṅgajāya, lahua-jāya)' it follows that Svayambhū must have more than one sons. He had at least two wives who were educated and cultured enough to be inspiring and helpful in his literary labours'. Of them Amiavva (Sk. Amrtamba) dictated to Svayambhū the Vidyādhara-kānda, while Aiccamviā (a diminutive of Aiccamvā, Sk. Adityāmbā)", dictated Ayodhyā-kāṇḍa. the second book of PC. And though in describing himself Svayambhū gives us, perhaps of set purpose and in confirmation with the convention, a funny picture—extremely slim frame, flat nose, sparse teeth and elongated limbs', when he makes an appreciative record of these services of his wives, he is far from sparing in compliments. Aiccamviā was a veritable image of Ratnadevi, the consort of the Sun God and correspondingly what were the accomplishments and excellences of high-spirited Amiavvā remains for us shrouded in mystery owing to the tantalizing corruptness and obscurity of the relevant stanza'.

We have some ground to suspect that Svayambh \bar{u} had also a third wife. In one of the colophon stanzas of PC. Tribhuvana in order to emphasize his originality" declares: All sons (sua) in general, like caged parrots (sua) learn just to repeat what is taught; the son of Kavirāja (i.e. Svayambhū's son Tribhuvana) on the other hand, was born of the pure womb of Suyavva (or Suyamva), just as the Sruta (sacred knowledge) is produced from within the Sruti (scriptures). This meaning can be got out of the expressions Suyavva sui-gabbha-sambhūo if taken as paranomastically applying to Tribhuvana and Sruta. Suyamva would be more appropriate instead of Suyavva and when applying to Tribhuvana the words are to be taken as one single compound. suyamva-sui-gabbha-sambhūo. On this interpretation Suyavva or Suyamvā would be Svayambhū's third wife and Tribhuvana's mother. Premi favours" this interpretation. But the evidence appears rather slender for making that suggestion an established fact.

⁽¹⁾ Tribhuvana completed Svayambhū's three works PC., RC. and the Siri-Pancamī, and himself composed a Pancamicariu. He also enjoys the title Mahākavi. (See Appendix I, 19, 37, 50, 66, 47, 45).

(5) Premi, 1942, 374 understands the name as Sāmiavvā. But Ms. P. inserts a half danda bet veen sā and miavvā which suggests sā | Amiavvā.
(6) The line containing this name is metrically defective. Mss. read Aiccamvināe which is to be emended as Aiccamvi(ya-nā)mēe.

⁽⁸⁾ Appendix I, 13.
(7) P.C. 1 2 11.
(9) Appendix I, 46.
(10) Another colophon stanza (Appendix I, 45) too brings out this fondness of Tribhuvana. Therein he tells us of his having composed a highly wonderful Pañcomicariu quite independently of the works of Caturmukha and Svavambhů.

⁽¹¹⁾ Premi, 1942, 374.

Unlike Puspadanta who was a highly sensitive and lonely spirit reminding us of Bhavabhūti, Svayambhū appears to have fully basked in the colourful sunshine of the family happiness, the affection of relatives, the adoration of pupils, the patronage of leading Jain magnates of his time and the appreciative admiration of the contemporary literary circles' and in this point he recalls to our mind Kālidāsa whose writings give us a similar impression. But Tribhuvana repeatedly draws our attention to the fact that none of the sons and pupils of Svayambhū came forth to continue his literary tradition. As he puts it, others accept wealth as their paternal inheritance; he, on the other hand, inherited the poetic faculty and carried on the great literary traditions of his family.

PC. was composed at the request and under the patronage of one Dhananjaya", while during the composition of RC., Svayambhū was patronized by Dhavalaïya'. Tribhuvana wrote his supplement to PC. under the patronage of Vandaïya'. Who was his patron when he completed RC. is not stated, but it is probable that Dhavalaïya extended his patronage to Tribhuvana also for that purpose. Whether there was any relationship between these Dhanañjaya, Dhavalaïya and Vandaïya we simply do not know. From the similarity of the phonetic pattern of the last two of these names with that of the names like Ammaïya, Dangaïya, Santaïya and Silaïya mentioned by Puspadanta' and from the -avvāending feminine proper names mentioned by Svayambhū (Amiavvā, Svayambhū's wife) and Puspadanta' (Kundavvā, the mother of Puspadanta's patron Nanna) we can safely infer that these two flourished in the same region. Further in view of the fact that avve, abbe are Kannada words" meaning 'mother' 'woman'. that masculine proper names ending in -aiya and feminine proper names ending in -abbe, -avvā were common in old Kannada', and that Puspadanta lived and wrote at Mānyakheta modern Malkhed in Hyderabad State, we can assume that Svayambhū carried on his literary activity staying in a Kannadaspeaking territory. It is true that we have no direct statement from the poet relating to his domicile. But the above inference finds indirect support from the following facts:

(1) In a simile in RC, the five Pandavas, Draupadī and Saviyabbe, Vaijabbe (C. 950 A.D.) and numerous others from old Kanuaja inscriptions (Narasimhachar, 1923, inscriptions Nos. 112, 139, 68). -abbe is a latter development of avve; the change of v to b was in a transitional stage in the 9th century A.D. Samcallai satta-i puravaraho

This simile cannot easily strike one who is not a South-

(2) At PC. 78 4 6 the months of the year are referred Phagguna-avasāna caitta-pamuha. 'Beginning with Caitra and ending with Phalguna'. This suggests a region where the Caitradi year was cur-the Karnātaka region.

(4) The graphic description of the Godavari and the Narmada in Svayambhū's epics bear an unmistakable stamp of the first-hand observation.

But then how to account for the adoption of Ap. as a literary medium in the Kannada-speaking area? It appears that Svayam-bhū might be only an immigrant into Karnāṭaka from some northern region like Berar. From the history of the Rastrakutas, we gather that from the seventh century onwards there was a close political and cultural intercourse between Berar and Karnāţaka. The main line of the Rāstrakūtas ruled at Mānyakheta, modern Mālkhed in Hyderabad. But the ancestors of Dantidurga, the first Rāṣṭrakūṭa king of note were ruling somewhere in Berar and are supposed to be connected with the Rāṣṭrakūṭa king Nannarāja Yudhāsura, who was ruling at Elichpur in Berar in the middle of the 7th Century A.D.' But Altekar thinks, 'Dantidurga and his ancestors were not natives of Berar. Canarese was their mother-tongue. Hence he conjectures that 'there may, quite possibly, have been a Rathi family holding local sway at Latur (==Lattalura) in Bidar District of Hyderabad State. This family may have later migrated to Elichpur or some other place nearby in Berar, where Nannarāja was ruling in 631-632 A.D.32

This clearly shows close political relations between Berar and the Kannada territory continuing for centuries.

Similarly close cultural ties between the two regions can be surmised from what we know about Puspadanta, another great Apabhramsa poet. Puspadanta composed his Apabhramsa Purāna at Mānyakheta under the patronage of the Rāṣṭrakūṭa minister Bharata in 959-965. It is very likely that Svayambhū's case also was analogous. He and his patrons, though residing in a Kannada-speaking region might have originally hailed from Berar. Only some such assumption can explain the apparent incongruity of a western literary dialect being employed by persons residing in Southern India where Dravidian tongues were current.

We know it full well that apart from possessing inborn talent (pratibhā) the poet in ancient India was required to study hard (vyutpatti) and undergo a rigorous course of training (amandaabhiyoga). Real poets were required to be miniature pundits. Hence it is no wonder to find a good amount of learning and erudition in a poet of Svayambhu's eminence. His works and reputation both show that he occupied a lofty position as a poet as well as a scholar. Attention has been already drawn to the big titles like Kavirāja, Chandaścūḍāman etc., enjoyed by Svayambhū His reference to 'five spics', to Bana and Harsa, to Bhamaha and Dandin, to Bharata, Pingala and Indragomin is indicative of his familiarity with various disciplines like Rhetorics, Merics, Dramaturgy, Music and Grammar as also with the Sk. Kāvya and Nāṭaka. Citations from about three scores of Pk. and Ap. poets in his Svayambhücchandas provide a concrete evidence of his comprehensive and critical knowledge of both these literatures. It is therefore quite natural that numerous later poets and authors have paid glowing tributes to Svayambhū.

The Tippana on MP. 1 9 5 gives a note on Svayambhū as pāmthadī-baddha-Rāmāyaṇa-kartā Āpalisamghīyaḥ. From this reference we understand that Svayambhū belonged to the Yapaniya sect. Premi and Upadhye have collected together various literary and inscriptional references to the Yapaniva sect and have brought forth its importance, mostly in the South in and about the Karnātaka region, as a Jain schism worthy of being mentioned alongside the Svetāmbara and the Digambara sects. It shared some tenets and beliefs characteristic of either.

In this case also we do not have any direct or indirect statement from Svayambhū. But in one point, I think, this can be supported from his voluminous epics. The Yāpanīya sect was comparatively tolerant of other religious beliefs and held that not absolutely giving up all possessions (sagrantha) and allegiance to a non-Jain denomination did not disqualify one from attaining salvation'. Such a catholic outlook on religious matters is found to be characteristic of Svayambhū from what we gather from several passages occurring in his three extant works.

The following passage is taken from the Ritthanemicariu, the occasion being the last moments of Abhimanyu on the battlegrounds'.

सउहदें ण एम जवन्तएँण, सो सुमिरिउ देउ मरन्तएँण ॥ जो सब्बहें देवहें अगण्लउ, तहलीक्क-सिहरें जमु थावँलउ॥ जें अटर वि कम्मइँ णिज्जियहँ, जें पञ्चेन्दियइँ परिज्जियहँ॥ जं धरिवि महारिसि मोक्स गय, जसू तणए धम्मे थिय जीव-दय ॥ जें णासिउ जाइ-जरा-मरण, सो सव्वहीं तिहयणहीं जें सरण्।। जो बहुइ णिरञ्जण परम छिवि, जम् सोउ (वि) औउ विणास णिवि । जो णा इव णउँसउ णइव तिय, प पय ह एक्क-वि जाम किय।। जो णिक्कल सन्तू पराहिपर ॥ णारायणु दिणयर वडसवणु, सिउ वरुणु हुवामणु ससि पवणु। जो होउ सुहोउ थुणन्तु थिउ, एक्कन्ते करिप्पणु कालु किउ ।।

Here it is clear that once we are agreed upon the real nature of the Supreme Deity, Svayambhū has no partiality for giving it any specific name, call it Nārāyaṇa or Siva or Wind or whatever you like.

A passage similar in spirit to the above can be cited from PC.:

"(Rāma) bowed down with devotion to Lord Candraprabha who helps others attain the blessed state (and recited a hymn) 'You are the thought-principle; you are the goal and the refuge; you are mother, father, kinsmen (to me), you are the highest partisan; you are the destroyer of the greatest grief; you are the highest of the high; it is you who are found in Darsana, Jñāna and Caritra; you are bowed down to by all the gods and demons, you are in the scriptures, in Mantras and in grammar, in religious studies and meditation, and in the practice of austerities; you are the Arhat, the Buddha, Hari, as also Hara; you are the enemy of the mass of darkness in the form of ignorance; you are subtle, passionless and the highest abode; you are the Sun, Brahman, Svayambhū and Šiva'."

The third passage is in the Svayambhūcchandas. It is given there anonymously as an illustration of the Adillā that can begin a Sandhi. As shown later on it is very likely that the passage is from Svayambhū's pen. It is as follows:

अक्क-पलास-विल्लु अडरूसउ, धम्मिअ(उ) ऍम ऍ(जेॅम ?) महुअरु तूसउ। बृद्धाइच्च बम्ह हरि संकरु, जे मेराउ देउ हरिसंकरु।। SC. VIII 39.

'Let the pious feel satisfaction in the same manner as a bee (going in search of flower juice indifferently to all the trees alike) the Arka, Palāśa, Bilva and Aṭarūsa. Let the Buddha, Āditya, Brahman, Hari and Śaṅkara, causing delight give......(?)' the last line is a bit obscure).

These three passages breathe an air of toleration which presents a welcome contrast to narrow sectarianism that is otherwise characteristic of religious writers.

From another direction too we can demonstrate this attitude of Svayambhū to regard as one the Supreme Deity conceived in different religious systems, it being attributable to the broad outlook characteristic of the Yāpanīya belief.

As is shown in Section 5 below, Syayambhū, while composing the Paimacariu had closely followed Ravisena's Padmacarita. It is quite natural and obvious that for various reasons he had to make numerous alterations—additions, omissions, expansions and abridgements. In this connection it is very significant that all the purposely and bitterly anti-Brahmanical passages that are found in Ravisena's work (and ultimately, most of them, in some form or other, in Vimalasūri's Paümacariya) are either completely omitted by Svayambhū or skipped over with a passing reference. The first of such conspicuous omissions is the disparaging topic of the origin of the Brahman caste (Ravisena, IV 85-131: 'dvijātinām samudbhavah'; Vimalasūri, IV 64-87, 'mī nanīhiyāro'). Svayambhū is quite silent about it. Secondly in the Upākhyāna (side-episode) of Harisena the dispute relating to the processions of the Brahma-ratha and the Jina-ratha, calculated to convey the superiority of Jainism over Brahmanism (Ravisena, VIII 286-293; 397-398; Vimalasūri, VIII 147-151; 207-208) is vaguely referred to in PC. by just a single line mahā-raha-kāraņe, jāņevi jaṇaṇi-dukkhu (PC. 11 2 2). The third such omission is the topic of the destruction of Marutta's sacrifice and origin of sacrifice (Marutta-yajña-dhvaṃsana) which occupies the whole of Canto XI in Ravisena and Vimalasūri. This is summarily and colourlessly dismissed by Svayambhū in barely eight words: jāgu paņāsevi, riu tāsevi 15 8 9 b and Nārau dhirevi, Maru vasi-karevi 15 9 1 a.

It is true that Svayambhū's main interest lies in directly relating the narrative and hence he is generally inclined to omit. drastically abridge or make just a passing reference to all those topics and side-episodes which have little direct bearing on the principal narrative or which have an utterly didactic, descriptive or digressive aim. Yet any one who considers the respective attitudes of Ravisena and Svayambhū in this matter as reflected in the Padmacarita and the Paümacariu would not fail to see the glaring contrast presented by the staunchly denouncing, refuting and dogmatic spirit of some of the passages of the former work and regular eschewing of all such references in the latter, and consequently attach to it particular significance, as is done here.

4. SVAYAMBHŪ'S LITERARY ACTIVITY

Several works—some of them preserved, others known in name only—have been ascribed to Svayambhū.

The Extant Works

At present only three works of Svayambhū are extant in the Ms. or printed form: Two Purāṇas, viz., Paümacariu or Rāmāyaṇapurāṇa and Riţṭhaṇemicariu or Harivaṁśapurāṇa and a manual of Prakrit and Apabhraṁśa metres called Svayambhūcchandas.

The Paūmacariu.

This is described in Section 5.

The Ritthanemicariu

The Ritthanemicariu (Aristanemi-caritam) or Harivamsipurāna is the most voluminous of Svayambhū's works. Its extent is given as 18,000 Granthagras. It has 1,937 Kadavakas'. Its 112 Sandhis are distributed over four Books or Kandas as follows: Jāyava-kanda (Yādava-kānda), 13 Sandhis; Kuru-Kanda, 19 Sandhis; Jujjha-kanda (Yuddha-kānda), 60 Sandhis; Uttara-kanda, 20 Sandhis. Its external form and structure closely resemble those of PC. As the latter is a Rāma-epic, the Ritthanemi-cariu is a Kṛṣṇa-epic. It deals with the life-story of the twenty-second Tirthankara Aristanemi and the narrative of Kṛṣṇa and the Pāṇdavas in its Jain version. The life-story of Rāma and that of Kṛṣṇa along with the Pāṇḍavas appear to have been very popular religious themes, and besides Svayambhū several Sanskrit, Prakrit and Apabhramsa poets, before and during his times, became interested in them, employing their literary talent in composing epics on one or both of the sacred themes. This is to be largely inferred from literary allusions and citations in other works, since only a few of such epics have survived to our days. The available information on this point can be tabulated as under:

Now we know that Ravisena's Padmacarita is hardly anything more than an elaborated Sanskrit recast of Vimalasūri's Paümacariya (cf. Premi. 'Padmacarita Aur Paümacariya' (1942, 272-292). On this account can we identify Anuttaravāgmin with Vimalasūri? But the latter does not say that he has inherited the tradition from any Kirti or Kirtidhara He seems to be the pioneer in composing a Rama epic, as well as a Kṛṣṇa. epic; for the latter we have got the above quoted authority of Undyotana.

(5) See PC. 1 2 8. which is taken from Ravisena. The latter in the introduction to his Padmacarita, while giving the tradition says that the sacred theme of the Rāma-narrative was handed down to Kīrti and from Kīrti, to Anuttaravagmin; the written work of the latter was seen by Ravisena and hence his present attempt (viz. Padmacarita):

- '(3) Svayambhücchandas IV 23, 24, 26 cited under Goinda's name relate to the loves of Kṛṣṇa, Rādhā and Gopīs. The poem must have been composed throughout in the Mātrā or Raddā metre like Haribhadra's Nemināhacariu.
- '(4) Svayambhūcchandas I 34 cites an illustration under the name of Nagaha, where d reads: dhāiam pavamgamāṇa rakkhasenda-sennam 'the army of the Lord of the Rākṣasas rushed on to the Monkeys'.
- Premi, op. cit. p. 372, footnote 2, thinks that Svayambhūcchandas IV 2, VI 83, 86 and 112, cited under the name of Caümuha pertain to the theme of Rāmāyana and hence they establish Caümuha as the author of a Paūmacariu also. But the passages have no unquestionable reference to the Rāmāyana narrative. IV 2 (a) pertains to the Harivamsa-narrative; 2 (b) is ko mahu jivatahum nei dhanu 'who, while I am alive, can take away the bow?' 2 (c) is nin-nāma-paāsahā surahā saāsahā 'from Gods announcing their own names'; VI 86 is sasi uggau tāma, jena naha-angana mandiau nain rai-raha-cakka, disai arune(m) chaddiau | Then rose the moon, whereby the expanse of the sky was adorned. The remaining passage VI 83 is given by the editor of the Svayambhūcchandas with an emendation. It reads: nam pavaru palāsu, vana-samcārima phulliā te coddaha lakkhani (ni)misaddhem sura-salliä .

Velankar has not advanced any reasons for adding ni before misaddhem. The emendation is unacceptable as it violates the metre and as such defeats the very purpose for which the stanza was cited. For it is cited to illustrate the metre Koilariñcholi having the measure 10/13 (SC. VI 82). But the stanza as emended by Velankar scans 11/13 in its latter half. This shows that the emendation by bringing in an additional mora spoils the metre. The latter half therefore should be read as in the original, te coddaha lakkha, nimisaddhem sara-sallia. The stanza in its present form presents grammatical difficulties. But the general sense and especially the sense of the latter half is quite clear, Those fourteen lakks were within a trice pierced

Harivamsa

Among the Apabhramsa poets there was a general practice of inserting their namamudra in the concluding stanza of each section of their poems. Svayambhū too follows it. But in the Ritthanemicariu we find not one but three different such nāma-mudrās: those of Svayambhū. Tribhuvana Svayambhū and Yasaḥkīrti (Jasakitti). Upto 99. Sandhi we regularly find the name of Svayambhū inserted in the closing Ghattā of the last Kadavaka of each Sandhi. Even some valuable details relating to the composition of the Ritthanemicariu are given in the colophon of the 92. Sandhi. Over and above stating the extent in Sandhis of each of the three Kandas composed so far, the date of completing the Yuddhakāṇda and that of beginning the Uttarakāṇda, we are told that it took Svayambhū six years, three months and eleven days in all in composing the ninety-two Sandhis of the Ritthanemi-cariu. The colophon of the 99. Sandhi states' 'Finished Sandhi ninety-ninth, called "The Description of the Samavasarana" in the Ritthanemicariu composed by Svayambhū, the best among Poet-laureates'. On the other hand colophon of the 100. Sandhi says': 'Finished Sandhi hundredth, called "Samavasaraṇa," in the Ritthanemicariu (in the portion) that escaped Svayambhū and that was completed by Mahākavi Tribhuvana Svayambhū'. And similarly we find the name of Tribhuvana Svayambhū along with that of Svayambhū at the end of Sandhis 101-104. Further, in the Ghattas" of the last Kadavaka of 105. and 106. Sandhis we find the nāmamudrās of Svayambhū and one Jasakitti or Jasukitti (Yaśah-

Thus none of the stanzas mentioned by Premi, has any definite reference to the Fama-story. But on the grounds (1) that Puspadanta at the beginning of the episode of Rāma in his Mahāpurāna significantly pays tributes to Caturmukha and Svayambhū and (2) that the Prasasti stanzas found in the beginning of Svayambhū's Paiimacariu praise Caimuha, it is plausible to ascribe a Paiimacariu to Caturmukha.

 This is to be assumed on the following grounds:
 (a) Dhavala (c. 11th cent.) in his Harivamia-purana refers to a narrative of Hari and the Pandavas composed by Caumuha: Hari-Pandavāna kahā Caümuha-vāsehim bhāsiyam jamhā taha virayami loya-piyā jena na nāsei damsanam paüram | (quoted by Premi. 1942, 372, note 2).

(b) Appendix I, st. 3 praises the Gograhana episode of Caturmukha. which is obviously the cattle-lifting attempted by Duryodhana and party, when the Pāṇdavas were completing their stay at Virāṭa.

(c) Svayambhūcchandas IV 2 (a)cited as from Caumuha mentions Arjuna.

⁽²⁾ MDJG, 52, 33.
(3) Appendix I, st. 59-62. Stanza 63 is a Sanskrit subhāşita and it is not clear how it got in here. But similar out of place Sanskrit stanzas are found elsewhere too in the Prasasti stanzas found in Svayambhū's works. Cf. the Rudrāstaka of Išānašayana interpolated in the opening Prašasti stanzas of PC. and two Sanskrit stanzas (Appendix I, st. 51, 52) from Ravisena's Padmacarita found in the colophon of PC.

kīrti) together in one stanza. In the colophons' of these Sandhis Svayambhū alone is mentioned; Tribhuvana Svayambhū is not included. Lastly Sandhis 107-112 contain', somewhere in the body of the last Kadavaka, in the Ghatta of the last Kadavaka or in the colophon—in one or several of these places—the nāmamudrās or names of all the three: Svayambhū, Tribhuvana Svayambhū and Yaśaḥkīrti. These facts suggest that Tribhuvana Svayambhū and Yaśaḥkīrti also had their hands in the composition of Sandhis 100-112. This is made clear by the colophons of Sandhis 100-104, 107-112 and by the colophon of the whole work. Tribhuvana Svayambhū' and Yaśaḥkīrti' both praise the effort of 'rescuing' the incomplete or partly lost literary works of others as a magnanimous effort. In the colophon after the 112. Sandhi the following information is given. This well-known Bhārata-purāṇa containing Harivamśa and the life history of Nemi was composed in the Paddhadiā metre by Svayambhū. Whatever gap (sunnam) was left in his work was filled up after the poet's death by his son Tribhuvana Svayambhū. Whatever was left out even after Tribhuvana's supplementation was 'rescued' (uddhariu) i.e. made good by Yasahkirti in accordance with the tradition of the Harivamsa and at the instance of his Guru At the invitation (?) of Sarahasena (?) Śresthi, Srī-Gunakīrti. Yasahkirti came to Kumara-nayari (Kumara-nagari) and recited (this Purāna) before the Śrāvakas in the Paniyāra Jain temple near Gopagiri (Gwalior).

The requisite information regarding this Yasahkirti can gathered from the beginning portions and colophons of two works7. Yasahkirti Bhattaraka belonged to his Samgha, Mathura Anvaya and Puskara Gana. to the Kāṣṭhā Samgha, Māthura Anvaya and Puṣkara Gaṇa. He was a pontiff at Gwalior. He flourished in the first half of the 15th century during the reign of the Tomara king Kirtisimha. His successors were Malayakirti and Gunabhadra. Pandita Raidhu, who composed numerous Apabhramsa works like Padma-purāna (or Balabhadrapurāna), Nemipurāna, Pārsvacarita, Vardhamānacarita, Dhanakumāracarita, etc. was a contemporary and a co-disciple of Yasaḥkīrti. Mss. of two Apabhramsa works of Yasaḥkīrti are known to exist. The Pāṇḍavapurāṇa", a fairly extensive work in 34 sargas was composed by him in 1440 A.D." for a layman called Hemaraja, while the Candappahacariu in 11 Sandhis was written at the request of a pious Jain called Siddhapala.

Now two questions arise. First, what were the contributions of Tribhuvana Svayambhū and Yasahkīrti in the composition of those Sandhis of the Ritthanemicariu which bear their namamudras? Second, why it was found necessary, not by one, but by two authors after Svayambhu-one of them was no other than his own son-to supplement the work written by him?

It appears that Svayambhū had nothing to do with the composition of 100-112 Sandhis. And what were the respective shares of Tribhuvana and Yasahkirti can be decided only by a close study of the text and other relevant sources. But this much is certain that the last Kadavaka of the 112. Sandhi of RC. giving the colophon of the complete work was written by Yasahkirti. Several of its lines are found word for word in his Pandavapurana'.

The question as to why others felt it necessary to supplement Svayambhū's Ritthanemicariu is taken up below under Section 5. because the question of multiple authorship is connected with the Paümacariu also.

The work is generally called Ritthanemi-cariu. In the colophon of 109. Sandhi it is called Ritthanemi-purana. In the colophon of the whole work (written by Yasahkirti) the work is referred to in view of its theme, as Bharaha-purana, Nemicariya and Harivamsa. Svayambhū himself refers to the theme of RC. as Harivamsa.

The Svayambhūcchandas

The Svayambhūcchandas (SC.) has been published by Velankar from the only known Ms. in the Baroda Oriental Institute. It is a comparatively modest manual of Prakrit and Apabhrańsa metres. The work is planned in eight chapters, the first three dealing with the Pk. section, the remaining comprising the Apsection. The first twenty-two folios of the Ms. of SC. are lost. Thus the text of SC. that is available to us is incomplete.

Its Authorship

Svayambhū's authorship of this work is settled by the title Svayambhūcchandas', 'Svayambhū's metrics' mentioned in the concluding stanza of each chapter. That this Svayambhū is identical with the author of PC. is clear from the numerous citations from the latter work found in SC. It is Svayambhu's practice to cite illustrations from the Ap. literature known to him and in all the cases he gives such illustrations, the name of the original author is also mentioned. But besides these, there are many illustrations cited without any name. Several of these anonymous illustra-

⁽¹⁾ Lines 1-7 are the same as given from the last portion of the Pandavapurana, Kaslival, 1950, 124. Only instead of viuse sayambhim mahi-vitthāriu there is muni-Jasakitti(i) mahihi vitthāriu. Further line 16 repeats the same thing partly in other words, while lines 17-19 and 21 are identical with those in the Pāndavapurāņa (ibid, 123).
(2) At least three Mss. of the Ritthanemicariu have been reported by Premi (1942, ³⁷⁶ footnotes 2-3): One from the Government MS. collection at the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona (No. 1117 of 1891-1895), another from the Ailak Pannālāl Sarasvatibhavan, Bombay and the third from the Godikā temple collection at Samganer.

tions can be traced to PC. The conclusion is obvious that probably all the anonymous illustrations in SC. are taken from Svayambhū's own works. In their case, the source being quite obviously understood, he saw no propriety in attaching his name. This clearly proves common authorship for SC. and PC. Citing the stanza 'Sri-Harso nipunah kavih' etc. in SC. (I 144 a) and the reference' to Srī-Harsa in RC. as making a present of nipunatva to Svayambhū supports the same conclusion. This invalidates several inferences of Velankar regarding Svayambhū and SC.

SC. is not very ambitious. Its expressed aim is to give in a nutshell the essential features of Pk. and Ap. prosody. In the closing stanza of each chapter the work is described as pañcamsasāra-hua 'the substance of the five Ganas'. The concluding stanza of Ch. III states: pāua-sāro parisamatto 'the choice matter of the Prakrit prosody has been treated.' The same remark is repeated at the opening of Ch. V.

Its Prakrit Section

The Prakrit section of SC. presents several surprises for us. Though it is called Prākṛtasārā it does not treat in its available portion any of the genuine Pk. Matravrttas'. What is given in the Pk. section are the well-known Aksaravrttas of the Sanskrit prosody with their Sama (from the Ukta to the Utkrti class, the Sesa-vrttas and the Dandakas), Ardhasama and Visama divisions. In the fragment of SC. preserved to us there is nothing corresponding to the fourth chapter of Hemacandra's Chandonusasana describing the Arya, Galitaka, Khanjaka and Sirşaka class of Pk. What is still stranger, these so-called Pk. metres are defined as if they were Matravrttas. They are defined, not by using the wellknown Akṣaragaṇas (ya, ra, ta, etc.), but by using a special terminology of Mātrāgaṇas, such as ta, taāra, etc., for a Tri-mātra, ca, cagana, camsa for a Caturmatra and so on, with the particularization of the type of the Gana as required.

Moreover, as noted previously, Svayambhu, unlike Hemacandra, does not compose his own illustrations to support the metrical rules and definitions in Sc. He prefers to illustrate from the then available Pk. and Ap. literatures and in many a case the name of the author also is prefixed to the stanza cited. Thereby we come to know of a large number of Pk. and Ap. poets almost all of whom were so far quite unknown to us. It also gives us a gilmpse of the riches of Pk. and Ap. literature cultivated in and before Svayam-bhū's time.

Its Apabhramsa Section

The Ap. section of SC. is important from several viewpoints. The sources for the study of Ap. prosody are considerably few and their usefulness is further diminished by their sketchy, incomplete or indiscriminately eclectic character. So far Hemacandra's

⁽⁴⁾ Summary of the contents, importance and other information concerning SC. will be found in the abovementioned articles of Velankar and in Premi, 1942. Velankar reproduces some of this information in the introduction to his edition of Rājašekhara's Chandaśsekhara, 1946, 1-14.

Chandonusasana was the only work to which we glanced with some hope of getting light on all sorts of metrical problems of Ap. And we know well how often it failed us. Under the circumstances, a pre-Hemacandra work on Ap metres from the pen, not of a mere theoretician, but of an epic poet recognised as Kavirāja and Mahākavi, deserves, in spite of its briefness, to be welcomed. And in view of its value as an early authentic source, a short analysis of the Ap. section of SC. will not be here out of place.

Analysis of the contents of SC. IV-VIII

Ch. IV. Utsāhādi (Treatment of the Utsāha and other Metres):

A. Introductory (1-4).

Introductory stanza (1); metrical value of the Bindu and of e and o in certain positions (2-4).

B. The Mātrā-prakaraņa (5-28).

Utsāha (5-6); Duvahaa (Dvipathaka i.e., Dohā) with its varieties (7-13); Mātrā with its varieties (14-28).

C. The Vadanaka-prakarana (29-32).

Vadanaka with its varieties (29-32).

D. Miscellaneous (33-42).

Another application of the name Vadanaka (33); Prahe-(34); Hrdayālikā (35); Dhavala (36-39); Mangala (40-41); the concluding stanza (42).

Ch. V The Satpada-jāti.

Three varieties of the Dhruvaka (1); quantity of the pāda-ending syllable (2); definition of the Satpada Dhruvaka (3); its varieties: Satpada Jāti (4-5), S. Upajāti (6-7) and S. Avajāti (8-9); total of these varieties (10); the concluding stanza (11).

Ch. V. Catuşpadīs and Dvipadīs.

A. The Antarasamā Catuspadī (1-148).

Types of the Catuspadi (1); 110 Antarasamā Catuspadis beginning with the Campakakusumā and ending with the Sasibimbaka described (2-148).

B. The mixed type of the Catuspadi (149-150).

C. The Ardhasamā Catuspadī (151-152).

D. The Sarvasamā Catuspadī (153-161).

E. The Dvipadī (162-203).

The concluding stanza (204).

Ch. VII. The Shorter Dvipadis.

Their province and general character (1-2); 10 such Dyipadis defined (3-12); the concluding stanza (13).

Ch. VIII. The Sandhi-bandha and the Rāsā-bandha.

A. Some common Ap. metres (1-6). Utthakka (1-2); Madanāvatāra (3-4); Dhruvaka (5-6).

B. The Sandhi-bandha (7-45).

The Chhaddaniā and other structural units (7); seven Chhaddanias (8-23); three Ghattas (24-29). The terms Paddhadiā, Pada, Yamaka, Kadavaka, Sandhi, etc. explained (30-35) and illustrated (36-45).

⁽¹⁾ In the past few years Velankar has brought to light several works of Pk prosody like the Vrttajātisamuccaya of Virahānka, Kavidarpana, Gāthālaksana of Nanditādhya, Chandahkośa of Ratnašekhara and Chandaśékhara of Rājasekhara. But none of these works even comes near to doing full justice to their subject.

C. The varieties of Tāla (46-47). D. Some structural terms (48). E. The Rāsā-bandha (49-52). The concluding stanza (53).

Citations in SC.

As stated above, to illustrate the metres defined Svayambhū has given more than 213 citations—most of them consist of a single stanza—from the current Pk. and Ap. poetry. Of these 132 are found in the preserved portion of the Pk. section, 81 in the Ap. section. Most of the citations are given under their author's name and in this manner fifty-eight writers are quoted: forty-eight for the Pk. section, seven for the Ap. section and three for both. Caturmukha, Dhūrta, Māūradeva, Dhanadeva, Āryadeva, Chailla, Govinda, Suddhašīla, Jinadāsa and Vidagdha appear in the Ap. section.

But besides the illustrations cited along with their author's rame, there are fifty citations, all in the Ap. section, which are given without any author's name prefaced to them. The problem of these anonymous citations has been solved by Modi' and Premi' by identifying several of them from Svayambhū's PC. They have shown that

SC. PC. ---14 VI 42 65 1 1 === VI 71 77 == 1 1 74 77 13 13 " VIII 27 5 1 ==

A further examination of PC, has enabled me to make the following identifications:

PC. SC. 5 3 11 === 24 1-2 VIII 4 ---,, ,, 3 9 6 33 _ " ,, 17 3 1 1 ___ " ,, 21 31 1 1 =-25 1 41

" From this it follows that whenever Svayambhū has selected the illustrations from his own works, he has given them anonymously. Hence it is reasonable to conclude that most of the nameless illustrative stanzas in SC. belong to Svayambhū-most of them, and not possibly all, because the text of SC. is based on a single defective Ms. that is unreliable in several matters. For instance the ascriptions of SC. I 6 to Vijjā and of SC. I 78 to Suddhakai are disputed by the marginal gloss to SC. which gives instead the names of Divaara and Niuna respectively. Still more significant is the fact that at least in one case we are in a position to prove that the Ms. of SC. makes a wrong ascription. SC. VI 71 is reproduced from PC. (77 1 1). But that illustration is given in SC. under the name of Caümuha." Hence so long as we have not got a satisfactory text of SC. based on sufficient Ms. material we should be cautious in drawing conclusions from the available text of SC. Nevertheless, we are within reasonable limits when we say that most of the anonymous citations in SC are taken from Svayambhū's own works. It is likely that some of them did not belong to any particular work, but were composed by Svayambhū just to illustrate his definitions.

(3) Caimmuha is a recurrent misprint in the printed text of SC.

All the citations in SC. that could be identified have been traced to PC. alone. Several of the anonymous stanzas have reference to the Mahābhārata theme and therefore, taking for guidance the context and the metre of these Harivamsa citations in SC., I casually examined RC., but could not identify a single citation. And that is natural because it is quite probable that RC. was Svayambhū's last work (see the next section). This also creates one more problem for us; what must have been the source of these anonymous citations having reference to the Harivamsa theme?

The Pk. section of SC. in this matter presents a contrast to its Ap. section. Therein all the illustrations are taken from other poets. There is not one anonymous citation. Svayambhū's literary activity seems to have been exclusively confined to Ap.

The lost portion of SC.

Velankar thinks that the lost portion of SC. consisting of folios 1 to 22 just dealt with the metres containing from 1 to 13 syllables in each line. The Prakrit metres proper are left, according to him. untouched by Svayambhu. He observes. 'Another strange thing about Svayambhū is that not only does he treat the ordinary Samskrta metres as the Prakrta ones, regarding them as the Mātrāvrttas and defining them as such, but he totally neglects the proper Prākrta metres discussed at great length by Hemacandra in his Chandonuśāsana, p. 28b and the following, and by Virahānka in his Vṛttajātisamuccaya Chs. III-IV". Again in his introductory remarks to the edition of Rajasekhara Kavi's Chandassekhara he says, 'unlike Svayambhū, however, they (Prākṛta Paingala and Chandahkośa) define the Gatha and its derivatives from the Prākrta metres.

Now it would be strange that though SC. claimed to contain all that was important in Pk. and Ap. prosody, it did not treat the And in that case the imposing title Chandaśgenuine Pk. metrescūdāmani 'the crest-jewel (?) of metrics' attached to Svayambhū by Tribhuvana would appear more of an expression of filial affection than a proper appraisal of Svayambhū's achievements in the field of Pk. metrics. It would be, moreover, inexplicable why Svayambhū did not treat those popular and well-known Pk. metres (commonly used in Ap. also) when he admiringly mentions by their names some of them', when he actually employs in his epics some of them' and when he himself has written a work on Pk, and Ap. prosody.

The question, therefore, naturally arises: Is the assumption plausible that the lost portion of SC. contained only the wanting Varnavrttas from the Uktā to Atijagatī division along with some introductory matter and nothing else? Let us examine it.

As unfortunately the stanzas are not numbered in the Ms., we have to take resort to inference. Each side of the folios of the Ms. of SC. contains about 8 lines with 42 letters to each line on an average. This gives us a round figure of 330 to 340 letters per side. Now the first few folios contain on an average four metres of the length of the Atijagatī or Sakvarī class with their definitions and illustrations. On the basis of these data we can form a rough estimate as to how many metres on an average were contained by each side of the folios. Some calculation done with the help of the above data shows that about six metres having from 8 to 12 syllables per line along with their definitions and illustrations can be contained by each side of the folio. To form an idea as to how many folios could possibly have been occupied by the treatment of these metres, we should know their number according to Svayambhū.

The extant portion of the Varnavrttas treated by Svayambhū can favourably compare in its extent with the corresponding portion of the Kavidarpana' or the Vrttaratnākara. The latter of these two works treats a slightly smaller number of metres. On the other hand, Hemacandra's Chandonuśāsana is elaborate. Thus Svayambhūcchandas in this matter stands midway between the Kavidarpana and the Chandonuśāsana, somewhat nearer to the former than the latter.

Now among the missing Varnavrttas those having from 1 to 7 letters per line could not have occupied more than one side altogether. Corresponding to the remaining classes upto to the Rucirā variety of the Atijagatī class, the Kavidarpaṇa has 47 metres, the Vrttaratnākara has 59. Accordingly SC. could not have treated more than 90 or 100 metres at the most. Counting six metres per side, the space occupied by these metres would come to about 16 sides or 8 folios. Taking into consideration the space devoted to the introductory matter and to the treatment of the metres containing from 1 to 7 letters per line, we can quite reasonably conclude that the treatment of the missing Varnavrttas from the Uktā to the Praharṣiṇī or the Mattamayūra variety of the Atijagatī class, could not have occupied a space of more than nine or ten folios of SC.

This conclusion is supported by another consideration too. In any treatment of the Varnavrttas the space occupied by the first 13 classes of metres cannot be possibly more than about half of the space occupied by the rest of the classes down to the Utkrti, along with the Dandakas, the Ardhasama Vrttas and the Vişama Vrttas. Now this latter portion in SC. occupies 22 folios (from 23 to 44). Hence the missing Varnavrttas could not have occupied 10 or 11 folios at the most.

If the missing Varnavrttas were contained in ten of the missing folios only, what were the remaining twelve folios devoted to? Let us consider the matter. The Aryā, Galitaka and Khanjaka Prakaranas of the fourth chapter of the Chandonuśasana deal with some 85 different metres. Making allowance for the greater elaboration and the compilatory character of the Chandonuśasana, we can assume that the corresponding number of the metres of these classes. if treated by Svayambhū, would be in the vicinity of the Counting even as three metres per side on an average, these Theoretes can occupy a space of some 24 sides or 12 folios. Thus of the missing 22 folios of SC., about 10 dealt with from the Uktā to the Jagatī and part of the Atijagatī classes of the Varnavrttas, while the twelve folios preceding them could have well contained the metres of the Āryā, Galitaka and Khānjaka classes.

Fortunately there are some positive indications' to believe that Svayambhū did treat the genuine Pk. metres. In the commentary on the fourth stanza (isisi cumbiaim etc.) Act I of the Abhijnanaśākuntala, Rāghavabhatta, while explaining the metre of the stanza makes the following remarks:

iyam ca Gitih. Tallaksanam Sambhau-—'cāccaravadha-addhe udāsthaddhammi na visame masta guru sattaddha Gii-Atra pürvärdhe pürvayor imkāra-himkārayor addhe'. laghutvam jneyam. tad uktam tatraiva—'iha ārābindujuae osuddha-paa vasanam milahu' iti. Here two quotations are given by Raghavabhatta. The first is hopelessly corrupt. Ercepting the last two syllables Gii all the rest of the text of that quotation is printed in one mass without any word division in the original. It is not possible to make out from this the original wording or sense, but it is given with the express statement that this is a definition of the metre Giti quoted from one Sambhu. The second quotation too is somewhat corrupt. Its correct form is as under:

iha(i)-ārā bindu-juā, e-o suddhā paāvasāņammi lahu. In the commentary on Śākuntala V 16 also occurs, 'e-o suddhā vasāņammi lahu'. These latter two quotations are given to paāvasāņammi lahu'. support the metrically short character of final im and him in a Pk. metre. It is clearly stated that the second quotation in the commentary on Sākuntala I 4 is taken from the same source (tatraiva) as the first i.e., from Sambhu according to the text as we have it. Now this second citation is obviously taken from the Svayambhūcchandas of Svayambhū wherein IV 2 reads:

i-hi-ārā bindu- juā paāvasaņammi jaha huvanti lahu! taha kattha-vi chanda-vasā kāavvā u-hu-ārā !!

and further IV 3 reads:

binni-vi e-o suddhā paāvasānammi jaha huvanti lahu || etc. Rāghavabhatta has apparently combined SC. IV 2 and 3 in his But there does not appear any reasonable doubt as to Rāghavabhatta's source. Two results follow from this: first, although the name of the authority is given as Sambhu, it is but a corruption of the correct name Svayambhū; second, Svayambhū had also to his credit the treatment of at least the Arya class of Prakrit metres.

Svayambhū and Svayambhūcchandas have been quoted by two other late metricians also in the incorrect forms Sambhu and Śambhucchandas. Nārāyaṇabhaṭṭa in his commentary (1544 A.D.) on Kedārabhaṭṭa's Vṛtturatnākara' mentions Śambhucchandas along with the Prākṛtapaingala and Cūdāmani as his sources for the information he supplies regarding Prakrit metres'. His words are: Prākṛtādişu prāyah paridṛstāni chandāmsi Prākrtapaingala-

Similarly the Chandomanjari of Gangadasa Kavi thrice quotes Sambhu: The metres Bhujagasisubhrta, Mañjubhasini and Rsabhagajavilasita are given by Sambhu according to Gangādāsa Kavi, under the respective names of Bhujagasisusrtā, Sunandinī and Gajaturagavilasita. If we refer to SC., we find that the first of these three metres could have been in that portion of SC. which is lost and hence we are not in a position to ascertain what was the name given by Svayambhü to the Bhujagasisubhrtā. The Manjubhāsinī is given as Ņandinī by Svayambhū (S.C. I. 3-4). which designation is very near to Sunandini, and the Rsabhagajavilasita is given as Gaavaravilasiaa (i.e. Gajavaravilasitaka) át SC. I. 47-48, which is comparable to Gajaturagavilasita cited by Gangādāsa Kavi. This makes it probable that the authority quoted by the latter under the name Sambhu is nobody else than Svayambhū, the author of SC. It is like that both Nārāyaṇabhaṭṭa and Gaṅgādāsa Kavi knew SC. at second hand. Moreover by their time the names of ancient metrical authorities like Svayambhū had become half-legendary and nobody bothered much about their correct form Under the circumstances, Svayambhū is transformed into Sambhu and Sevala or Saitava (whose opinion on Yati is quoted by Svayambhū, who is known as an ancient metrical authority to Hemacandra and the Kavidarpana and whose opinion on the name of the metre commonly known as Vasantatilakā is quoted by most of the Sanskrit metricians) undergoes metamorphosis as Sveta'. Hence it is not difficult to explain how Svayambhū was cited as Sambhu by Rāghavabhatta, Nārāyanabhatta and Gangādāsa Kavi.

All these considertions lead us to believe that the lost portion of SC. contained a section on pure Prakrit metres dealing with the Arya, Galitaka, Khanjaka etc. that preceded the section on the Varnavrttas.

Chandaśśekhara and SC.

Velankar has published the fifth chapter of the Chandassekhara of Rājaśekhara Kavi, who most probably flourished in the first quarter of the eleventh century. This is the only available portion of the text, the portion of the Ms. dealing with the Sk. and Pk. metres being at present untraceable. If we compare this fifth chapter of the Chandassekhara with SC. IV-VIII, we can see at the first glance that the former is little more than a Sk. translation of SC. IV-VIII. The slight difference in the arrangement, order of treatment and names of the metres indicates that Rajasekhara Kavi had occasionally consulted other sources also. The earlier portion being lost, we do not know if Rājaśekhara Kavi admitted his debt to Svayambhū. That portion could have aslo thrown some indirect light on the real Pk. metres of SC.

The minor details with regards to which Chandassekhara deviates from SC. are shared by the Chandonuśasana shows that Hemacandra has used both, SC as well as the

The Lost Works

The Suddhayacariya.

The colophon stanza' at the beginning of the 100. Sandhi of RC. is, according to our interpretation, from Svayambhū's pen. It mentions Suddhayacariya and Paumacariya as the two works written by Svayambhū before the Ritthanemicariu. Premi suggests' that Suddhayacariu is a scribal error for Suvvayacariu and this latter is nothing but a qualification of Paümacariu mentioned just before in the same line, because Padma and Laksmana according to the Jain mythology flourished during the Tirtha of Muni Suvrata. But the force of ca in the words suddhayacariyam ca of the stanza in question makes this interpretation untenable. Two, not one, works are clearly intended. Now we actually know, of course in name only, of a later composition, possibly in Apabhramsa, called Suddhaya-vīra-kahā written by one Mahakavi Devadatta', who is significantly compared by his son Vīra with Svayambhū and Puspadanta. Thus there is nothing against our believing that Svayambhū composed the poem called Suddhayacariya. This poem was probably in Apabhahmsa, since we do not know of any Pk. work by Svayambhū and the absence in SC. of quotations from his own works is not without some meaning.

Siri-Pancamikahā. The

In one of the Prasasti stanzas discussed below Tribhuvana declares that he had composed the highly wonderful Pañcamīcariu without having tasted (i.e. independently of) the matter or style of Tribhuvana Svayambnu. In another place he says: Had Tribhuvana Svayambhū not been the younger son of 'the crest-jewel of metrics' (? i.e. Svayambhū) who would have 'repaired' (samāreu, i.e., redacted) Siri-Pañcamī the poem composed in the Paddhadiā?'

These remarks imply that not only Tribhuvana himself had written a Pancamicariu, but Svayambhū also had composed a poem in the Paddhadiā metres called Siri-pañcamī-kahā, dealing with the māhātmya of the Jūgnapañeami or Srutapañcami similar to, say, the Bhavisattakaha of Dhanapāla.

Due to reasons unknown to us this poem was considered incomplete or defective in some way by Tribhuvana and hence he worked it over.

Other works.

In the very beginning of PC., while introducing himself, Svayambhū calls himself Kavirāje. This shows that at the time of composing PC. Svayambhū had already earned the title of Kavirāja. Such an eminent literary status could be won only when one has got several important poetical works to his credit. So before PC., Svayambhū must have composed at least two, possibly more, poetical works. Were the Siri pañcamī-kahā and the Suddhaya-cariya written before PC.? We have no means to ascertain this or to decide whether there was any other work or works of Svayambhū over and above these two written before PC.

The Prasasti stanza 4 given in Appendix I, tells us that the intoxicated elephant in the form of Apabhramsa roams at will only so long as the goad in the form of Svayambhū's grammar does not strike on its head. Further stanza 5 given there states: Victorious be the Svayambhū-lion, having correct words as his terrible fangs, fierce to look at on account of claws in the form of metres and figures, and having grammar as his wealth of main. On the strength of these stanzas Jain and Premi suppose that Svayambhū had also written a grammar, possibly an Apabhrmśa grammar. Jain is even inclined to credit him with the authorship of a work on rhetorics and another on lexicography. But the references are too general and vague to permit even any tentative conclusions in this matter. They may be nothing more than tributes paid to Svayambhū for his proficiency in various śāstras like Vyākaraņa, Alamkāra, Kośa etc., that is evident from his poetic works. Tribhuvana describes' himself also metaphorically as a choice bull (dhavala) having grammar as his strong shoulders, scriptures as limbs, logic as his terrible feet and carrying the load of poetry to the Jina-Tirtha.

The other references to Svayambhū's grammar and rhetorics pointed out by Jain are admittedly of a mythological or doubtful character and hence without any probative value.

achievements. Svayambhū's

Svayambhū should be counted among those fortunate writers who achieved during their life-time recognition and literary fame that was amplified by subsequent generations. He was well-known as Kavirāja during his times and his son Tribhuvana never tires of speaking in glowing terms about his father. The Prasasti stanzas found in the beginning and end of some MSS. of PC., are most probably by Tribhuvana and they obviously give expression to the contemporary literary appraisal of Svayambhū. His name was spoken along with Caturmukha and Bhadra (or Dantibhandra). celebrated names in the field of Apabhramsa letters. He is even said to have excelled them. Especially Svayambhū's description of watersports (jaiakrīdā) in PC. (Sandhi 14) was acknowledged as a masterpiece worth mentioning along side the Gograha-kathā of Catur-mukha and the Matsyavedha of Bhadra. Whether you talk of the beauty of ideas or of expressions, whether you weigh knowledge of rhetorics, proficiency in Ap. grammar or skill in handling varied metres, Svayambhū is recognised as an all-round mater.

That the encomiums showered upon his father by Tribhuvana were not merely an expression of filial affection is borne out by the appreciations of many later poets and authors who are never sparing in their praise of Svayambhū. Puspadanta, who along with Caturmukha and Svayambhū constitutes the big trio of Apabhramsa

     Is this an echo of Svayambhu's own words kai atthi aneya bheya-bhariya je suyana-sahāsehim-āyariya/ (PC. 23 1 5)?
          In the gloss on the word Sayambhu in the above line cited from the Mahāpurāna is quoted dihara-samāsa-nālam, etc., the second introductory stanza of PC. Tribuvana too gives us to understand that Svayambhū had numerous pupils.

of the first four out of the five chapters in SC. dealing with the Apabhransa metres. Puspadanta, Dhanapala, Rajasekhara and Hemacandra are typical of the poets and writers that are more or less influenced by Svayambhū's works.

And because of his high achievements in the domain of Apabhramśa literature, it was but natural that Svayambhū exercised considerable influence over the subsequent literary efforts in Apabhramśa. Especially for the epic poets coming after Svayambhū, it was not quite easy to compose with a mind freed completely from the impressions of Svayambhū's voluminous epics. These considerations are clearly borne out by the close similarity of several passages from the Paümacariu on one hand and the Mahāpurāna of Puṣpadanta and the Bhavisattakaha of Dhanapāla on the other.

Svayambhū and Puspadanta

For a poet of Puspadanta's literary talent and learning h would not require much effort to shake off the influence of his renowned predecessors in Apabhramsa poetry. The form, however, of the Apabhramsa epic, appears to have become by his time considerably stereotyped and the Puranic material which served for the subject-matter of the religious Apabhramsa epics hardly ever permitted variation of even small details'. The picture was completed by the fact that Apabhramsa poetic diction was becoming increasingly conventionalized. This tended to fix up a somewhat rigid norm for language and style, though sporadic influx from the spoken vernaculars exerted to some extent a rejuvenating in-These considerations would account for numerous verbal borrowings on the part of Puspadanta from Svayambhū's Paümacariu. These are found mostly in the beginning portion of the Mahāpurāṇa since that portion along with the section dealing with the Rāmāyana (Sandhis 69-79) share common subject-matter with the Paümacariu. Of course I have not examined the whole of the Mahāpurāṇa from this point of view and we cannot rule out the probability of finding traces of Svayambhū's influence in other parts also of that work. Nevertheless, it is likely to be negligible on account of difference in subject-matters.

The parallelisms in wording, matter, rhyming, etc., between PC. (and other works of Svayambhū) and the Mahāpurāṇa are given below:

Besides there are several passages which have common contents and descriptive patterns in PC. and MP. For instance,

(1) The passage describing various services rendered to Marudevi by Śri, Hri, etc., in PC. gives the details in a sequence of lines each beginning with kā vi (1 14 5-8). The corresponding passage in MP. (3 4 1-7) also gives similar details with a sequence of lines each beginning with ka vi.

(2) The passage in PC. describing the activities of the gods celebrating the ceremonial bath of newly-born Rsabha has a sequence of lines each beginning with kehi mi (PC. 2 4 2-8). The corresponding passage in MP. has similar details and a sequence of lines mostly beginning with kena vi (MP. 3 18 1-6).

(3) The contents and pattern of PC. 4 1 and MP. 16 3 describing how the triumphant Cakra did not enter Ayodhyā are closely similar. The sentences in PC giving the similes begin with jiha and those in MP. end with va.

(4) Compare the following passages from the Svayambhū-chandas and the Mahāpurāṇa:

Svayambhū and Dhanapāla

The beginning of the Bhavisattakaha of Dhanapāla (probably 10th Cent. A.D. Ed. Jacobi, 1918, Dalal-Gune, 1923) also appears clearly to have been modelled after the beginning of Svayambhū's Paümacariu, as can be established from the following verbal correspondences collected from the relevant portions of these two works.

These correspondences are sufficiently striking to warrant the conclusion that at the time of composing the first few Kadavakas of his Bhavisattakaha Dhanapāla had before him the beginning portion of Svayambhū's Paiimacariu.

Svyambhū and Hemacandra

In the field of Apabhramsa prosody also Svayambhū had exerted considerable influence. Hemacandra has naturally profited much by Svayambhū's work on Pk. and Ap. metres. More than sufficient proofs are there to show the eclectic and exhaustive character of Hemacandra's treatise on prosody, the Chandonuśāsana. It is therefore quite reasonable to expect Hemacandra to have made generous use of the works of such eminent metrical authorities as Bharata, Kāśyapa, Pingala, Saitava and Jayadeva, and we actually find these names cited several times in Ch. Svayambhū is also found quoted along with these great names. This indicates that by the times of Hemacandra, Svayambhū had come to be recognised as an eminent metrician.

We have seen that Rājaśekhara Kavi had made a Sk. rendering of at least the Ap. section of SC. Hemacandra appears to have utilised SC. directly as also through the Chandaśśekhara of Răjaśekhara.

Firstly, when there obtains a difference of names regarding any of the metres treated, Hemacandra records it, at times along with the name of the authority. In this manner at the end of the definition and illustration stanza of the Meghavisphūrjitā, we read: Rambheti Svayambhūh (Ch. 14 a, l. 16). If we refer to SC. we find that it defines at I 102 under the name Rambhā that very metre which is called Meghavisphūrjitā. Similarly after treating the Vasanta (na-na-ta-ta-ga-ga; Ch. II 224), Hemacandra remarks Nandīmukhīty eke. SC. 1 11-12 define and illustrate this metre under the designation Nandīmuhī. Ch. II 28 8 deals with the Vamsapatrapatita (bha-ra-na-bha-na-la-ga) and at the end it is observed: Vamsadalam ity anye. SC. I 61-62 define and illustrate the metre Vamsaala and at the end there is a note: ko vi a Vamsavattalaliam ti pabhaṇai, while in the next stanza (1 64) which is given to illustrate this, there occurs the world Vamsavattavadiam in the fourth line.

Secondly, at several places Hemacandra has borrowed, verbally or with modifications or in its Sk. garb metrical rules and definitions from SC. without quoting the source or at times even without giving any indication that the statement in question is not original.

It is not unlikely that for some of these illustrations which Svayambhu himself has taken from others, Hemacandra may have used directly the original sources. It should be noted that the citations as found in Hemacandra's works appear to preserve the language of the original as contrasted with their comparatively modernized language in the published text of the Svayambhūcchandas.

THE PAUMACARIU AND ITS SOURCES

The Paümacariu

The narrative of Rāma, who is also known as Padma (Pk. Paima) in Jain mythology and who along with Laksmana and Rāvana makes up the eighth trio of Baladeva, Vāsudeva and Prativāsudeva' respectively was related by many Jain poets. Svayambhū's Paimacariu is such a Rāma-epic in Apabhramsa.

In most of the colophons of various Sandhis of PC. the title appears alternatively as Paümacariu or Pomacariu equivalent to Sk. Padmacaritam. At the end of the work it is called Ramayanapurāņa. The donor's colophon at the end of MS. S. refers to the work as "the Sāstra called Rāmayaṇa." The Jinaratnakośa describes the work under the name of Rāmāyaṇarurāṇa and in the colophon Sandhis 88, 89 of PC. it is called simply In the upper corner of the margin of folio 222 stanzas of Ramavana. verso of MS. S. we find स्थापमूहत प पुराणे २२२ In the colonhon stanza of the 18, and the 84. Sandhi (the latter written by Tribhuvana) the poem is called Rāmaevacariya, Sk. Rāmadevacarita, and once, in the colophon of the 86. Sandhi it is referred to as Rāmacariya, Sk. Rāmacarita. In the body of the work Svayambhū mentions it as Rāmāyanakāva (1 1 19) 'The Rāmāyana Poem', Rāmāyana (23 1b) or Rāhavacariya (23 1 9b, 40 1b), Sk. Rāghava-carita, while the subject-matter is generally called Rāma-kaha (1 1, 1 2 1), Sk. Rāma-kathā. Of these titles Paiimacariu is the most frequent and evidently one intended by the poet.

PC. has a roundly estimated extent of 12,000 Granthagras. It contains a total of 1,269 Kadavakas, distributed among 90 Sandhis which are divided into five books (called Kanda, Sk. Kānda) in the following manner:

- Viijāhara-Kanda (Vidyādhara-Kānda): 20 Sandhis. 1.
- Ujjhā-K° (Ayodhyā-K°): 22 Sandhis. 2.

3.

Sundara-K[°]: 14 Sandhis. Jujjha-K[°] (Yuddha-K[°]): 21 Sandhis.

Uttara-K°: 13 Sandhis.

According to this account and also according to the actual contents, the Yuddha Kanda is finished with the 77. Sandhi and indeed at the end of that Sandhi we find a statement to this effect-telling us that the Yuddha Kāṇḍa is finished and that the Uttara Kāṇḍa is now begun. But immediately after this the MSS read: Siri-muṇi-suvvaya-tittham ṇamāmi, Jujjha-Kaṇḍam ṇisāmeha. 'I bow down to the Tīrtha of Muni Suvrata. Listen to the Yuddha Kāṇḍa'. Further at the end of the next, i.e., 78. Sandhi, it is stated: Juj-jha-kaṇḍam samattam Jyeṣṭha Vadi 1 Some: 'Finished the Yuddha Kāṇḍa, on Monday the first, dark half, Jyeṣṭha'. This is clearly an error. The words Sirimunisuvayya etc. should be found in the beginning of the 57. Sandhi, while the statement at the end of the 78. Sandhi has its legitimate place at the end of the 77. Sandhi.

⁽¹⁾ According to Jain mythology there flourished in past sixty-three great persons, Salākāpurusa, which included twenty-four Tīrthankaras, twelve Cakrins. nine Vāsudevas, nine Baladevas and nine Prativāsudevas. Kṛṣṇa, Balarama and Jarasandha make up the ninth group.

⁽²⁾ The extent in Kandas is given in the colophon stanzas 37-78 (Appendix I).

Similarly at the end of the 13. Sandhi the MSS. read: Prathamam Parva. Its significance is not clear. The first Kāṇḍa is completed with the 20. Sandhi. The 13. Sandhi does not seem to markedly round off the foregoing matter so that the first 13. Sandhis can form a definite unit.

Puṣpadanta has regularly given separate titles to the individual Sandhis of his Mahāpurāna. Svayambhū only casually assigns a title to individual Sandhis. Thus in the Vidyādhara-Kāṇḍa, Sandhis 1, 2, 13, 17 and 18 are found with special titles. On the other hand for Sandhis 83-90, which were not written by Svayambhū, we regularly find the Sandhi titles.

In the colophon of the Vidyādhara Kāṇḍa at the end of the 20. Sandhi Svayambhū records that his high-spirited wife Amiavvā' (—Amṛtāmbā) dictated to him (obviously when he was preparing a copy of his epic, finished partly or wholly) the Vidyādhara Kāṇḍa. Similarly we gather from the colophon of the 42. Sandhi' that his second wife named Āiccamvā (Ādityāmbā) dictated to him the Ayodhyā Kāṇḍa.

Onwards from the 83. Sandhi we find a statement at the end of each Sandhi saying: 'Finished the Sarga number so and so entitled so and so in the supplement to the Paümacariu (Paümacariya-sesa) that was somehow left out by (or that escaped, uvvariya) Svayambhū and that was composed, after the latter's passing away, by his younger son Tribhuvana Svayambhū under the patronage of Vandaïya'. This means that Sandhis 83-90 of PC. were written by Tribhuvana'.

In the previous Section we saw that Svayambhū's Ritthanemicariu was felt to be incomplete by Tribhuvana and the wanting portions were supplied by him and later by Yaśahkīrti. Here in the PC. too we find a similar state of things. Some portions of the narrative were somehow not covered up by Svayambhū and

That the name is Amiavvā and not Sāmiavva has been shown on p. 10.

(3) Premi, 1942, 377, thinks that Sandhis 84-90 were 'Tribhuvana's work and that the 83. Sandhi, excepting possibly some closing Kadavakas, must be attributed (in spite of the colophon!) to Svayambhū, because Tribhuvana's reference to the Rāma-Story as satta-mahā-sagg'-angī (Appendix I, stanza 56) 'having the seven great Sargas as limbs' imply seven Sandhis as his contribution to PC. But this is a mistake. The seven Sargas referred to by Tribhuvana have nothing to do with Tribhuvana's part in the composition of PC. These seven Sargas are just the seven traditionally laid down Adhikāras or topics of the Rāmāyaṇa mentioned by both Vimalasūri: thii-vansa-sanuvoatti. pathāna-ranam Lavankusuvoatti/

thii-vamsa-samuppatti, patthāna-ranam Lavankusuppatti/nivvānam-aneyabhavā, satta purāņettha ahigārā// (Paümacariya I 31) and Ravisena sthitir vamša-samutpattih prasthānam samyugam tatah/Lavanānkuša-sambhūtir bhavoktih parinirvṛtih/ Yuktāh sapta Purānesminnadhikārā ime smṛtāh/ (Padmacarita I 43-44).

Tribhuvana deemed it necessary to supply them. This naturally poses a problem for us: How is it that both the epics of Svayambhū stood in need of supplementation? Was Svayambhū forced to leave them incomplete in spite of his original design or was it that these portions—i.e., the subject-matter thereof—added by others being unacceptable to Svayambhū, were left out by him intentionally and hence the two epics, in their original unextended form were complete from his point of view?

Opposite opinions on this point have been expressed by scho-Jain' thinks that PC. was complete from Svayambhū's viewpoint, so that the portion added by Tribhuvana has no more value than that of interpolation. On the other hand he considers RC. in its original form to have remained incomplete possibly because of Svayambhu's unexpected death, so that the performance of Tribhuvana regarding RC. was necessary to bring the work to completion. The additions, on the other hand, made to RC. by Yaśahkīrti are considered by Jain as interpolations.

Premi', on the other hand, takes the view that both the epics in their unextended form were complete according to Svayambhū's plan. The additions made by Tribhuvana to PC. as well as RC. were not desired by Svayambhū to be included in them. The additions made by Yasahkirti might have been designed, according to Premi, to make good the passages that were possibly found missing or damaged in the MS. of RC. in his possession.

For judging the plausibility of these views it is essential to critically evaluate whatever scanty evidence is available to us mostly from the Prasasti and colophon stanzas.

In this connection the Stanza" given in the beginning of the 100. Sandhi (or it may be considered to be at the end of the 99. Sandhi) of RC. is very important. It has not been interpreted correctly either by Jain or by Premi. Jain just gives the purport of the stanza. He says', "At the end of Sandhi 99 of the Harwainsapurana, we have a verse telling us that the poet proceeded to compose the Harivamsapurana after having finished the Paumacariu and yet another work of great merit Suddhayacaria. This information precludes us from imagining that his Paimacariu was interrupted by any calamity like death'.

According to Premi the Stanza in question was written by Tribhuvana and not by Svayambhū as Jain is inclined to think.

He says'.

''इस (९९ वीँ) सन्धिके अन्तमें एक पद्य है जिसमें कहा है कि प्रज्ञमचरिउ या सुव्वयचरिउ बनाकर अब में हरिवंशकी रचनामें प्रवृत्त होता हैं, सरस्वतीदेवी मुझे सुस्थिरता देवें। निश्चय ही यह पद्य त्रिभुवन स्वयंभुका लिखा हुआ है और इसमें वे कहते हैं कि पउमचरिज की अर्थात् जसके शेष भागकी रचना तो में कर चुका हूँ, उसके बाद अब में हरिवंशमें अर्थात उसके भी शेषमें हाथ लगाता हुँ। यदि इस पद्म को हम त्रिभुवनका न मानें तो फिर इस स्थानमें इसकी कोई सार्थकता ही नही रह जाती । हरिवंशकी ९९ सन्धिया बना चुकने पर स्वयंभुदेव यह कैसे कह सकते हैं कि पउमचरिउ बनाकर अब मैं हरिवंश बनाता है।" moha and sudhiya-deha in the stanza correctly. Works on Padmacarita and Harivamsa in Jain literature usually have a beginning in which it is declared that the accounts of Rāma and Kṛṣṇa given in non-Jain traditions are false and misleading and so Śrenika requests Gautama to narrate these Caritas in their correct version—that is known to the Jain tradition. Thus we find in Svayambhū's Paümacariu:

paramesara para-sāsaņehim, suvvai vivarerī | kahi jiņa-sāsaņe kema thiya, kaha Rāhava-kerī || jage loehim dhakkarivantaehim, uppāiu bhantiu bhantaehim | (1 9 9-1 10 1)

"The narrative of Rāghava, O Great Lord, is heard in other faiths in a topsy-turvy form. (Hence) tell (us) how is it found in the Jain faith. Deluded people in the world have fabricated (many) delusions (regarding this narrative)."

Similarly Svayambhū describes his Harivamśa narrative as sa-santaya-parasamaya-viyāra-sahā 'capable of considering (the accounts current in my) own faith and (those current in) others'.' The word used in PC. is bhanti, Sk. Bhrānti. It is synonymous with moha in the expression Harivamśa-moha-harane occurring in the stanza under discussion. Accordingly it means 'in removing the deluded notions (or erroneous views) regarding the Harivamśa (narrative)'.

Agrain, sudhiya means śrānta (Deśīnāmamālā VIII 36), thakā huā (PSM.) 'exhausted'. So sudhiya-deha means 'exhausted in body'. The whole stanza can be rendered as, "Having composed the Paümacariu and the Suddhyacariu replete with merits, (my) Muse (Sarassaī) in removing the deluded view about the Harivamsa narrative, has become as it were exhausted in body" the sense in which the stanza is understood by Jain we fail to see how Svayambhū can say, when most of RC: was actually composed, that he proceeds to compose the Harivamsa. Similarly Premi's interpretation too has to contend with serious difficulties. Firstly we have to understand Paimacariu in the sense of 'Supplement to the Paümacariu' even though Tribhuvana makes it a point to refer to his contribution to PC. with the special name of Pauma-cariyasesa'. Secondly, it would be inconceivable that Tribhuvana who holds his father in great respect and who is never tired in showering emcomiums on him, would describe his proposed additions to RC. as 'designed to remove wrong notions about the Harivamsa', for it would imply indirect censure of his father's perform-Lastly Tribhuvana's confession of his inspiration waning when he undertook to supplement the Harivamsapurana would be something unusual for him in the face of his pronounced tendency to emphasize his nobility in shouldering the highly responsible task of bringing to completion his father's work and in continuing the poetic tradition of his family. Therefore it is more natural and sensible to take the stanza to have been written by Svayambhū himself. After completing 99 Sandhis of RC. Svayambhū says that with the blessings of Sarasvatī he has already completed the two works, the Paümacariu and the Suddhayacariu. But as he proceeded with the composition of the Harivamsa that was intended to dispel false versions, his poetic inspiration did not remain sustained. Already in the introduction to RC. Svayambhū talks of his feeling highly diffident in handling such a vast and difficult theme as the Harivamsa. But then Sarasvatī reassures him: 'Here I bestow on you keenness of mental faculties. Proceed with the composition'. Hence it is very probable that after the composition of RC. up to 99 Sandhis Svayambhū felt tired in spirit and his literary activity thus interrupted was never resumed by him any more. It would follow from this that the Paümacariu and the Suddhayacariu were written before RC. and that the poet's life was cut short before he could complete the latter. The remaining portion of RC. was written by Tribhuvana after Svayambhū's death'. In later times some new details and episodes came to be considered essential in the concluding portion of the Harivamsa narrative and their absence in RC. of Svayambhū and Tribhuvana induced Yaśaḥkīrti to make requisite interpolations. We have an interesting parallel for this in the interpolations made by Gandharva in Puspadanta's Jasaharacariu.

Now let us take up the case of PC. Jain and Premi both suppose that from Svayambhū's point of view PC. was complete at 82. Sandhi and the additions of Tribhuvana were not desired by Svayambhū as the parts of his PC. For, they argue, in the case of PC. no calamity like death interrupted the poet's activity and that would leave unexplained why Svayambhū left PC. incomplete. Secondly, PC, and RC, were composed under the patronage of two different persons. If PC, was composed before RC, how can Svayambhū start writing another work under a different patronage without completing the work more than eight-ninths of which were already finished under the earlier patronage? Thirdly Tribhuvana calls his contribution to the Paümacariu by a special name, Paümacariga-sesa 'Supplement to the Paümacariya'. No such special name is given to his additions to RC. Fourthly the parts added by him are described by Tribhuvana as 'Sayambhuevassa kahavi uvvariya', which according to Premi, means that which was somehow considered undesired (anipsita) or extra (adhika) by Svayambhūdeva'. This implies that the matter added by Tribhuvana was unacceptable to Syavambhu. Fifthly the subject-matter of the Sandhis written by Tribhuvana appears to be disgressive and unessential for the main narrative of the Rāmāyana. Lastly it would appear quite singular that not one, not two, but altogether three works could have been left incomplete by Svayambhū.

Now there is nothing inherently improbable in an author leaving more than one works incomplete behind him. Of the three works improved upon or completed by Tribhuvana, we do not know in which way did he 'repair' the Siri-pañcamīkahā. Tribhuvana's statement does not necessarily imply the incomplete character of that work. As to RC., Svayambhū most probably passed away before he could finish it. And if we can establish on other grounds that PC. was left incomplete by Svayambhū, the other objections can be easily met with. It is not so unusual for an author to begin and continue to work on two works at a time or to embark upon another before the first is completed. We can assume that Svayambhū accepted the patronage of Dhavalaïya before completing PC. under the patronage of Dhanañjaya for reasons unknown to us. He might have intended to complete PC. later on. And the meanings anīpsita and adhika recorded for uvvariya in the Desināmamālā are rather special. For in literature 'left behind', 'escaped' is the most common meaning and in PC. itself uvvariya (5 11 3, 14 7 5) and samuvvariya (15 5 3) are used in the senses 'escaped' 'saved', 'left as a remainder'. We need not, therefore, understand by Tribhuvana's use of that word that the matter contained in his supplement to PC, was unacceptable to or rejected by Svayambhū.

Appendix I, passage 57, lines 2-3, 5.
 Appendix I, Stanza 68, 84 wherein Tribhuvana talks of 'rescuing' the poem and poetry of Svayambhū, and of carrying the paternal burden, piu-bharanivvaliana.

The argument that Tribhuvana gives a special name Sesa or Paümacariya-sesa to his supplement to PC. appears to have some weight. Except in the second colophon stanza of the 84. Sandhi where the general title Rāmaevacariya is used, in all the Sandhis composed by him, Tribhuvana invariably calls his contribution by the special name, Paümacariyasesa and in the colophons of Sandhis 83-90 this title is mentioned no less than eighteen times. As contasted with this his additions to RC. are not given any special name. Again it is significant that this Paümacariya-sesa is described by Tribhuvana as 'the crest-jewel of the Paümacariya" while in another stanza' it is stated: "Thus is finished (samatta) the charming Paümacariya; the same, when completed by Tribhuvana, is now thoroughly finished (parisamatta)' where the contrast between samatta and parisamatta appears to be intentional.

But there are very weighty arguments for believing that PC. could not have been considered by Svayambhū also as complete with the 82. Sandhi. Ravisena's Padmacarita was the main source for Svayambhū's PC. The latter borrows ideas and expressions from the former and the general plan and pattern of PC., so far as its subject-matter or contents are concerned, are cast after those of the Padmacarita. As noted previously, the Padmacarita mentions seven broad topics (adhikāras) of the Rāmāyana narrative as recognised and handed down by the Jain tradition. They are Sthiti, Vamsasamutpatti, Prasthāna, Samyuga, Lavaņānkuśa-sambhūti, Bhavokti, Parinirvrti. These are enumerated by Vimalasūri, and Tribhuvana too refers' to this fact. And the Rāma-story as narrated by Ravisena and Vimalasūri actually bears this out. But the 82 Sandhis of PC.—the portion composed by Svayambhū—covers up only the first five out of the seven topics. The last two topics cannot be said to be unessential or digressive as is suggested by Premi because they are recognised by tradition and are actually found in the source-work of PC. No reason is forthcoming for their omission by Svayambhū. Secondly, if PC was according to Svayambhū complete with 82. Sandhi, where is its colophon that ought to have been written by Svayambhū? So long as we cannot find any satisfactory explanation for these facts, it would be quite unsafe to assume that PC. was complete as it was left by Svayambhū.

From the fresh mangala stanzas found in the beginning of the 23. and the 43. Sandhi it follows that the composition of PC. was twice interrupted. The fresh mangala is indicative of some lapse of time preceding the resumption.

Sources of the Paumacariu.

In the very opening stanza of the first Sandhi of PC. Svayambhū declares that he has taken on hand to narrate the Rama-tory after keeping in view the Arşa. The colophons of all the Parvans of Ravisena's Padmacarita begins with iti Arse Ravisenācārya-prokte Padmacarite. This makes it clear that Svayambhū's reference pertains to that work. And this is endorsed by PC. 1 2 9 where we are told that Kavirāja Svayambhū has embarked upon such a vast theme through the favour of Acarya Ravisena. In the same Kadavaka Svayambhū also gives, following Ravisena, the tradition through which the Rama-story that was being narrated by him was handed down: from Vardhamāna to Indrabhūti, Dharma and Prabhava down to Kirtidhara, to Anuttaravāc and thence to Ravisena. Ravisena gives also the name of Jambū and the last two are given by him as Kīrti and Anuttaravāgmin. Ravisena, while giving his tradition says that his present effort of composing a Rāma-epic was made consequent upon the written (likhitam) work of Anuttaravāgmin. Now to any one who even casually compares Vimalasūri's Paümacariya with Ravisena's Padmacarita' it is as plain as the day-light that one of them is simply a recast of the other and there is no difficulty in granting the claim of originality, as is done by Premi, to Vimalasuri. Ravisena's Sanskrit work is but an enlarged recast of the Prakrit Paumacariya, some of the alterations being necessitated due to the difference of medium and to the fact that Vimalasūri was a Svetāmbara, but Raviṣeṇa, a Digambara. The enlargements chiefly centre round the descriptive and dogmaticdidactic portions. In extent Vimalasūri's epic is 10,000 Granthāgras, that of Raviṣeṇa 18,000 granthāgras. It requires no elaborate comparison to show that the enlargements apart, Ravisena's work is but a slavish imitation of that of Vimalasuri. Indeed very few cases from the field of our ancient literature can be cited as a parallel to such thorough and continuous verbatim borrowing, when we make necessary allowance for the difference in the linguistic and metrical mediums. Does this mean that Vimalasūri and Anuttaravägmin were one?

On the other hand though Svayambhū expressly states to have followed Raviṣeṇa and even though we keep out of consideration the alterations forced by the difference in religious belief and literary medium, a close and critical comparison of the Padmacarita and the Paümacariu leaves us very favourably impressed as to Svayambhū's originality and poetic powers. As a rule he holds to the thread of the narrative as found in the Padmacarita, but otherwise also the theme even in its very minor details was fixed by tradition and permitted no significant variation. But many a time he parts company with Raviṣeṇa, summarily treats or altogether rejects or rehandles certain topics or waxes eloquent over others that were barely touched in his model, according as it suits his artistic sense. Parallel passages of PC., RP. and VP. are given in Appendix III.

One broad tendency that is clearly discernible in Svayambhū's handling of his material is that he is primarily interested in recounting the narrative in an attractive manner. This aim is responsible for applying scissors to everything that is flagrantly digressive and for giving only passing attention to the side-episodes. Of course, these observations are to be assessed keeping the diffuse and accommodating nature of the epic-form in view. Svayambhū seems to have a sure eye for all such points in the narrative which would give full scope to the play of his poetic fancy. The 18,000 granthāgras of the Padmacarita have been brought down to 12,000 in the Paümacariu and thus it has become comparable in extent to Vimalasūri's epic.

First we take up the omissions and abridgements. Part of RP. IV (topic, sūtrakanthānām utpattih), the whole of RP. XI (Marutta-yajña-dhvamsana-padānugābhidhānam) and the long sermon covering the whole of RP. XIV. are totally cut out by Svayambhū, excepting the two lines (PC. 15 5 9 b and 15 9 1). passingly referring to the topic of RP. XI and one Kadavaka (PC. 17 18) summing up RP. XIII. Svayambhū has also omitted the table of contents given in RP. I and has treated the topics of Kṣetra-varṇana and Kāla-varṇana (RP. II) quite briefly. Similarly the Hariṣeṇa episode, running over 130 stanzas in RP. (VIII 272-401) is ruthlessly compressed by him in two Kadavakas (PC. 11 1-2) and almost everywhere the topic of pūrva-bhava-kathana is sk pped over: The account of the previous existences (1) of Toyadavāhana and Sahasrākṣa and their father Pūrṇaghana and Sulocana (RP. V 96-141), (2) of Bhīma and Bhagīrathi (RP. V 286-294), (3) of Mahāraksas (RP. V 343-359), (4) of Madhu (RP. XII 22-69), (5) of Indra (RP. XIII 54-66). Only in two cases (PC. 6 15—RP. VI 314-328 and P.C. 19 4-5—RP. XVII 140-198) Svayambhū chooses to relate the pūrvabhavas.

In the same manner it can be shown that many of the lengthy descriptions in RP, have been considerably shortened by Svayambhü and most of the sermons omitted.

We shall now point out the additions and enlargements affected Svayambhū which slightly by up the big losses in bulk detailed above. Ιt Paüauite obvious that the purpose in coming macariu being primarily religious, there was no question of taking any sort of liberty with the traditional story. As such there was no scope for invention or artistic designing and variation as far as the subject-matter was concerned. The poet -njoyed freedom regarding stylistic embellishments, descriptions and depict on of various sentiments and he could expatiate on particular incidents he took fancy for. The whole of PC. XVI dealing with the topics of Arthasastra is not found in the same context in the RP, and is thus an innovation. But most of the cases pertain not to innovation but to alteration. Many a time only the suggestion or bare facts are availed of from Ravisena, but the development and the presentation are quite original. Of course as the table of correspondences (see Appendix III) demenstrate Ravişeņa's work forms the basis for Svayumbhū's work and cases of borrowing ideas and expressions are numerous, but this dependence is out of choice and not out of necessity, as we can judge from the high artistic worth of those passages where Svayambhu's poetic fancy chose to fly with its own wings, and even when the suggestion is taken from Ravisena, its working over exhibits the hand of a great poet. Part of the descriptions of nature and water-sport in PC. XIV, description of battles at various places respecially the portion PC. VIII 4-8), depiction of some incidents of tense emotion in the Anjana episode (in PC. XVIII-XIX), the duels between Bharata and Bāhubali (in PC. V) etc. can be cited as illustrations. In short it can be said that of the high poetic merits and literary charm only a fraction is such as for which Svayambhū is indebted to Raviṣeṇa. For the rest the credit goes to his own poetic powers.

From what is said above it should not be understood that Ravihe one and only source of Svayambhū so composition of PC. was concerned. For we far the as find that the facts and incidents at several places in PC. are at variance with those in corresponding contexts in RP. This clearly suggests that Svayambhū had access to other sources. (I) the episode of Bharateśvara Bāhubali: (1) In RP. (IV 70) and VP. (IV 430) it is Bāhubali who proposes to decide their quarrel by personal combat instead of involving their whole armies, but in PC. (4 8 9c) the proposal is put forth by ministers. (2) Over and above the glance duel and the wrestling duel (RP. IV 72, VP. IV 43-47), PC. (4 10) gives also water duel'. (3) In RP. and VP. there is no mention of the obstacle to Bāhubali's attainment of Kevala and how it was removed by Bharata (PC. 4 13-14).

(II) The battle with Vāli: According to RP. IX 73-90 and VP. IX 39-46) Vāli went to the battle-field but at the instance of his minister was disgusted with the imminent slaughter and immediately renounced the world. But PC. 12 10-11 describe the combat between Vāli and Rāvaņa in which ultimately Vāli lifts up Rāvaņa together with his sword and aerial car and thereafter renounces the world.

Again when Rāvaṇa was out to uproot Mount Kailāsa with Vāli over it and throw it in the ocean, it is Vāli himself, according to RP. (IX 145-158) and VP. (IX 74-81), who, in order to save the Jina shrines from destruction, presses down the mountain with his toe and thereafter at the request of Mandodarī to spare Rāvaṇa's life, removes the pressure. But the account in PC. is different. There (XIII) Dharaṇendra, coming to know of the upasarga caused to Vāli by Rāvaṇa appears before Vāli and as he bows the mountain is pressed down with his weight, it being pulled up afterwards at Mandodarī's request. In the RP. (IX 191-193) and VP. (IX 96) Dharaṇendra appears after Rāvaṇa comes out shattered and prays to Vāli. But from PC. XV 9 10 it is clear that Rāvaṇa believed it was Vāli's foot that had pressed down the mountain.

(III) The Dynastic and other Lists. PC. gives between Sandhis V and VI names of sixty-four successive kings in the Rākṣasa dynasty. Strangely enough they are given in Sanskrit. All Mss. of PC. have them. But we find several divergences when we compare this dynastic list with those given at RP. V 378-398 and VP. V 251-266° PC. has Mṛgavega) (v. l. Mṛgaveṣa) for Amṛtavega; omits Cintāgati (RP. V 393, but not in VP.); gives Simha-

(1) In the Vasudevahindi (1-187) also only the ditthi-jujjha and the mutthi-jujjha are given. There the account of the obstacle to Bāhubali's attainment of Kevala and removal thereof at Rṣabha's suggestion is narrated but the details are different from what is found in PC.

(2) There are discrepancies between RP. and VP. also on this point. Some of the above noted divergences in names can be combined.

⁽²⁾ There are discrepancies between RP. and VP. also on this point. Some of the above noted divergences in names can be explained on assuming that they represent different attempts at reproducing the Prakrit original. Thus, from an original Sihadavamna or Mayāridavamna we get (1) directly Mrgāridamana and (2) by metathesis of va and da, Simhavadana. Similarly the first portions of Mrgavega or (Mrgaveşa) and Amrtavega can be derived from maya or miya. In Purānic lists also we find similar corruptions and transformations.

vadana for Mṛgāridamana, Indraviţu for Indrajit; adds Mahābhīma after Bhīma, has Bhātaka for Māraṇa (though both have the same metrical value), Dvipavāhu for Dvipavāha (VP. Bhayavāha), Gatyuttama for Gatabhūma (VP. Gaiuttamo, wrongly divided in the text as Pavaṇuttaragaī, uttamo).

In the list of Islands given at PC. 6 4 5-9 we find several names which are not represented either in RP. (V 371-373; VI 67-69) or in VP. (V 246-248; VI 31-33). The same is the case with the list of Vidyās (PC. 9 12, RP. VII 324-332; VP. VII 135-142).

IV. There are some minor details which we find in PC., but which are either absent or in a different form in RP. (1) When Sagara's sons visit Kailāsa, PC. (5 10 6-7) mentions the fact that the Jina-shrines there had been erected by Bharata. Bhagirathi proposes to make some arrangements for the protection of those shrines. RP. does not give these details, but VP. (V 107) mentions them, though there the proposal comes from the minister. (2) Again the most dug round the Kailāsa is styled Ganga in PC. (5 10 8a) (cf. VP. V 172) but there is nothing corresponding to it in RP. (3) When all the sons of Sagara except two are burnt to death RP. (V 254 b) says that Bhima and Bhagiratha went to Sagara, but PC. (5 11 4b) says that forthwith they came to Saketa city and the wording here roughly corresponds with VP. V 175b. (4) When the news of his sons' death are broken to Sagara, he swoons, according to PC. 5 13 4h (tam nisunevi rau mucchamgau) and VP. V 192 b (rāyā tam ciya soūņa niyaya-suyamaraņam mucchāvasa-vembhalo padio). RP. does not mention this. (5) The bewailing king says in PC. 'what is the use of enjoyments and (this) army' (kim so(bho?)em kim khandhāvārem 5 13 7 a) as in VP. (kim majjha vasumaie, navahi nihihi va rayana-sahiehim, V 199 a). (6) The adjective 'long-tailed' (dīha-langūla) is given to the monkeys in PC. 6 9 2a) and VP. (diha-nangule, VI 70b, not in RP. in the corresponding context (VI 167-169). (7) They are called kula-devayaim in PC. (6 9 8b) and devabbhūyā in VP. (VI 75b). RP. does not use any equivalent expression. (8) The magic horde of the monkeys is described in PC, as producing terrifying and rumbling shrieks (vukkāra-ghora-ghagghara-saraim 6 11 5b) and as not being contained by the earth, the ocean or the sky jale thale ayase na maiyaim, 6 11 6b). The wordings correspond to VP. VI 107 b (mahā-ghore) and 108 b (bukkāravam karentā and pavangame jala-thalāyāse). In the same context in RP. (VI 246) the wording is different. (9) In PC Taditkeśa and the Udadhikumāra god going to the monk request him to expound religion (punu pucchiu maharisi 'dhammu kake' 6 13 7a); VP. also says like this (sahum pucchanti jina-dhammam, VI 112b). RP. does not mention this. (10) PC. gives Harikesi as the name of Indra's commander-in-chief (8 1 4b), RP. gives Harinakeśin (VII 29b), VP. Harinigamesī (VII 11b). (11) The name of Dhanada's father is Vīsāvasu in PC. (9 6 3a), Viśravas in RP. (VII 127), Vīsaseņa in VP. (VII 55a). (12) In the description of VII various obstacles created by Anāvṛtta Yakṣa to test the steadfastness in austerities of Rāvaṇa and his brothers, PC. includes elephants, ghosts, goblins and demons (gaya-bhūya-pisāehim rakkhasehim 9 9 8a) also, as is done by VP. (veyāla-vāṇamantara-gahabhuubbhada-karāla-muha-danta, VII 117a). There is nothing corresponding to this in RP. (VII 287-290). (13) Some of the names of the Vidyas acquired by Ravana are common between PC. and VP. only. (14) According to PC. 9 13 7 Ravana having found Svayamprabha city, got constructed a beautiful shrine called Sahasasihara. RP. or VP. knows nothing of this. (15) In PC. Khara and Dūṣaṇa are two different persons as in the Rāmāyaṇa of Valmīki (see PC. 12 3 3, 13 11 7, where Khara-Dūṣaṇa appear in the plural; 12 4 9b, where appears only Khara, 17 11 4, where Khara is sai; to be fighting against Citta and Dusana against Cittanga), but RP. (see X 30) and VP. (see IX 10, 12; X 17) know Kharaduşana as one person. (16) The name of the princess from Nityaloka city married by Rāvaņa was Rayaṇāvali according to PC. (13 1 1a) and VP. (IX 52b), but Rambhāvalī according to RP. (IX 102b). (17) Vāli engaged in meditation is described in PC. as Meru va akampu (13 2 8a); so also in VP. (IX 62b) as Merum piva niccalam. But RP. simply says suniścalam (IX 128a). (18) According to PC. (13 11 5 11) Pāvana viņile an march squiret Indra campa to Pātāla laikā 5-11) Rāvaņa while on march against Indra comes to Pātāla-lankā and reminded of the misbehaviour of Khara and Düşana flares up and wants to punish them. But Maya pacifies him. RP. and VP. have nothing corresponding to this. They simply say that as Rāvaņa reached Pātāla-lanka, Kharadūsaņa and Rāvaņa greeted each other cordially. (RP. X 31-32; VP. X 17-18). (19) Sahasrakiraņa's city is called Māhesara in PC. (14 4 9c) and VP. (X 34a) but Māhīşmatī in RP. (X 65a). (20) In PC. the incident of Uparambhā is narrated considerably differently from RP. and VP. (21) The beginning portion of the episode of Anjanāsundarī in PC. (17 1 5) and RP. (XV 6-82) is somewhat different from each other. (22) According to PC. 19 4 6 Pavana takes a vow that if no intelligence of Anjana reaches him, he would become a recluse, while according to PC. 19 18 1b Pavana writes a stanza to the effect that if Añjanā is dead, he will not live. In RP. and VP. there is no mention of becoming a recluse. There Pavana says that if he does not get back his beloved, he will die (RP. XVIII 54, VP. XVIII 27).

The differences between PC. and RP. detailed above reveal two facts. Firstly the division IV above makes it probable that Svayambhū had casually consulted Vimalasūri's work also. Of course we cannot be quite definite on this point because we have no knowledge of the Rāmāyaṇa literature available to Svayambhū. Secondly in certain cases Svayambhū disagrees with both Raviṣeṇa and Vimalasūri and we cannot explain all such cases as innovations. This means that Svayambhū had consulted other sources also.

One of these sources was probably Caturmukha's Paümacariu, quotations from which are found in SC. Of course no Ms. of this work has yet come to light. But Svayambhū has admitted that he was indebted to Caturmukha for the structure and metrical form of his epics. For in the beginning of his Ritthanemicariu, where he mentions some of the previous poets and scholars from whose works he derived some sort of help or benefit, we are told that Caturmukha bestowed on him the Paddhadiyā 'studded' with the Chaddaniyā, Dvipadī and Dhruvaka'. In view of this it is not also unlikely that Svayambhū's poetical works contain echoes from Caturmukha's works, and especially because three works of both the poets treated commonly the themes of Rāmāyaṇa, Harivaṃśa and Pañcamīcarita. This is confirmed by one accidental identification. SC. quotes the following lines under the name of Catur-mukha to illustrate the non-position making character of an Anus-vāra appearing on the end syllable of a word:

haum Ajjunu, tumha, eum ranu/SC. IV 2 (a).

Compare with this the second Pāda in the following Ghattā found in the 11. Kadavaka of the 67. Sandhi (Jayadrathavadha) of RC.: kuru paccāriu Ajjunena te tumhaim, so haum, eu ranu.

rakkaho sīsu Jayaddahaho, lai dharahu savvu maim ekku khanu.

The resemblance of b in the above with the line cited in SC. is unmistakable. A close study of the two epics of Svayambh \bar{u} may reveal some more such resemblances.

6. GRAMMATICAL PECULIARITIES OF PC. I-XX

I. Orthogrphy

- §1. Manuscripts of Apabhramáa texts are notorious for their erratic orthography. Not only different Mss. of a particular text spell a particular word differently but one and the same Ms. is disconcertingly inconsistent with regard to the spelling of one and the same word. Five factors are responsible for most of these vagaries of Apabhramsa orthography: defective alphabet, defective calligraphy, dialectal variation, modernization and scribal ignorance. Short e and o, the Anunasika, nasalized v and yaśruti and vaśruti are characteristic of the Apabhramsa sound system, while they are unknown to the phonetic system of Sanskrit. No new characters, however, are developed to represent them. They are expressed by the characters for their phonetic near-equivalents. Short e and o are represented either by ē and ō thus sacrificing the quantity, or by i and u, thus sacrificing the quality, of the original sounds. The Anunāsika is written either as an Anusvāra, or is omitted altogether. m, mv and v with or without the nasilization of the preceding vowel alternatively stand for the nasalized v, y and v serve to express ya-śruti and va-śruti or the latter are not expressed at all.
- §2. Secondly, we can well understand what a fruitful source of confusion can hurried, careless or obscure handwriting prove, when textual transmission was solely dependent upon copying on the part of successive generations. This applies to the copyists who were ignorant of the language of their Mss. On the other hand an educated copyist is also liable to alter the text, if he claims some literary interest. The potentiality of the copyist for altering the original text assumes greater significance if we remember the fact that the language of these texts was in certain particulars not far removed from the spoken language of the day, which was constantly but subtly changing from generation to generation and hence it was quite easy and natural for an ordinary scribe to substitute for the the original form, a developed or dialectical form which but slightly varied from the original. This substitution was hardly a conscious process, so that the modernization worked in a random fashion, and as in most cases we possess the MSS. whose copying date is removed by several centuries from the date of composition of the text, we find, in the language of one and the same text, an admixture of old and developed features. And with regard to some features like the ya-śruti and the cerebralization of an initial n or a medial nn, different, practices prevailed since the 'Prakrit stage'.

These factors in short are responsible for the great divergence and inconsistency of spelling in the Apabhramsa MSS. It raises knotty problems for the editor of Apabhramsa texts. His difficulties are multiplied by the fact that the manuscript material at his disposal is as a rule meagre and of a considerably late date. Under these circumstances, in some cases the original spelling can be determined with the help of metre (if such help is forthcoming) and by a consideration of the prevalent orthographic tendencies of particular MSS. (the value whereof will depend upon the age and tradition of the MSS.). But with all this help, he cannot succeed in determining the original spelling with precision. At the best he can hope to point out probabilities consequent upon a critical examination of the orthographic data before him-

With these general remarks, we take up for consideration the chief orthographic peculiaries of the three Mss. utilized for constituting the text of the Paümacariu.

4. Confusion between the following characters is usual in Apa. Mss: रे I and च्छ , पandख ; ज्युandज्य ; त. त्त्वातिय ; इ. ब्रु and इ. व. पandए S. has a strong tendency to consider the Danda marking the end of a Pada as a part of the final syllable and hence words in this position which end in -a in other Mss. are found in S. ending in -a. Casually writing \hat{q} for \hat{q} is another tendency of S. Writing sin-ज्ञ, त्त, ण्णा, हु, क्ख gle consonants for the conjuncts versa, writing उ for आ metathesis, repetition of a word or longer portion of the text, omission of a portion of text (haplographic or otherwise), tagging the -u of the Nom. sing. to a prior member of a compound, omission of Anusvara are the results of scribal carelessness. On the other hand confusing medial g and a, g and a, ए and प has a phonetic basis and rare omission of the -u of the Nom. sing., substitution of -hu, hi and-hā in P., S. for the Gen. Loc. endings -ho, him and hum are the traits that reveal the modernizing influence. The oft-recurring spellings पुष्फ and सिहासन are explicable under the influence of Sanskrit.

Apart from these stray features there are some more prevalent and significant tendencies of Ap. orthography:

Short e

a) in open syllables.

§5. Short e is evidenced in the following forms and vocables: 1. I. sing. of masc./neut. A stems in -em, ena. 2. I.L. plur. masc. neut. A stems in -ehim. 3. L. sing. in short e. 4. I. sing. of fem. A, I and U stems in -ae, -ie, ue. 5. All G. sings. of all I, U stems and of fem. A. stems, and L. sing. of fem. A, I and U stems in -ihe, -uhe, ahe. 6. V. sing, of fem. A stems in short -c. 7. The pronominal forms amhe, tumhe, te, ehu, e, ce, ke. je. 8. Imper 2. sing. in short e. 9. Abs. in evi 10. Indeclinables je, jje, jema, tema, ema, kema, jettahe etc., annettahe. None of our three Mss. has either e alone or only i instead in these forms consistently throughout. They occur in all the Mss. now with e, now with i. But in all the Mss. the spelling with e prevails, and if arranged according to the number of forms in e, A., P. and S. would be the order of the Mss. In other words A. has the strongest tendency to spell the abovementioned forms with e as compared with P. or S., while S. has the greatest number of forms in i when compared with P. or S. Regarding -e of L. sing. and -he of Abl. G., Ms. A. and to a lesser degree P. tend to preserve the original spelling as contrasted with the modernized -i and-hi of S. In all the above cases short e is given in the constituted text. Even in those few places where all the three Mss. have -i, I have given -e in the constituted text but with a wavy underline to indicate its hypohetical character so to speak. Only in the case of the emphatic particle (j)je and jema, etc., the alternative forms (j)ji and jima, etc., are accepted in the text when none of the Mss. had the former. Regarding all the cases cited in the beginning of this article evidence supplied by the Mss. is sufficiently strong for concluding that e is original, i its later development

These remarks relating to the orthography of short e apply also to the orthography of short o and Anunasika. In the constituted text the short e in open syllables has been throughout

b) in closed syllables.

In closed syllables, e and o are invariably short according to the rules of MIA, phonetics. Hence they have not been expressly indicated in the constituted text. Regarding closed e and o appearing in the seam of a compound, the general tendency of the Mss. is to write them as i and u (gainda- = gajendra-, Manusuttara-=Manusyottara-). I have followed this practice unless my best Mss. spell otherwise.

2. Short o.

a) in open syllables.

§8. Short o is evidenced in the following forms and vocables: 1. G. sing. of masc./neut. A and U stems in -aho, -uho. 2. V. pl. of masc. neut. A stems in -aho. 3. Imper. 2. pl. in -aho. 4. The pronominal forms so, ko, ohu. 5. Indeclinables: ho, aho, tatthaho, etc.

§9. What is said in connection with short e holds good for short o also. In the constituted text the Genitive and Vocative forms have been spelt with short o. The Imperative forms are spelt with u also when none of the Mss. has o. The short o in open syllables has been throughout marked.

3. The Anunāsika or Nasalization

$10. The Anunasika is found in the following forms and vocacles: 1. N. Sing. of enlarged neut. A stems in -aum. 2. N.A. plur. of neut. A stems in -aim. 3. I. plur. and L. plur. of all stems and L. sing, of fem. A stems and all I and U stems with the ending -him. 4. G. plur. of A stems in -ahum, -ahā. 5. G. plur. of I stems and feminine stems with the ending -him. 6. -ahum of the first person plural. 7. Pronominal forms haum, amhaim, maim, tuhum, tumhaim, paim, kāim. 8. Indeclinables: naim, nāim, saim, sahum, nahim, nāhim, ghaim, jahim, etc., jaiyahum, etc., jāvehim, etc., evahim.

$11. The remarks made while considering the orthography of short e hold good here also. P. more than S. and A. more than P. are careful in marking the Anunasika. In naim, naim, sahum, nahim and nahim the nasalisation is inorganic. Nevertheless both the good Mss. of the Paumacariu have it and hence I have standardized the spelling of these words.

§12. Hemacandra takes note of the enlarged A stems being nasalized at the end in the Nominative singular (HC. IV 354). Regarding this feature none of the three Mss. shows any pronounced tendency. They are indescriminate in nasalizing the final vowel of the vocables. Many extended neuter Nominatives are not nasalized. On the other hand we find numerous corresponding masculine forms nasalized on the final at random. But there are other indications to show that the Mss. are quite indifferent in nasalizing the ending syllable. -hi forming a part of stem is at times nasalized, as if it were the Instrumental/Locative ending. So also -hu of the forms from stems ending in -ha. Similarly -ai at the end of pres. 3. person sing. forms or at the end of stems is confused with neuter plural Nominative/accusative in -aim. By way of examples can be cited piyamahum, vammahum, muhum, bhāim from P., and dunduhim, unnaim, dharaim, haraim from S. Even the Instr. sing, form of masc./neut. A stems which has an Anusvara on the final syllable, is casually written without the sign of nasalization (niurumbe, bimbe, ae, nivisaddhe, samudde).. Because of this state of affairs, I have not admitted the neut. forms in -aum as authentic. But they have been recorded in the critical notes throughout.

4. Ya-Śruti and Va-Śruti

§13. Apabhramsa Mss. like Prakrit Mss. are quite careless in writing the ya-śruti. Our Mss. P. and S. have a tendency not to insert y betwees u or u and a following vowel. In these cases I have accepted the spelling without the ya-śruti if it is supported by even one Ms. If all the Mss. have y, I have accepted the spelling with the ya-śruti. In one or two stray stems like pari-añca-pari-atta-, I have followed the practice of the Mss. For the rest, ya-śruti is consistently shown as filling an intervocalic hiatus.

§14. Va-śruti appears to be characteristic of Apabhramśa. With regard to it also the Mss. have the least claim to regularity or consistency. It appears at random between u and a or even between any two vowels. Whenever any one Ms. spells a vocable with the va-śruti, I have accepted that spelling in the constituted text. For examples see §31.

5. Initial n- and Medial -nn-

§15. Some Prakrit Mss. follow the practice of using n in the initial position, nn in the medial position and n for the rest. But many Apabhramsa Mss. do not know n at all. They have n or n under all conditions. Among our three Mss. P. (and A. to a lesser degree) exhibits a slight tendency of spelling with an n- or medial -nn-. In the constituted text dental n is strictly eschewed.

6. b and bbh.

§16. Many Apabhramsa Mss. use v for both v and b, and as a corollary to this practice they always write vbh for bbh. The Mss. of PC. have b only once in a thousand. Hence the former practice is adopted in the constituted text, but vbh being a phonetic absurdity, it has been given as bbh throughout.

7. Nasalized -v-

§17. According to Hemacandra intervocalic -m- in Apabhramáa was pronounced by some as nasalized v. Some Ap. Mss. also give some indications to this effect. Words like karami, jema are casually written as karavm, jeva, jewa, jeva or jemva. Barring a few stray words our Mss. preserve m-. Only twice the pres. 1. sing. is found ending in -vi in all the three Mss. and P. and S. as contrasted with A. have a tendency to write jeva, teva, etc. for jema, tema. In the latter case I have retained m whenever I found it even in a single Ms. When all the three Mss. agreed in writing v, I have not changed it to m.

$18. Quite casually -v- is found nasalized under the influence of a following nasal, e.g., Rāmaņu, Rāmvaņu written for Rāvaņu. In such cases, unless there is the support of A. and P. I have not accepted such a nasalized v as authentic.

§19. More interesting is the case of the particle vi following an Anunāsika or a syllable containing a nasal. In this case A. and P. have a definite tendency of nasalizing vi to mi and omitting the preceding Anunāsika. This spelling has been accepted as standard in the constituted text. For examples, see §29. Personally I believe it to be a comparatively later trait and as such unknown to early Apabhransa, but in this point I could not ignore the testimony of the Mss. Alsdorf also has accepted this practice in his edition of the Harivansapurāņa.

8. The Varganunasika.

- $20. The nasal preceding a consonant is given in the Mss. always as an Anusvāra. I have followed the practice of Alsdorf and Jacobi (the only two scholars so far to study the problems of Apabhramśa linguistics and textual criticism in a critical, systematic manner) and have reproduced the Anunāsika as the Vargānunāsika before the stops. The only exception has been made in the case of the compounds with the preposition sam-which are retained with sam.
- $\S 21$. The Mss. of Puṣpadanta's Mahāpurāṇa, represent two distinct groups—one optionally preserving r in groups of conjuncts having r as a latter member, the other group assimilating it. Contrasted with this, the Mss. of the Paümacariu assimilate such groups without exception.

II. Sporadic phonetic changes.

$22. Shortening of vowels: a) General tendency to shorten the final syllable. Hence fem. Ā stems of the earlier stage occur in Apa. as A stems. See also $23 b. b) At times binding i of the cvi-forms is shortened as in vasikiya- (vasīkṛta-) 4 5 3, kaṇṇuppali-karevi (karnotpalīkṛtya) 1 8 1, etc. c) Shortening in stray cases: aliyaya- (alīka- enl.) 8 3 6, gahira- (gabhīra-) 1 5 3, cāmiyara- (cāmī-kara-) 7 2 2, 14 6 9,-piḍha- (pīṭha-) 4 5 9, Bhaïrahi- (Bhagīrathi-) 5 13 3, 5 14 3 as against Bhaīrahi 5 10 7, 5 11 3, paripālaṇiya- (paripālanīya-) 6 16 7.

23. Lengthening of vowels: a) compensatory lengthening of a preceding vowel consequent upon the simplification of a conjunct. This tendency has become one of the chief characteristics of the New Indo-Aryan Stage. For instances see §33. b) The quantity of i and u as stem-finals is somewhat indifferent. Hence irrespective of the original character of the stem-final, it is lengthened or shortened in accordance with the metrical requirement. Thus Vāhuvalī-477, 48, nalini-636, kodīyau and payadīyau 3116, Sayambhu-131. c) Lengthening in stray cases: paīsai (pravišai) 418, 592, paīsarai (connected with praviš-) 41 as against païsarai 411, joīsiya- (jyautiṣika-) 357.

§24. Stray vowel changes: Instead of the usual appaņu (ātmanaḥ) we have appuņu at 5 14 4, 7 10 3, 10 12 8 etc. nirurumva (nikuramba-) 4 10 6, 4 11 9 and khuruppa- (kṣurapra-) 15 5 3 against khurappa- 11 11 7 are due to assimilation, while maūda- (mukuṭa-) 3 5 1 and maūla- (mukula-) 3 7 7 are the results of dissimilation; iya (iti) 1 1 19 is an instance of a final -i changing to ya. Note also līha- 17 7 8 and liha- 15 12 7 from lekhā- and rihā- 11 4 5 from rekhā.

$25. Contraction of vowels in contact: a) contraction of the -aya- at the end of enlarged stems to -ā- e.g. bhaḍārā 1 1 1 etc., -sārā- 1 1 7. bhaviyā- 1 1 8, mahisā- 1 10 8, kusumā- 14 2 5, davaṇā- 14 2 5, pahārā- 16 13 9, padīvā, 5 6 8, 5 12 5, 5 12 9 etc., Pavaṇāñ- jayā- 19 10 4. Suloyaṇā- 5 4 7. b) Contraction of -aya- resulting from the -aka- of the agentive to -ā as in gavesā 14 10 10, pasāhā 10 12 7, -uttārā 1 1 1, -hakkārā 2 10 9, muhavekkhā 10 2 7, bhunjā (?) 14 2 7, -gārā- (kāraka-) 1 1 14, 2 6 10 etc. c) Contraction of the original -aya- at the end of a stem to -ā as in jiṇālā- jinālaya- 6 2 5. d) Contraction of two medial vowels in contact as in andhāraya- (andhakāra- enl.) 10 1 9, akkhāḍaya- (akṣavāṭaka-) 4 11 2, vāma- (vyāyāma-) 4 11 5, thera- (sthavira-) 1 4 2, jaṇera- 'jana-kara-) 4 13 2, mora- (mayūra-) 3 4 5, Ujjha- (Ayodhyā-) 4 14 9 against Aiijjha- 4 1, pāḍihera- (prātihārya-) 3 3 10, -keraya- (-kārya- enl.); various cases of contraction of the preposition avato o-.

$26. Preservation of intervocalic stops (instead of elision) either unchanged or by voicing or by geminating: Kumbhī-pāka-11 9 7, Kaïkasi- 9 2 5, Kaïkaseu (kaikaseyaḥ) 10 10 7, Kaïsiki (Kauśikī) 9 6 2, Kāmuka- 5 8 3, Ikkhukka- (*Ikṣvuka-?) 5 1 2, Sakkeya- (Sāketa-) 5 11 4, 2 2 5 (all proper names), lakkuḍi- (lakuṭi-) 11 6 4, -gāraya (-kāraka-) 5 1 5 against -kārī- 4 5 9 and -yārī- 6 9 6; Bhigu (Bhṛgu) 16 6 6, naga- 1 9 2, āgara- (ākara-) 4 2 3, maragaya- (marakata-) 1 4 3, mayagala- (mada-kala-) 1 15 1, vaiyā-garaṇa- (vaiyākaraṇa-) 7 14 4, Payāga- (Prayāga-) 2 11 4, jogesara- (yogeśvara-) 5 15 2, nakkha- (nakha-) 14 5 7, Māricca- (Mārīca-) 10 1 2. Vtay- (Vtyaj-) 7 12 3, Kaütilla- (Kautilya-) 16 6 3, Vaïtaraṇi 11 9 3, 9, 11 10 15, -atisaya- (atiśaya-) 1 7 3, Gottama- (Gautama-) 1 9 8, 5 1, nitti- (nīti-) 7 12 1, 16 2 1, -sotta- (srotas-) 2 1 8, Jīmutta- (Jīmūta-) 20 6 7, 17 11 8, Toyadavāhaṇa-5 7 7, 5 9 11, ubhaya- 1 2 4.

§27. Most of the following instances of -d becoming -l are known to Prakrit also: -phaliha- (sphatika-) 6 5 2, pīlaṇa- (pīdana-) 1 4 4, niyalaya- (nigada enl.) 1 5 6, .talāya- (tadāga-) 2 2 3, -kīla- (krīdā-) 5 1 7, 14 11, 4, palitta- (pradīdpta-) 7 11 9, 13 3 2, solaha- (soḍaśa-) 2 4 4.

§28. Occasionally intervocalic -m- is changed to nasalized -v-which is as a rule written as -v- in the Mss. davaṇā- (damanaka-) 14 4 5, Haridavaṇa- (Haridamana-) 15 10 5, Vpaṇava- (pra+nam-) 1 1 1, ṇāvālaya- (=nāmavat-) 6 16 4, ravaṇṇaya- (*ramaṇyaka-) 2 2 2, ṇikkhavaṇa- (niṣkramaṇa-) 2 11 4, ṇīsāvaṇṇa- (niḥsāmānya-) 4 5 4, nivisa- (nimișa-) 8 6 6 etc., atthavana- (from Vatthava=astamaya-) 15 6 2, āśava- (āśrama-) 9 1 9, dharevi (dhārayāmi) 18 8 9, pari-harevim (pariharāmi) 18 8 9. For dropping of an intervocalic -m-see §30 d.

- §29. A reverse tendency of changing -v- to -m- under the influence of a nasal sound in proximity, or even without such a condition is revealed by a) mi resulting from the particle vi following a word with the nasalized final syllable, as in kehi-mi 2 4 6, tinni-mi 4 9 2, suraha-mi 3 9 10, etc. (See Index Verborum under vi); b) stray instances like pungama- (pungava-) 1 1 10, pihimi-(pṛthvi-) 2 15 3, parimiya- (parivṛta-) 2 11 8, 3 5 9, simira- (sivira-) 11 8 1
- §30. There are numerous cases of eliding an intervocalic v original or secondary mostly before u but occasionally also before i and a: a) -v- is mostly, though not always, dropped before the -uof the Nom. sing., sahāu 1 7 4 (but payāvu- 7 7 4); sāu 1 11 2 (and sāvu 7 7 4); b) casually it is dropped before i as in kukai (kukavi-) 1 3 1, parāiya- (prāpta-) 1 6 1, paīsai- (pravisati) 4 1 8, thera-(sthavirā-) 1 4 2, -aḍai- (aṭavī-) 3 8 5; c) before a it is omitted in payatta- (pravrtta-) 5 15 9, bhuana- (bhuvana-) 6 1, tihuana- (tri-bhuvana-) 1 1 15, diyaha- (divasa-) 5 12 5, pariyattanti (= parāvartante) 5 12 6, rūa- (rūpa-) 3 7 7 (against rūva 1 2 10), niyatthī-(from ni + Vvas-) 14 10 4, suai (from Vsua-, Vsuva = Vsvap-) 1 10 8, tāyaṇṇa- (tāvaṇya-) 1 13 6, akkhāḍaya- (akṣavāṭaka-) 4 11 2; -va- disappears in samasarana- 1 8 6, 3 4 8 (against samosarana 3 4 10); d) in a few cases such a -v- has resulted from an intervocalic -m-: Jauna-(Yamunā-) 12 4 3, sumsuāra- (sumsumāra-) 3 5 6, ranaüha- (ranamukha-) 20 1; in nāum (nāma) 2 17 8 and bhaumha 10 2 9 (as against bhauha- 14 3 10 and bhamuhā 14 12 8) the disappearing -m- nasalizes the succeeding vowel.
- §31. A reverse tendency is to insert a va-śruti between two contiguous vowels to fill up the hiatus created by the elision of a stop, as Mandovari- (Mandodarī-) 1 10 9, thovaya- (stoka- enl.) 16 8 7, uvara- (udara-) 1 10 3, 15 7 9, uvahi- (udadhi-) 3 3 7, 6 10 9 etc., juvala- (yugala-) 2 17 9, dheņuva- (dhenu- enl.) 3 3 5, dhuva- (dhūta-) 7 14 8, dūva- (dūta-) 10 8 10, huvāsaṇa- (hutāśana-) 20 4 9, vuvvuva- (budbuda-) 17 3 3, bhuva- (bhuja-) 1 10 7, 2 17 9, murava- (muraja-) 1 5 7, sivāla- (śṛgāla-) 9 11 2, malliva- (mallikā-) 14 10 6.

Vimalasūri's Paümacariya has several instances of vaśruti: juvā- (yukā-) 6 44, avalovaṇi- (avalokani) 7 139, murava- (muraja-) 7 156 etc.

- §32. Some stray cases: Tilakesa- (Tilakakeśā-) 5 6 1; muhala-(mukhara-) 1 15 7, somāla- (sukumāra-) 7 1 5, kaluṇaya- (karuṇa-) enl.) 9 10 2, calaṇa- (caraṇa-) 1 7 9; diyaha- (divasa-) 5 12 5, pāhāṇa- (pāṣāṇa-) 7 14 1. pāhiya (pāsiya- from paśya-) 2 16 7. Loss of -va- in nisiyara- (niśitatara-) 4 1 is haplological.
- §33. We have several instances of the simplification of the conjunct with or without the compensatory lengthening of the preceding vowels: a) vairāya- (vaīrāgya-) 2 9 2, 2 10 3, kāosāya-(kāyotsarga-) 2 11 8, dhāi (dhātrī-) 7 3 3, dāhiṇa- (dakṣiṇa-) 1 11 8, payāhiṇa- (pradakṣiṇā-) 1 1 17, 6 13 3, niddākhiṇṇaya- (nirdākṣiṇya- enl.) 2 14 2, cāyāra (catvāraḥ) 6 1 7 sāmali- (śālmali-) 3 1 9, sāva- (sarva-) 1 8 10, 1 11 2, 7 7 4 ṇāvai (from ṇavvai) 2 2 9, kāva (kāvya) 1 1 19, sāvaḍau (from V saṅpaḍa-) 1 3 10, ṇīyāṣaṇa-(ṇiyaṁsaṇa-) 6 14 4; soma- (saumyā-) 2 2 6 pāseya- (prasveda-) 1 13

- 7; b) caüthaya- (caturtha- enl.) 1 8 8 kaṇiyāri (karnikārī) 3 1 9, paija- (pratijñā-) 5 7 7 (but paijja- 12 7 5), paitha- (praviṣtha-) 4 10 2, 14 2 1, 14 4 9, pahilaya- (for pahillaya-) 1 4 1, 16 2 1, -ālasa (alasya-) 2 12 3, rayasala- (rajasvalā-) 19 1 2, Vaivasa- (Vaivasvat-) 15 13 7, Vaisavaṇa- (Vaiśravaṇa-) 9 6 3, samuha- (saṃmukha-) 6 9 2; akkhohaṇi (akṣauhiṇī-) 12 8 1; c) words compounded with nir-/nis-, dur-/dus-, ud- etc. have their initial vowel treated indifferently as simple or conjunct according to metrical convenience. This is a general tendency and no particular instances need be noted.
- §34. The treatment of the conjunct in the following cases is noteworthy: vimbhaya- (vismaya-) 1 12 4, Jasumbhaya- (Yaśasvat-enl.) 1 13 1, Cakkhubhaya- (Cakṣusmat- enl.) 1 12 4; jhuṇi-(dhvani-) 3 11 1, but dhaya- (dhvaja-) 1 5 2; suviṇa- (svapna-) 1 14 9, duvāra- (dvāra-) 6 7 7 (against vāra- 5 8 6), duvāraha (dvādsa) 11 7 1 (against vāraha 3 4 1), vintara- (vyantara-) 1 8 9, 10, -abbhintara- (abhyantara-) 1 16 6; assimilation is at the basis of bhimbhala- (vihvala-) 1 5 4 and phopphala- (pūga-phala-) 1 5 9, 3 1 8.
- $35. Gemination of consonants mostly for metrical reasons: pammukka- (pramukta-) 12 10 1, khammāviyaya (for khamāviyaya-) 19 6 8, ņimmantio (nimantritah) 16 13 5, ņimmitti-(nimittin-) 16 3 9, papphulla- (praphulla-) 5 5 6, ujjuya- (rju- enl.) 5 15 9, acceyaṇā- (acetanā-) 19 15 1, sapparivāra- (saparivāra-) 2 2 8, 2 7 7, 2 14 6, 3 8 1, tillokka- (trailokya-) 12 11 2, koühalla-(kautūhala-) 1 12 6, 10 2 2, vaulla- (bakula-) 14 7 3, saṇṇavai (sanavati) 2 3 3, vaṇṇara- (vāṇara-) 7 4 6; the Gen. postposition taṇiya appears as -ttaṇiya at 8 4 9 (kaho- ttaṇiya, and taho- ttaṇiya), 9 6 2 (mahu- ttaṇiya) and perhaps at 6 3 9 (A. kahi- ttaṇau).
- §36. Sandhi in a sentence has been effected between the continuous syllables of two words under metrical stress in following cases:
 - nānuppaṇṇu (for ṇāṇu uppa°) 3 2 11, aṇṇuppaṇṇu (for aṇṇu uppa°) 3 3 2, kappayaruchaṇṇā (for kappayaru uccha°) 1 11 9, Vimalavāhaṇucchaliya° (for Vimalavāhaṇu uccha°) 1 13 1, mohuppāiu (for mohu uppā°) 14 3 12, vaṁsuddhāriu (for vaṁsu udd°) 8 9 6, vālāvaṇi (for vā ālāvaṇi) 1 5 8, suravaiṇāruṇa° (for suravaiṇā aruṇa°) 2 3 2, paḍahāmara° (for paḍahā amara°) 2 4 1, dhammeṇāharaṇa° (for dhammeṇa āharaṇa°) 6 14 4, ṇisuṇuttara° (for nisuṇu uttara°) 6 15 2, viṇāsaṇāim (for viṇā āsaṇāim) 5 12 3, gamaṇāṇeya (for °gamaṇā aṇeya) 14 10 1. The Sandhi in the compound cautīsaīsaya° (for cautīsaārāya°) 3 3 1 is peculiar.

III. Gender.

- §37. a) The following words masculine in Sk. are found with the n. pl. ending -aim in PC.: kumbha- 9 2 9b, kiraṇa- 11 14 5, thūha- (stūpa-) 3 4 4, vidruma 13 5 9, sāhāmiya- (śākhāmṛga-) 6 11 4, jaṇa- (jana- person) 12 12 10b, jīva- (used with n. pl. adjectives) 11 9 6, taḍa (taṭa-) 14 9 7, kalahamsa- 11 1 6 and many more. The Bhavisattakaha also manifests this tendency.
- b) Jhuṇi- (dhvani) 3 11 1, ṇihiya- (nidhi- enl.) 3 13 7, 4 6 6, kallola- 14 12 6, kallolā- 1 2 5 are treated as feminine.

IV. Affixes.

Several noteworthy affixes are listed below:

§38. Agentives:

a) kāraya-, gāraya, -yāraya- (Sk. -kāraka-) and -kara-, yara, (Sk. -kara-) form compounds with an agentive sense as in khaya-kārī (kṣaya-kārikā) 4 5 9, khaya-gāraya- 5 1 5 and similarly at 2 6 10, 2 1, -gāriya- 19 4 8, 19 5 5, -gārī- 8 4 6, -yārī 6 9 6, -yara- 1 16 9.

b) -ana-: kandāvana- 9 6 9, bhayāvana- 8 1 4, jūravana-

12 5 1, suhāvaņa- 12 3 9, kampāvaņa- 15 1.

§39. Possessive suffixes:

itta-: jovvanaitti- (yauvanavati-) 4 9 9 and similarly atthaitta-(from artha-) 14 13 5, dumaitta- (?) (from druma-) 20 8 9.

$40. Adjectival suffixes:

a) -ima- forming adjectives from verbal bases as in phādima-(from V -phāda-) 1 4 6, samcārima- (from sam V cara-) 4 10 8; from adverbs as in hetthima (from hettha- below) 4 9 9;

b) -ira- forming adjectives from verbal bases as in panaccira- (from panacca—pra+ V nrtya-) 4 8 4, 17 2 7 and similarly paribhamira- 7 2 3, paribhāsira- 18 8 1;

- c) -illa- forming adjectives from substantives etc. as in gāmilla (from grāma-) 1 3 11, uvarilliya (fem. enl. from uvari—upari) 4 9 9a;
- d) -ikka- equivalent to -illa- as in vappikkī- from vappa-
- §41. a) -ttana- and b) -tta- forming abstract nouns from substantives as in -hiyattana- (from hita-) 2 9 3, bhicattana- (from bhrtya-) 2 10 3, Surindattanaya- (from Surindaā-) 8 1 7, Indatta-(Indratva-) 3 11 9, suratta- (from sura-) 3 11 8.

b) -ima- forming abstract nouns from adjectives as in podhima (from podha=praudha-) 4 4 1.

- §42. Comparatives in $-\bar{a}(\bar{a})ra(ya)$ (from -tara(ka)) as in guruyāra- (from guru-) 15 9 10, vaḍḍāraya- (from vaḍḍa-) 16 4 8, piyāraya- (from priya-) 2 9 1, pahilāraya- (from pahila-) 9 3 3, nisiyara- (niśitatara-) 4 1, viruāriya- (fem. from virua-) 19 4 8.
- §43. Pleonastic suffixes: a) -ika- in dhāṇūkkiya- 6 15 3 against dhāṇūkka- 6 15 7; b) -akka in gurukkī- (from guru-) 2 10 1, 4 3 9; c) -alla- in ṇavalla- (from nava-) 11 5 9; d) -ullaya- in kaḍaullā- (from kaḍaṇu-) 14 5 7. This solitary instance of -ullaya- presents a contrast with the numerous instances of -ulla- extension in Puṣpa-danta.
- §44. -adaya- and -udaya- in later Ap. are used as diminutive and pleonastic suffixes, but in our text they are strictly used in a pejorative sense as in the only instances sarīradaya- (from sarīra-) 6 13 5, vankudaya- (from vakra-) 6 16 5.
- §45. Amelioratives: a) -vara- developed a pleonastic sense in Ap. as can be seen from ku-munivara- 7 3 9, gayavara- 2 14 3, suravara- 1 1 7, jinavara- 1 1 7, kavivara- 1 10 5, girivara- 1 10 6, rahavara- 4 8 7, taruvara 6 3 5, kaivara- 6 11 2, hayavara- 3 13 4, asivara- 7 5 9, puravara- 8 12 1, harivara- 19 18 6, etc.; b) the same remark applies to the prefix su-which is used to fill up a metrical gap as in sualankāra- 1 2 2, suparitthiya- 1 4 3, sumanitthaya- 3 1 13, sunisalla- 4 12 7, sumanohara- 5 3 7, sudāruņa- 7 7 6, su-Mallavanta- 7 11 3, supariyaṇa- 9 5 1, sukulīņavahu- 12 6 2, supūyaphala- 14 7 3, supahutta 14 7 9, su-Tanūyari- 16 4 7, suvihāṇaya- 1 5 9, susārahi 17 9 6, su-paritthavevi 19 1 4, su-Pasaṇṇakitti- 10 10 6.
 - §46. In sa-kiyattha (==krtartha) 10 7 2, sa is mildly emphatic.

It becomes frequent in early vernaculars and develops a pleonastic function.

§47. In anavasa- 12 6 9, ana- is a negative prefix. ku- and du-(=dur-, dus-) have the same function as in Sanskrit.

V. Stem-formation

§48. As the final consonant of the stems disappeared since the Prakrit stage, all the Ap. stems end in a vowel. The quantity of the final vowel is indifferent. The general tendency of Ap. is to shorten the final syllable and hence Pk. fem. stems in $-\bar{a}$, $-\bar{i}$ and $-\bar{u}$ appear as A, I and U stems in Ap. as a rule. But due to liberal use of Prakritisms, due to the later development -iya- into- \bar{i} and -uya- into $-\bar{u}$ and due to lengthening and shortening affected to suit metre, we have Ap. stems ending in -a, -i, -u as well as $-\bar{a}$, $-\bar{i}$, $-\bar{u}$. The stems with a short final predominate. The other ones are used often to satisfy exigencies of metre.

§49. Enlargement of the stem by adding -ya- (from 'svārthe kah') is quite common. Final -aya, -iya and -uya of the enlarged stems are liable to become $-\bar{a}$, $-\bar{\imath}$, and $-\bar{u}$ respectively through concontraction and hence in A-declension (mas. and neut.) we have two parallel stems, one ending in -a (or -aya), the other ending in $-\bar{a}$. The latter has later on considerably contributed to the evolution of the oblique form of the NIA. languages.

$50. The tendency of normalization in nominal and verbal flexion developed in Prakrit has gained considerable strength in Ap. The other types are gradually brought in line with the A-type. bahava- (bahu-) 5 9 1, pasava- (pasu-) 14 11 8, illustrating the change of U-stems to A-stems and the Ins. sing. forms in -em from I-stems ($83) are indicative of this tendency. Similarly in the case of Fem. A-stem. instrumentals in -ehim ($75), Gen. forms in -hum ($80) and Loc. forms in -him ($76) illustrate the influence of the masculine.

$51. In the case of the fem. bases, the general tendency in Ap. is to turn I-bases into A-bases by enlarging them with the addition of the pleonatic suffix -iya.

VI. Inflexion

al Substantive.

§52. The flexion system of Ap. is in a process of disintegration. Merging of Nom. and Acc., of Abl. and Gen., partial merging of Ins. and Loc., confusion of masc. and neut., domination of A declension, and increasing employment of post-positions to convey various case relations are the characteristic indications of this state of affairs.

§53. The Ap. used in the Varnavrttas and some of the Mātrāvrttas is more or less Prakritized. Many Pk. forms are found in the passages composed in those meters.

Stems in -a (mas. and neut.).

$54. For the influence of this type over other types see $$50, 80, 83.

$55. -u (enl. -au) is the only termination in the Nom. and Acc. sing., there being no form in -a or -ā. Nom. sing. forms in -o occur sporadically as Prakritisms before the indeclinable vi (1 7 9, 2 13 9, 4 5 8, 4 13 3 etc.) and under metrical stress (17 6 1, 17 10 1 etc.). Metre is also responsible for occasional Prakrit Acc. in -am.

§56. For the enlarged neut. sing forms in -aum see §12.

§57. Stem-enlargement with pleonastic -da- (-daya-) is not known to our text. -daya- is used in a pejorative sense only (§44).

§58. Voc. sing. uses the bare stem, which has its final -a occasionally lengthened (through contraction of -aya- from enlargement). Note, "sārā 1 12 6, paīvā 5 12 5, muḍhā 5 12 6, Pahañ-jaṇā 9 8 1a, all at the end of a Pāda. In forms like bhaḍārā 2 6 10b, -ā has resulted from the contraction of the stem-final -aya. On most of these points PC, agrees with MP.

§59. The bare stem or the stem with its ending vowel lengthened (the result of vowel contraction in the stem enlarged with pleonastic -ya- from-ka-) is used as the Nom. Acc. Masc. pl. form. These as well as forms with the termination -aim are employed in the Neut. pl.: sahāsa (sahasra-) 2 11 7, pavvaiyā (pravrajita-) 2 11 7, and sahāsaim 2 10 8 are all neut. pl. In forms like gavesā 14 10 1, the final -aya of the pl. form gavesaya is contracted as -ā.

§60. As remarked above (§37), occasionally mas. stems also take this neut. termination -aim'.

§61. em, ena (-ēṇa), are the terminations of Ins. sing. Short -e and -em are unknown to our text, while -im is found as an orthographic variant of -em. A roughly made sample analysis gives 2:1 as the proportion of forms in -em and ena respectively. This agrees with the figures for HP. given by Alsdorf. Metre accounts for most of the forms in -ēna. The same remark applies to a few Prakritisms in -enam (eg. 17 3 1, 17 7 1, 17 8 1, 17 15 1, 13 4 1).

§62. In the termination -em, the vowel is probably short, as shown by Alsdorf on the ground that its alternative form is -im in the Mss. (cf. Loc. sing. termination in its two forms short -e and -i in the Mss.).

§63. Regarding -ena Tagare observes' that it was less popular in Southern Ap. It is frequent in MP. because in it 'Puspadanta deliberately tried to initiate the high-flown ornate style of Sk. and Pk. classics. One has simply to turn to Jc. (i.e. Jasaharacariu) (which is a work of a more popular nature), and one finds the popularity of -im, -em termination.'

But these observations are not correct. The frequency of the forms in -ena in PC. proves that free occurrence of these forms in MP. is not just a vagary of Puspadanta. And in a casual survey of the Jasaharacariu I have been able to spot two hundred and odd forms in -ena which shows it to be in no way different from MP. on this point.

§64. Further, following Grierson, Tagare derives' -em of Inst. sing. from Loc. sing. -ahim. He believes that the Inst. and Loc. merged into one case in Apa. and the desinences of Loc. came to be substituted for those of Inst. He finds support for this view in the Inst. sing. forms in -i (from Loc. sing. short -e) found in Bh. and Kp. He thinks, "the use of -i for Inst. sg. was well established in S(outhern) Ap. of the 10th Cent. A.D. e.g., kāli from kāla-, suhi from sukha-, damsani from darsana- in J(asahara) c(ariu)'. Hence he finds it 'surprising that Alsdorf's edition of H(ari)V (amsapurāna) should contain no -i forms'. He comes to the conclusion that "-e

Stray cases like ujjaliya (qualifying asivaru) 18 8 2, kaya (qualifying maranu) 12 3, 5, jujjha 7 5 2 are modernizations, while voc. sing. forms in -u occurring at quite a few places are counted as scribal slips.
 Tagare, 1948, 118.

⁽³⁾ Tagare, 1948, 118-120.

is a regular term(ination) of the Ins. sg. in Ap., though it was originally of the Loc. sg."

Now these views are not borne out by facts. Ins. sing. forms in -i are not found in MP. as also in our text. From just three instances of such forms from the Jasaharacaria Tagare generalizes that -i was well-established as an Ins. sing. termination in the Southern Apa. of the 10th Cent. But even these three forms loose all their meagre evidential value on examination. kali is found as kālim in the Index Verborum to the Hist. Gram, of Apa. and actually it is kalim (i.e. the variant of kalem) as shown by the metre of Jasaharacariu 2 15. The second form in -i, viz., suhi is not found in the Index, but the latter quotes suha (equated with śvā 'a dog') from Jasaharacariu 2 35 10, and if we consult the original passage' we find that the actual word is sunahu and not suhu. The remaining third form damsani is correctly quoted, but it occurs in a passage which is plainly a fourteenth century interpolation in the Jasaharacariu. This is one out of many instances of the uncritical use of the sources on the part of the author of the Hist. Gram. of Apa. which has unfortunately vitiated several of his conclusions.

Thus it still remains to be demonstrated that the works of Puspadanta contain Instruments in -i and unless this is done, it cannot be accepted that Loc. sing. in short -e was used in an Instrumental sense. This fact would go against the derivation of -em from -ahim, which otherwise on phonetic grounds also appears unconvincing. Loss of -h-, change of the final nasalization to an Anusvāra and the contraction of -a- and -i into -e- (in the face of their preservation in the neut. pl. termination -aim) which are presupposed by the proposed evolution -ahim into -em remain unexplained. Hence the derivation accepted by Bloch and Turner (ena becoming em) is to be preferred. Turner's suggestion that in Ap. -ena, -n- probably represented Anusvāra is unacceptable, because reading the two-moraic -em in place of the three-moraic -ena would spoil the metre.

$65. bhamantaena 1 13 9a, uttinnaena 3 8 1a, ubbhinnaena 3 8 1a, punnaena 3 1 2a, samānijjantaena 1 2 12b (all at the end of a Pāda) are instances of the enlarged Ins. sing. forms.

§66. For Instrumental forms used for the Locative see the next article.

§67. Short -e (orthographic variant -i) is the only termination of the Loc. sing. -ahim is not found for A stems in PC. Occasionally Ins. forms are used for Loc., e.g. āsannem 15 5 8 and especially in Loc. absolute constructions as at 1 2 12b, 3 8 10b, etc. In annehim kiya nivitti annekkahim 3 12 4 'others abstained (piously) from many other thing', annekkahim presents a case of using Ins. for Abl. khīra-mahannave khīru bhareppiņu 2 5 8 can be rendered as 'having collected milk at the Milky Ocean.'

§68. -ehim and -ahim are found in Ins. and Loc. pl. -ihim appears as an orthographic variant of -ehim. Of these terminations, -ehim predominates. A comparison of the Mss. indicates that a gradual process of substituting -ahim for -ihim (-ehim) was at work, 'in short' and kare 6 13 2a, 6 16 8a.

⁽¹⁾ hā! Jasaharu rāṇaŭ ajju muu, ha! daïva! kāim maim sunahu hau (2) Vaidya, 1931, Introduction, 17.

⁽³⁾ It would appear prima facie that in vijau Dasāṇaṇe ghuṭṭhau PC. 10 11 9a. Dasāṇaṇe is a Loc. form used in an Ins. sense. But vijau ghuṭṭhu amarāhivasāhaṇe PC. 8 10 1b (Victory was proclaimed in the ranks of the Lord of Gods') and several such passages show that this was an idiomatic expression and the form in short -e has a Loc. sense. So also in samā ac 5 13 1a samāsena for the Ms. which is comparatively careful in preserving the language of the original has at many places forms in -ehim corresponding to the forms in -ahim found in the Mss. handing down a comparatively later text-tradition. The proportion of -ehim forms to -ahim forms in PC. is roughly estimated as 3:1.

§69. -aho (orthographically -ahu) is the normal termination of Abl. Gen. sing. -ā(ā)ha is never used in PC' but Prakritic -āsu is found. Most of the forms in -asu occur at the end of the trochaically closing Pādas (e.g. 1 8 5, 1 13 3, 4 10 4, 4 11 7).

§70. Both $-\tilde{a}(\bar{a})hum$ and $\tilde{a}(\bar{a})h\tilde{a}$ are used for Gen. pl. Forms in $-\check{a}(\tilde{a})hum$ are fairly numerous. It should be admitted that such cases are rare when all the three Mss. of PC. read -a(a)hum at relevant places. As a rule forms in $-\tilde{a}(\tilde{u})hum$ are found in only one of the Mss. at a time (mostly in either A. or P.). In a lesser number of cases two Ms. agree in reading $-\tilde{a}(\tilde{a})hum$. Corresponding to $-\tilde{a}(\tilde{a})hum$ in one Ms. we find $-\check{a}(\bar{a})hu$ or $-\check{a}(\bar{a})h\bar{a}$ (and occasionally $-\check{a}(\bar{a})ha$ in other Mss. As the Mss which are found more authentic contain numerous cases of $-\tilde{a}(\tilde{a})hum$, I have accepted it in the constituted text if it is attested by even one Ms. and I have reconstructed it when the Mssread varyingly -hu and $h\tilde{a}$. But when both P. and A. read -ha (with S. reading -hu) that has been accepted in the constituted text.

§71. Puspadanta occasionally used this form as we can gather from the cases noted by Alsdorf and from occurrences like piniyabhavvahum (38 18 7), puvvahum (38 18 7 so to be read for the textual puvvahā in view of the rhyme), tasa-thāvarajīvahum (39 8 6), devahum (39 11 10b), ari-bandhavahum (48 20 4), varisahum (49 13 11) in MP. This upholds the Prakrit grammarians to some extent in their sanction for -hum as a Gen. termination".

§72. Prakrit termination -āṇa is rarely found in PC. I-XX.

Feminine Stems In -a(a)

§73. Besides zero, -u is the termination of Nom. Acc. plur. before which the stem vowel is optionally lengthened. uppāiu (from uppāya-) 1 10 1 and seviu (from seviya-) 2 8 7 are peculiar in that they stand for uppaiyau and seviyau respectively. Probably these forms are instances of contraction under metrical stress as is also seen in another form from vaïmāṇihe for vaïmāṇiyaho (from vaïmāṇiya-) 15 15 5.

§74. Short -e (orthographic variant -i) is the only termination of Inst. sing. No form in -aim or -aim is attested from PC.

§75. Forms in I. plur. end in -ahim. In āchim vara-vijjehim 9 12 9, guhchim (I. for Abl.) 13 5 6, viţţichim 10 6 6, koilchim 6 6 6 Masc, ending ehim is employed.

$76. -he is the termination of G. L. sing. In later orthography is spelt as -hi and the Mss. often confuse it with In the case of Loc., Mss. clearly show this hesita--him'.

⁽²⁾ e.g. see PC. 3 4 9, 3 4 10, 3 10 5, 3 13 3, 3 13 4, 3 13 6, 4 2 3, 4 6 10, 4 7 8, 4 7 9, 2 8 1, 2 8 6, 2 8 8, 2 14 2, 2 14 3, 2 14 4, 5 7 3, 5 7 4, 5 8 7, etc.

orthography was concerned. Hence the picture of the language of the same text would vary in accordance with the age of the Ms. of that text. To quote one instance only at PC. 19 12 1b PS. read Anjanaho. A. Anjanahe equivalent tion between he, hi and him, where him can be as well genuine. Hence besides Aiijhahe 2 7 5, Ujjhahe 4 1 8 we have Aujjhahim (S. °hi, A. °he) 5 1 1, Ujjhahim (A. °he) 5 12 9b, guhahim 19 9 4, silahim (A. °ha) 13 8 6.

§77. Here as elsewhere, the short e of the earlier orthography is spelt as i in the later orthography and hence the earlier form of the G.L. termination is -he and not -hi or him as held by Tagore'. Hence Alsdorf is right in considering the terminations of G, and L. of Fem. A stems as identical and we need not try to connect it with -asmin or -adhi.

§78. In later Apabhramsa -ahim is quite frequently used for the Loc. sing. of masc. A-stems.

§79. Besides -he and -him, thrice -ha is attested in L. sing. of the fem. A-stems: silahā and ilahā 12 19 9b, dikkhahā (P.S. ha) 3 10 2; The Sanatkumāracarita has piyahā and niyahā and Sāvayadhammadoha 95 uses dalaha in the Loc. sing. sense. narayaha at Pāhudadohā 5 is a similar instance of L. Sing of masc. A stem. All these forms cannot be possibly just scribal errors'.

§80. In G. plur. we find -hum and -ha, obviously extended from the masc. Thus chāyahum and padāyahum 3 4 7, muahum 19 2 8, cavantiyahum and acchantiyahum 19 9 4, sunhahum (P.S.) 19 4 9, sua-sāriyahum 17 5 2, vijjahum (S. °he, A. °hu) 12 9 7, vijjahu 9 11 9b; pīvara-thaṇahā and varaṅgaṇahā 3 13 2, dheṇuvāhā 3 13 5, lamahā (P.S. Liming) 10 7 1 kannahā (P.S. him) 10 7 1.

§81. sāsuāņa and suņhāņa 19 5 1 are Prakritisms.

Masc. I and U Stems

§82. The final vowel of the bare stem used in the Nom. Acc.

sing. and plur. is optionally lengthened. §83. -nā and Anusvāra are the terminations of I. sing.: suravaiņā 2 3 2, pahuņā 13 2 1a, Sumālim (S. Sumālem) and Mālim (S. Mālem) 8 6 8, Vālim 12 9 10, Sumālim 8 9 6, vairim 15 14 1, Hari-kesim 16 13 7, Sirimālim and alim 17 5 6; once the form ends in -em, Malem (rhyming with dalem) which betrays the influence of A declension.

To the derivation of this Anusvara of I. sing from -na becoming alina becoming alim) Tagare' (alinā prefers to Anjanayah. A, is in many points more reliable than P, and S, so far as the metre, language and orthography of PC, are concerned. Had I only P, and S, at my disposal and constituted that text on their basis, I would have quoted Anjanaho as an instance of the extension of masc. -ho termination quoted Anganaho as an instance of the extension of masc. -no termination to the fem. A. stems. Similarly there are several instances in PC. of P. and S. giving the Nom. Acc. sing. of masc. A stems as ending in -a while the corresponding reading in A. ends in u. Paying little heed to this sort of variable, defective and unreliable orthography of the Ap. Mss., the uncritical character of some Ap. texts and their indiscriminating use have marred many conclusions in Tagare's Historical Grammar of Apabhramsa which otherwise so far as the method of treatment is concerned, makes a raluable contribution to Anabhramsa linguistics. valuable contribution to Apabhramsa linguistics.

(1) Tagare, 1948, $92.

(2) Over and above these terminations, Tagare gives a supposed instance of 'zero' termination in L. sing. of fem. A stems (Hist. Gram. of Apa. 92A and 93B and p. 160). The form in question according to Tagare is akhaini 'of a perpetual nature' qualifying ramain supposed to be I. sing. from rama = rama in Pāhūdadohā 42. This is a clear case of misinterpretation based on misdivision. The line actually reads jasu akhai nirāmaim gayau maņu i.e. yasya akhaye nirāmaye gatam manah. Thus akhaini and rāmai are ghost words and there is no instance of zero termination in I. there is no instance of zero termination in I.

result of the explain it as a influence of masc. A de-He parallels aggim (agginā) with sappim (sarclension. pena). But this is unacceptable as in the A declension the genuine early form ends in -em and not in -im and as such aggim cannot be explained with the help of sappein. Only those I. sing. forms of the masc. I, U declensions which end in -em are formed under the influence of masc. A declension.

§84. -he and -ho are found in G. sing. munihe (S.A. °ho-) and jhunihe 1 1 9, °disihe (S.A. °ho) 1 1 13, Nāhihe (P.S. °hi) 1 13 3, samdhihe (P.S. samdhie) 1 3 3, sihihe 2 11 9b, Vāhuvalihe 4 10 5, guruhe 2 9 6, Meruhe 12 1 19b, muniho (S. "him) and cūdāmaniho 1 1 12, guruho and kappataruho 1 1 8. °vaihu (rhyming with Vijayasihu) 7 4 5 is obscure.

$85. Corresponding to the singular terminations, -him and hum are the terminations of the plur. Instances are atthanavaihim bhāihī 4 2 6, bhāihim 9 11 4. vaïrihim (P.S. him) 7 9 1. guruhum 7 12 5, vairihum (P.S. hi) 7 11 6, sāhuhum and °vāhuhum

§86. Loc. sing. ends in -him: Meruhim 2 1, 5 1 6, (P. °he), °irihim 11 3 1.

Fem. i and u stems.

§87. -he is used in Abl. and G. sing, -him in plur. Paramesarihim and 'sarihim 9 1 9, 'seddhihim' 2 15 5, kamalinihim 19 4 9a.

§88. Loc. Sing. has -he and -him. Instances are vihattihe (S. -him) 4 1 8, vāvihe 5 14 7; 6 10 6, karinihe (P.S. hi-) 7 3 1 ganiyārihe 7 3 3, uccolihe (P.S. ohi) 9 3 1, seddhihim 2 15 9, 6 2 2, 7 1 2, 8 1 1 (A °he), mahihim 4 8 9, 4 12 2, 10 10 3. purihim (P.S. °he) 11 14 11b, rayanihim 18 6 6, uccolihim 20 3 3.

$89. -him is also employed in L. plur. e.g. paolihim 16 14 8.

b) Post-positions.

The following post-positions in a compounded or uncompounded form, are found in PC. In the case of those which are declinable, the base is also given.

§91. samau (Sk. samam enl.(2 12 2, samāna- (sk. samāna-) 2 11 7, 4 2 2, 3 10 2 and sarisau (Sk. sadršakam, Guj. sarsum) 14 4 9 govern Ins. and are used in an instrumental sense conveying the idea 'with', 'along with'.

$92. kāraņe 4 12 3, 10 6 6, °1 10 5, °9 1 2 and °kajje (*kārye =krte) 6 12 7, 12 5 5 or °kajjena (*kāryena=krte) 10 4 3, governing Gen. are used in a dative sense to convey the idea 'for' 'for the sake of'

 $\S93.$ laggevi (abs. of V lagg- 'stick'; = $\bar{a}rabhya$) 1 16 4, 6 9 8, 12 2 8 governing Gen. is used in an Abl. sense to convey the idea 'beginning from'.

§94. keraya- and tanaya- (HC. IV 422) the early ancestors of Guj. kerum and tanum are used frequently as Gen. post-positions. They govern Gen. They are found at 6 13 5, 9 8 3, (kerau), 4 3 8, 5 3 3 (kerī), 1 9 9b (°kerī), 6 11 9 (kerāiṃ), 9 11 7 (tāha mi kerāiṃ, where mi (api) intervenes) etc., and 4 5 2, 4 5 5 (tanau). 3 7 1

(tanai), 3 6 10a, 4 3 7, 4 14 2, 9 6 2 (inniya), 8 4 9 ab, 9 6 2 (taniya), 1 16 5 (tanaya) etc.

§95. Tagare has misunderstood the function of tanaya-. is a declinable adjective (like sambandhin with which it is rendered by Hemacandra), qualifying the following substantive and as such quite normally is in number, gender and case concord with the latter. tanaya- can be declined in all cases and numbers depending upon the substantive qualified by it. Hence there is nothing like a double genitive in taho tanayaho namaho (Bh. 967) as is held by Tagare'. Again he understands that tana was also popular as an Instr. post-position in Western Apabhramsa. This conclusion is arrived at from mahu tanai (Paramappapayāsu, 2 186) =madīyena, sukaihim taņāim (MP. 1 12 8) 'pertaining to good poets' and vaddattanaho tanena (HC. 1 12 8) 'for the sake of greatness' which is comparable to siddhattanaho tanena (Pāhudadohā, 88). But by no stretch of imagination these cases can be made to yield the conclusion that therein tana is used as an Inst. post-position. In the first case it qualifies a substantive in Inst. sing. The second case has neither any Inst. ending nor any instrumental sense. In the remaining two instances kāranena is to be understood after tanena (i.e. vaddattanaho tanena karanena and siddhattanaho tanena karanena) and then it is clearly seen to be a gen. postposition.

Thus there is no justification for holding that tana was used as an Inst. post-position also.

§96. uvari (upari) 2 3 8, 6 6 2 etc. uvarim 17 8 10b, uppari 1 3 3, 2 3 4 governs Gen. and are used in a Loc. sense conveying the idea 'on' 'above'. So also "matthae (mastakē; Guj. māthe) 1 8 13, 9 9 9.

§97. bhanevi (abs. of V bhan-'speak') 2 7 8, 2 17 8, 14 5 8 governs Acc. and has the sense of Sk. iti kṛtvā, iti matvā. From mahi-vallahu bhanevi jo thuvvai 3 9 6, 'who is praised by being spoken of as the lord of the earth—by being looked upon as the lord of the earth', we can see the semantic evolution which further changes the meaning to uddiśya, prati or 'towards' as exemplified at 6 7 5 and 2 4 9 (bhanevi), thus bringing it not only morphologically, but semantically too in harmony with its Guj. representative bhanī 'towards'.

§98. Neither hontau' nor thiu are found in PC. pāsu and pāse-him governing genitive are used in the sense of near. See Index s.v. pāsiu governing genitive is used in the sense of 'because of' as in eyaho pāsiu 10 8 2, 3 'because of him'. But at 4 5 4, 10 9 6, 9 5 6, 7, 8, it appears to have been used in a genitive sense conveying the idea 'belonging to'.

Tagare, 1948, 197.
 Tagare says that hontan in the Abl. sense is unknown to Southern Apabhramsa (Hist. Gram. Apa., 192). But Alsdorf quotes four instances, three from Hp. (89 18 13, 92 17 12, 92 19 2) and one from Nāyakumāracariu (6 7 9) of the post-positional use of hontan. I have come across the following instance from Svayambhū's RC.: āyau kundina-nayaraho hontan 9 2 7b, and one more from the Jasaharacariu: haum vivaraho hontan vizariu 3 3 17. There is, therefore, no ground to believe that this post-positional use of hontan was of a late Western Apabhramsa origin.

explain it as a result of the influence of masc. A declension. He parallels aggim (aggina) with sappim (sarpena). But this is unacceptable as in the A declension the genuine early form ends in -em and not in -im and as such aggim cannot be explained with the help of sappem. Only those I. singforms of the masc. I, U declensions which end in -em are formed under the influence of masc. A declension.

§84. -he and -ho are found in G. sing. munihe (S.A. °ho-) and jhunihe 1 1 9, °disihe (S.A. °ho) 1 1 13, Nähihe (P.S. °hi) 1 13 3, samdhihe (P.S. samdhie) 1 3 3, sihihe 2 11 9b, Vähuvalihe 4 10 5, guruhe 2 9 6, Meruhe 12 1 19b, muniho (S. °him) and cūdāmaniho 1 1 12, guruho and kappataruho 1 1 8, °vaīhu (rhyming with Vijaya-

§85. Corresponding to the singular terminations, -him and hum are the terminations of the plur. Instances are atthanavaihim bhāihī 4 2 6, bhāihim 9 11 4. vaïrihim (P.S. °him) 7 9 1, guruhum 7 12 5, vairihum (P.S. hi) 7 11 6, sāhuhum and °vāhuhum 5 3 5.

§86. Loc. sing. ends in -him: Meruhim 2 1, 5 1 6, (P. °he), 'irihim 11 3 1.

Fem. i and u stems.

§87. -he is used in Abl. and G. sing, -him in plur. Parame-sarihim and 'sarihim 9 1 9, 'seddhihim' 2 15 5, kamalinihim 19 4 9a.

§88. Loc. Sing. has -he and -him. Instances are vihattihe (S. -him) 4 1 8, vāvihe 5 14 7; 6 10 6, karinihe (P.S. hi-) 7 3 1 ganiyārihe 7 3 3, uccolihe (P.S. °hi) 9 3 1, seddhihim 2 15 9, 6 2 2, 7 1 2, 8 1 1 (A °he), mahihim 4 8 9, 4 12 2, 10 10 3. purihim (P.S. °he) 11 14 11b, rayanihim 18 6 6, uccolihim 20 3 3.

§89. -him is also employed in L. plur. e.g. paolihim 16 14 8.

- §96. uvari (upari) 2 3 8, 6 6 2 etc. uvarim 17 8 10b, uppari 1 3 3, 2 3 4 governs Gen. and are used in a Loc. sense conveying the idea 'on' 'above'. So also "matthae (mastakē; Guj. māthe) 1 8 13, 9 9 9.
- §97. bhanevi (abs. of V bhan-'speak') 2 7 8, 2 17 8, 14 5 8 governs Acc. and has the sense of Sk. iti kṛtvā, iti matvā. c) Interrogative and Indefinite Pronoun: N. sing. masc. ko vi 4 6 9, 10, 13 2 4, 18 1 9a; kavana- 1 6 1, 4 4 4, 8 6 9a; 2 14 9; neut. kāim 2 12 7, 2 12 9b, 2 14 3, 4 3 5; N. plur. ke vi

7 13 3; G. sing. kāsu 3 9 4.

d) Proximate Demonstrative Pronoun: N. Sing. masc. ehu 1 3 12, 6 13 4, ehau 2 3 9b; neut. eu 5 5 5; iu 10 1 8; N. plur. mesc. e (short) 15 3 4; I. sing. em. 3 9 10b. N. sing. fem. ima 19 10 2; N. sing. neut. imu 4 4 9a, 9 1 5, 12 2 7, 15 11 9a, 19 1 10, 19 15 9; I. sing. masc. āyaehim 10 6 7.

d) Verbal Flexion.

§102. Present Indicative. It is also used to indicate shades of indefiniteness—subjunctive, immediate future etc.

a) First person Singular. -mi is the only termination. -um is absent with the solitary exception of visahaum 18 6 2, which therefore invites suspicion. -mi appears as -vi (-vi) in dharevi, pariharevi 18 8 9b.

b) -ahum serves for the First Person Plural as in janahum 2 13 9b, 5 5 2, pāvahum and āvahum 2 15 2. jāhum 2 12 8, ⁽¹⁾ Tagare (1948, 222) observes, 'Neut. direct sing. tau from tako from ta-ka-h is an extended form of ta- in Pāhudadoḥā 11." This is an error. Hiralal Jair has corrected his interpretation of this Dohā in the Tippanī, equating rightly tau with tapah, but Tagare has failed to consult it and has followed the incorrect translation.

3 4 10, vandhahum 3 4 10, lehum 2 15 8, paribhamahum 6 13 7, pekkhahum 12 9 7, parisujjhahum 19 1 10b (in the last seven cases the sense has different shades of indefiniteness).

c) -hi is the only termination for the Second Person Singular and -hu or -ho (acchahu 3 4 10, gavesaho 12 8 9b, janahu 4 5 2) for the Plural.

d) Besides the normal -ai, -ei appears in the Third Person Singular mostly in metrically conditioned eases (khañcei 3 12 5, karei 4 12 6).

e) -ahim is not found in the Third Person Plural.

$103. The desinences of the Future are the same as those of the Present Indicative; only the special base is formed by adding -(e)sa. Instances: 1. plur. karesahum 3 6 11a; 2. plur. karesaho 12 8 9b; 3. sing. hosai 4 5 4, vahesai 6 11 3; 3. plur. hosanti 5 9 10.

The -ha type of future is not found in our text.

§104. Imperative.

- a) Imper. 1. pl. (These cases can be also regarded as present Ind. 1. plur. forms used in an indefinite sense) jähum 2 12 8, 3 4 10b; vandahum 3 4 10b, karahum 5 10 7, bhamāḍahum 5 10 8, paisahum 6 13 9, paisarahum 7 9 1.
 - b) Imper. 2. Sing.
- i) -ahi: padarisahi 2 9 6, genhahi 6.4 9b, lahahi 19 15 8, bhuñjahi 12 11 5, jāhi 2 9 6, jajjāhi (intensive) 15 5 6, jivahi 7 12 1, vollahi 18 8 3, dakkhavahi 19 15 2, ehi 7 9 1;
- ii) -u: jiu 4 3 8, nīsaru 4 7 2, maru 5 7 2, hasu, bhuñju 7 12 3, taju, jujjhu 7 12 3, cau, samcaru 7 12 4, suņu 7 12 5, cadu, āu, padu 19 15 3, bhamu, ramu 19 15 5, uṭṭhuṭṭhu (intensive) 10 4 4;
- iii) short -e: kare 4 3 2, 9 2 6, (rhyme-secure at) 6 16 8, 15 5 6, bhuñje, 4 12 6, kahe (rhyme-secure) 6 13 7, 8 6 9, pāle 7 12 6, anuhunje 12 5 13, aņubhuñje 12 10 9b, ņihāle 12 5 14a, mue 15 7 2, jotte 19 2 5, dhare 19 15 6.
- iv) -i: volli 2 14 1, suni 5 1 1, kahi 1 9 6, parini 10 5 8. §105. The forms in short -e/--i as also in -u are commonly used. There are several forms in short -e. The Ms. which leads in preserving original orthographic features, is also leading in attesting the imper. forms in short -e. It is quite naturally explained by Jacobi and Alsdorf as a development of the Sk. opt. 2. sing. in -eh. The -i forms represent a phonetically later stage. Tagare's suggestion to explain it as due to passive + zero or to the loss of -h in -(a)hi is quite unattractive.

The term -u is also to be explained in accordance with the Ap. tendency to turn final -a into -u. It has nothing to do with the -u of the 3. sing.

$106. Imper. 2 pl. ends in -aho or -ahu: todaho, dohaho, chandaho 2 13 4, bhindaho 5 11 5 (rhyme-secure), joyaho 2 3 9b (rhyme-secure), lakkhaho 5 5 1 (rhyme-secure), bhanaho, mandaho 4 8 9, nitthavaho, patthavaho 6 2 8, hanaho, khanaho 7 4 7, dharaho 7 7 2; āgacchahu (rhyme-secure) 3 4 10b, āmellahu 3 7 4, karahu 4 3 3, 4 5 2, thāhu 2 16 11, kahahu 4 1 9b.

§107. Optative. 2. sing. dejja 2 6 10b, jujjhejjahi 15 5 6, khamejjahi 19 14 4, lajjijjahi 18 8 3.

§108. Passive.

a) Pres. 2 sing. paṇavijjahi, uvamijjahi 2 6 9;

b) 3. sing. 2 6 9, uvamijjai 1 6 1, ghāijjai 1 10 5, laijjai 2 5 5, jijjai 7 11 9b.

$109. Causative.

- a) uddāva- 2 1 7, cadāva, 2 3 1, cintāva- 2 9 2, khamāva 4 14 3, devāva- 1 8 3, darisāva- 2 3 9, nhāva- 2 5 9a.
- b) vinnava-131,179, dakkhava-285, nhava 261, thava 227,265;

c) bhamāda- 5 10 9;

d) paisāra (from paisa-) 5 5 8, 13 10 10a etc.; vaisāra (from vaisa-) 5 14 3, 20 3 3.

$110. Denominative:

- a) simple: pāyaḍa- 1 1 19, dhavala- 3 3 6, uppallāṇa- 5 4 5, nhāṇa- 5 4 5, maila- 14 7 8, dhūma- 17 14 7;
- b) compound: kāṇekkha- (from kāna- + Vikkha-) 2 12 8, mambhīsa- (from mā + bhīṣa-) 10 2 1, kaṇṇāra- (from karṇa + āra-) 19 14 2.

§111. -cvi- forms:

- a) āsaņņīhūu 1 8 5, muhalīhūyau 1 13 9, vilakkhī-hūu 4 11 8, dūrī-hoī 6 4 3, dhillīhontāim 8 5 11a, ņiratthī-kiu 20 4 7.
- b) kannuppali-karevi 1 8 1, vasi-kiu 4 5 3, duvvali-huyau 18 5 9b.
- §112. Infinitives.
 - a) -anahā: vandaņahā 1 9 1, pariņaņaha 5 15 9b, kampaņahā 10 1 8:
 - b) -ehum: niehum 10 2 4;
 - c) -evi: dharevi 9 13 8.
- At 2 12 5 the infinitive of purpose is conveyed by using the Loc, sing, of the Gerundive: pievae laggā 'began to drink'.
- §113. Absolutives: There are several terminations for the absolutive: -evi, ēvi -avi -eppiņu, -eviņu, -(e)ppi. Of these -evi is the commonest.
 - a) evi: pekkhevi 4 1 9a, nisunevi 4 2 1. vāvarevi 12 9 8, hoevi 2 15 8;
 - b) -ēvi: paṇavevi 1 1 16, bhanevi 6 4 1, pariañcevi 12 10 16 etc.
 - c) -avi: parisesavi 3 10 8, niyavi 6 2 6, muyavi (rhymesecure) 15 13 5;
 - d) -eppinu: naveppinu joeppinu 1 1, panaveppinu 1 1 1, gampinu 1 15 9, 7 13 9b, todeppinu 2 12 8, deppinu 2 2 7, 2 14 8, thaveppinu 2 2 7:
 - e) -ppi: gampi 2 7 5, 4 3 6, 5 5 1, 5 7 9a;
 - f) -evinu: vihasevinu 1 16 1, nisunevinu 11 11 6.

§114. Potential Participle:

Termination -evau: jīvevau 5 16 4; jujjhevau 4 9 1, ghāevau 4 12 3, païsevau 10 8 3, paharevau, jāevau, 11 13 5, karevī (f.) 9 6 9b, 20 1 7, harevī (f.) 20 1 7.

§115. Gerundives:

jīvevae 2 8 4, parihevae 2 8 4, pievae 2 12 5, jievāho ruevāho 7 8 8.

§116. Compound verbs:

There are several instances of compounding a participal with a verbal form to express tense-variation. Thus past passive participle is combined either with āsi 'was' to express a past perfect sense or with 'si to express a present perfect sense.

kahiu āsi 'had been told' 1 12 8.
kiu āsi 'had been committed' 2 13 9b.
pesiya āsi 'had been sent' 2 15 1.
samappiu āsi 'had been made over' 4 4 9a.
vuttau āsi 'had been said' 5 5 5.
jāo āsi 'had been born' 6 15 2.
giliya āsi 'would have been swallowed' 19 8 10b.
nimmantio 'si 'you have been invited' 16 13 5.
dhukko 'si 'you have approached' 10 10 8.

$117. The order of the members of a compound is altered according to metrical convenience. Note the following instances:

kammaṭṭha°- 1 1 4, vaya-pañca°- 1 1 5, accanta-mahantapaṭta-siva- 1 1 11, puccha-paṭhara- 6 11 5, lāṅgūla-paṭhara-6 11 8, bhava-saṃsāra-mahaṇṇava-ṇāsiya- 5 16 3, pavarabhuva-phaliha-dīha 7 5 1.

VII Some Syntactical Remarks.

$118. In Bharahesara-Vāhuvalī vi te vi, āsaṇṇaiṃ dhukkaiṃ valaiṃ ve vi 4 4 7 the common predicate of the compound subject takes the gender of the following member.

Case usages.

§119. Instrumental:

a) Inst. instead of Loc.:

dāhina-bhāem Bharahu thakku 1 11 8a. .

'Bharata was situated in the Southern division.'

b) Inst. absolute for Loc. absolute:

paim hontena, havantu asesaim 2 10 8; dhammem hontaena, deva vi seva karanti 6 14 9a; nīsariem puraparamesarena, nīsariya vīra 12 7 8.

§120. Genitive:

The Ap. Gen. has a very wide province. It has usurped the functions of several other cases.

a) As Dat. is lost as a rule in MIA., verbs of giving govern Gen.: tujjhu āsi samappiu 4 4 9a; tam taho dei 3 12 5; samappevi nandanaho 6 8 5; mālau naraho uvasoha denti 6 3 4.

Another Dat. usage: haum puņu jāmi, thāmi niya-kajjaho 5 14 1.

b) Verbs of motion govern Gen. of goal:
Risahu gau nivvānaho 4 14 9a, Ajiya-bhadārau gau nivvānaho 5 10 2, gau niya-pattanaho 6 8 5, turangamu gayau pacchima-bhāyaho 5 4 1, Kikkapuresaraho lehu gau 6 16 3, sariyau dhoyanti salilu rayanāyaraho 6 3 3, jasu dhukkai, so so lei nāsu 7 5 7.

This holds good even when the motion is figurative: ghāi-kamma gaya khayaho 4 14 3, jāi visāyaho 5 15 1, mā khayaho nehu 12 9 2.

c) Further, words denoting movement require Gen, of goal as in: mayaraharu ayasaho utthalliyau 11 8 9b, Sukesena Magahahā mukku payānau 15 8 9b.

In such cases the Genitive has the force of prati.

- In naliniu divayaraho viyasanti 6 3 6 also the Gen. has the same sense.
- d) But we also occasionally come across instances of verbs of motion governing accusative of goal: naravai gau uvavaņu 5 14 6, (te) Kikkupurakkhu patta 7 6 3, Bharahu nivvui pattau 4 14 9a.

e) Other verbs governing Gen.:i) Verbs meaning 'tell' 'say' etc.: heriehim kanitthaho kahiu 471, manti Sirikanthaho kahai 6 5 1, suvināvali Marudevie

Nāhi-narāhivaho sīsai 1 15 9b;

ii) Vgaraha-: garahanti jinindaho 2 14 5;

iii) Võhama-: bhamiu Mandaraho jema tārāyanu 2 16 11b:

1v) Vabbhida-: Ņigghāu Mālihe abbhidiu 7 13 9b, Rāvaņu Indaho abbhidai 1 7 1b.

It governs Loc. also:

Rāvaņu Sahasakiraņe abbhittau 1 5 1b.

- Note also the construction abbhittu jujjhu Vijjāharāhā 7 5 2. 'A battle ensued among the Vidyadharas'. The construction is familiar in the Paimacariya of Vimalasūri. See 4 42, 5 69 etc.
- v) V samāvada-: matta-gaindu pañcānaņaho samāvadiu 7 13 9a.
- f) In marai to-vi mahu Toyadavihanu 5 7 7 Gen. conveys cause.
 - g) In the absolute construction Gen, does not convey, unlike Sanskrit, the sense of anadara. Mostly it is found with present participles and has been inherited by Gujarati. Înstances: (taĥo) rajju karantaho, puvvahā lakkha tisatthi gaya 2 8 9a 'As he ruled, sixty-three lakhs of Pūrvas passed';

rajju karantaho taho Maharakkhaho, Devarakkhu uppannau nandanu 5 14 5-6 'As that Maharakkha ruled,

a son Devarakkha was born to him';

- taho Lankāhiva-duhiya pariņantaho pangaņe keņa vi kai lihiya 6 9 1.' 'When he was marrying the daughter of the Lord of Lanka somebody drew monkeys in (his) courtyard'.
- h) Genitive of contents (Instr. sense): ikkhu-rasaho bhariyanjali 2 16 9, 2 17 5 'The palm cavity was filled with the sugar-cane juice'.

$121. Locative:

a) Vpaisa- governs Loc. or Acc.:

i) jale paitha 4 10 2; paisarai na pattane cakka-rayanu 4 1 1, na paisai ujjhahe cakku 4 1 8, samasarane paitthau 5 9 9b.

ii) paisai saranu 573, 4,5, so samasaranu paitthau 579, Nandisarakkhu paisarami 684, paisahum jiņālau 6 13 9, paitthu vaņu 12 12 9.

b) Instead of Acc. or Gen., Loc is used with visajjiya 'sent' in Nala-Nīla visajjiya Kikkapure 12 12 2;

c) Khira-mahannave khiru bhareppinu 2 5 8 is not a case of the use of Loc. for Abl. It is a different construction. stressing the source. Loc. is used similarly in Gujarati;

d) Loc. Absolute is quite common. Kāle galantae, nāhu niya-deha-riddhi pariyaddhai 2 7 9a, kiye khae vandha-vāhum, keṇa sahum rajju karesaho? 12 8 9b etc.

§122. Some verbs of saying like pahāsa-, cava-, pacava- are used intransitively. Their preterite participles take a nominative and not an instrumental subject, like gatah etc. in Sk. The instances are:

so pahāsiu 3 9 3 'he said', pamaya-ņivahu caviu 6 12 6 'The monkey-hoard said', sa pacaviya 10 2 3 'she said', sura-pavaru caviu 15 3 3 'The best among gods said'.

Thus the distinction between the constructions required by Hindi bolanā and kahanā or Guj bolavum and kahevum has its roots stretching back as far as the ninth century A.D.

jima 'dine' is used intransitively in bhadarau jimiu 2 17 9.

§123. Impersonal use of the preterite participle is common: tena hatthutthalliu 2 15 9a 'He made a gesture with hand'. Vähuvalīsareņa gajjiu 4 4 7 'Lord Bāhubali roared'.

$124. Some of the idioms, expressions and usages peculiar to

Ap. are noted below:

1) Kikkupurakkhu 7 6 3, Nandisarakkhu 6 8 4 etc. Proper names are at times given in this manner-compounded with -akkha, Sk. ākhya-. See HP., Introduction.
2) āvattiu Jama-muhe 7 6 6 and vagalāmuhe āvaṭṭantau

17 3 4 show that the expression avattiu has the sense of

'be thrown as a victim into (the jaws of Death)'.

3) olagga- with pānehim means 'serve with one's life' 'sacrifice one's life while serving' as in olaggai pānehim Vijayasīhu' 7 6 5.

4) kam divu 3 6 11 'when?'.

5) kavanu gahanu 'counts for how much?' as in tasu viyattāho abbhittāho kavanu gahanu kira Rāvanu 12 6 9b. 'for how much does Ravana count before him who has turned hostile and attacked (him)?'

6) dhou with $Vd\bar{a}$ - signifies 'allow to approach' as in dhou na dintehim 3 6 9 'not allowing to approach'. Similarly dhou laha- = 'be able to approach'. cf. the use of dhaukam with $Vd\bar{a}$ - in Jain Sanskrit.

7) nam nam 1 6 2, 3 is used in the sense of nanu to express objection or doubt to a previous statement.

- 8) tudihim with Vcada- has generally the sense of samsayadolām āruh-. In kannā dāņu kahim taņau, jai ņa diņņu to tudihim cadāvai 6 3 9a. 'If the daughter is not given away (in marriage) to somebody, she would put one on the horns of a dilemma', its sense is slightly different.
- 9) thottuggīriya 'laudatory and supplicant' generally qualifying speech as in Dasasirena thottuggīriya-girena vuccai 'Ravana said in supplicant words' and thottuggiriya gurupurau 'having sung a hymn of praise before the Master'.

- 10) pesaņu cukkau is a euphemism for 'he died'. e.g. te mahu kerau pesaņu cukkā 5 13 2 'they failed to fulfil their mission entrusted by me' i.e. 'they died', (Andhau) pesaņa-cukku 'Andhraka died'.
- 11) gavanammanau 3 6 1b, gamanamanu 6 4 2, 'wishing to go, jujjhanamana 12 8 9 'wishing to fight'.

12) vattai 18 3 7, 19 8 10b, 'to be sure' 'indeed'.

- 13) There are various forms of swearing expressions used at the time of taking a vow e.g.:
 - i) tāva na jinavaru jaya bhanami, jāva na rane vivakkhu sara-siriu 6 1 10 'I will not say "be victorious" to the Jina, till I pierce the enemy with arrows in the battle'.
 - ii) jai kallae tāņa! Lankānayari na paisarami, to niyaya-janeri Indānī kara-yale dharami 7 12 9, 'O Papa, if I fail to enter the city of Lankā tomorrow. I would hold my mother Indrānī in my hand'.
 - iii) jai tam bhadda-hatthi nau sāhami, to jananovari asivaru vāhami 11 5 2 'If I fail to subdue that Bhadra elephant, I would brandish (my) best sword over (my) father'.
 - iv) jai raṇamuhe māṇu na malami taho, to chitta pāya raṇaṇāsavaho 12 7 4 'If I do not crush his pride in the battle front, the feet of Ratnāśrava are touched'.

7. METRES OF PAUMACARIU I-XX'.

The present study of the metres employed in PC. I-XX is divided into three sections in accordance with the three structural units of the Kadavaka'. At times each Kadavaka of a particular Sandhi has a beginning piece made up of one stanza having two or four rhyming Pādas. This unit is an occasional feature of the Kadavaka. As contrasted with this commencing piece the main body and the concluding piece (which is also found invariably in the beginning of the Sandhi) called Ghattā are the permanent features of the Kadavaka. Every Kadavaka has got them. The metres employed in these three Kadavaka units, viz. the commencing piece, the main body and the concluding piece or Ghattā are different from one another. Hence they are described separately. The metres of the commencing piece are taken up first. Next follows a description of the metres of the Ghattā. Lastly is given an account of the metres employed in the body of the Kadavaka.

A. The Commencing Piece at the Head of the Kadavaka.

We have no definite knowledge as to whether the commencing piece of the Kadavaka was known by any general name. SC. VIII 31a while explaining the term Kadavaka declares, āihim puņu ghatta samāmaṇanti, jamaāvasāṇa(i) chaddaṇi bhaṇanti. 'In the beginning (of the Kadavaka), they prescribe Ghattā and at the end of the Yamakas, they say Chaddaṇi'. This means, that the Kadavaka-commencing piece is to be called Ghattā, while the concluding piece

For the earlier contributions to the critical study of Apabhramsa metres sec Jacobi, 1918, 1921; Alsdorf, 1928, 1936, 1937 Shahidulian, 1928; Bhayani, 1945, 1948.

^{(2) (}a) Kadavaa(u) atthahim Jamaahim raanti i aihim punu Ghatta samamananti

Jamaāvasāna(i) chaddaņī bhananti | SC. VIII 30-31. (b) Sandhyādau Kadavakānte ca dhruvam syāditi Dhruvā, Dhruvakam, Ghattā vā | Ch. 5 1.

is to be known as Chaddani. But the Ap. Mss. consistently follow the practice of calling the closing piece Ghatta, while the commencing stanza is not given any class name. Hence Svayambhu's account requires further support from other authorities, before it is accepted.

Only Sandhis 3, 13, 17 and 19 have the Kadavaka commencing stanza'. It appears in the beginning of each Kadavaka of these Sandhis. In Puspadanta's Mahāpurāṇa Jambhettia (IV), Racitā (V), Malayavilasitā (VI), Khaṇḍaka (VII), Āvali (VIII), Dvipadi (X, XIV etc.), Helā (IX, LXXVII) Āranāla (XVI) and Malaya-mañjarī (LXXVI) have been used for this purpose. The Ap. texts or their Mss. have not got any uniform practice of mentioning the name of these metres. Usually Duvaī, Jambhettia, Dohā and Helā or (Helāduvaī) are mentioned by name, the others are left unnamed. But we find little consistency in this matter. Thus only one Ms. of PC. prefixes the term Duvaī to the Kadavaka-commencing stanzas of 3. Sandhi, other Mss. are silent about it. On the other hand MP. is in the habit of mentioning the name in every case.

The value of the end syllable is discussed below under the description of the Ghatta.

(1) The Kadavaka-commencing stanza of the 3. Sandhi (Gandhodakadhārā).

Scheme—No. of lines: 4.

No. of moras per line: 13 (or 14; if the end syllable is scanned as long).

Gana-scheme: 6+4+3 (or 4).

Rhyme-scheme: a with b, c with d.

The six-moraic Gana has, except in four cases, two-moraic grouping. For its two middlemost moras the form un is preferred. The second Gana has the following forms:

This means that Jagana is permitted.

The last Gana is invariably constituted of three shorts.

It will be seen that the structure of the Pādas of this metre is identical with that of the odd Pādas of the Duvahaya or Dohā metre. Technically this is a Sarvasamā Catuṣpadī. If the final syllable is given its natural value, the line is 13-moraic; if it is scanned as long, it becomes 14-moraic. Among the Saravasamā group of the Catuṣpadis, the Accharovilasia or Apsarovilasita" has 13 moras, the Gandhoaadhārā or Gandhodakadhārā' has 14. SC. VI 157 gives

In the rest of PC. Sandhis 25, 59, 85 (all Helāduvaīs), 40, 51, 66, 75 (all Duvaīs), 48, 81 (Jambheţţia), 49, 77 (Gandhodakadhārā), 50 (Pāraṇaka), 52, 53 (Āraṇāla), 54 (Dohā). 63 and 74 (Māṭrā+Mañjarī) have got the commencing piece.
 Most of these metres employed in the commencing piece are treated together the end syllable to be counted as heavy.

The rhyme-scheme seen in the definition stanza of the Gandhodakadhāra in SC. and in the illustrative stanza given in Ch. is: b rhyming with d i.e. the usual rhymescheme of the Antarasamā Catuspadī, while in our stanzas a rhymes with b and c with d. But this has little significance, because in their treatment and statement Prakrit metricians were far from being precise or exhaustive and they have hardly ever paid due atten-tion to rhyme even though it was a very important feature of the Apabhramsa prosody. The Gandhodakadhārā itself is a good instance of this state of affairs. For earlier in Ch. while defining the Jhambaṭaka, Hemacandra has observed that the Gandhodakadhārā itself that will be defined later on is called Jhambataka when sung. Thus from a metrical point of view according to Hemacandra himself the Jhambataka and the Gandhodakadhārā" are identical. Now if we glance at the illustrative stanza of the Jhambataka we find that it has got the rhyme-scheme a/b, c/d (i.e. the same as found in our stanzas) and not that found in the illustrative stanza of the Gandhodakadhārā, viz., b/d!

Irregularities: In 3 3 1b the Mss. read cautisāisaya° (P.), cautīsāisayam (A.) and cautisā aisai (S.). Acceptance of any one of these readings yields one or more moras too many for the line. Hence the text has been emended as cautis'aisaya°.

These cases clearly show that the form U-- U(UUUU) was not forbidden for the 4. Gapa.

⁽¹⁾ Hemacandra and Rajasekhara give 6+4+3 also. This would deprive our test of its validity. But in examining the metres of Svayambhu's works, his own metrical work above all else should be given due consideration.

Helā is defined by Hemacandra in the Khañjaka section of Ch. Its illustration is a four-lined stanza. But as the Kadavaka-commencing stanza it appears in PC. as also in MP. (9, 74, 77) in the two-lined form and hence some Ap. Mss. designate it as Helā-duvaī, not merely Helā.

Irregularities: Though the end syllable in a line of the Hela-duvai is required to be long, it is at times given as short in the Mss. This is due to incorrect orthography. Most of such cases can be easily emended by reading -u of the Nominative as -o, -ena of the Instrumental as -enan, final -a as ā, -him as him etc.

The 2. Gana is defective. Hence the text is corrected by reading kuddhaena for kuddhena. cf. the identical expression amarisa-kuddhaena at 25 13 1 a. This emendation will also give the requisite form of Jagana to the 2. Gana.

Scheme: -u(uuv) + -u(uvv) + 4 + 4 + 4 + v -. is preferred for the three-moraic Ganas, more so in the 2. Gana. Jagana is found in the 4. Gana only. The 5. Gana generally ends in a heavy syllable. A weak caesura is felt after the 12. or 11. mora.

Excepting the commencing stanzas of 1., 6., 8., 13 and 15., Kadavakas, all the remaining commencing stanzas end in a short syllable, but it should be considered as long.

B. Metres employed in the Ghattā.

General Observations: The closing piece of the Kadavaka is variously called Dhruvā, Dhruvaka, Ghattā' or Chaddaṇiā', though Mss. always have only Ghattā. Every Sandhi as a rule opens with a stanza, generally but not invariably, in the same metre in which the Ghattās of that Sandhi are composed. Occasionally the Mss. call this Sandhi-commencing stanza Dhruvaka. The metre employed in the Ghattās of a Sandhi is different from one used in the main body of its Kadavakas, the purpose being the indication, while reciting, of the end of the Kadavaka and the topic. According as the metre is two-lined, four-lined or six-lined, it comes under the respective categories of Dvipadī, Catuṣpadī, Saṭpadī. Catuṣpadīs again fall under any of the divisions Sarva-samā (all the four Pādas of equal measure), Ardhasamā (the first Pāda equal to the second, the third equal to the fourth), Antarasamā or Ardhasamā (the first equal to the third, the second equal to the fourth) and Samkīrṇā (mixture of the above varieties).

All the Ghattas of a particular Sandhi are composed, generally but not invariably, in the same metre. This also appears to be the significance of the designations Dhruvā and Dhruvāka, though Hemacandra takes them to mean 'unfailingly occurring (at the beginning of the Sandhi and end of Kaḍavakas)'. But compare the term Dhruvapada 'refrain' occurring in Early Gujarati and Early Hindi poetry. Structurally the Ghatta corresponds to Valan or Uthlo found in the Early Gujarati Ākhyānakāvyas.

Value of the end syllable in the Ghattā

Thanks to the disappointing insufficiency of the original sources and to the loose treatment of the subject by the ancient writers, Ap. prosody presents several perplexing problems. But of these the problem of properly determining the metre of the Ghattās is the most ticklish. The varieties of the different types of the Ghattas are distinguished from one another by the number of moras their Pādas are required to contain. But addition or removal of even one mora makes a difference in metre. Coupled with this narrow margin of difference in the continguous varieties of the Ghattas is the fact that the nature of the orthography of the Ap. Mss. being in various points confusing, the text preserved by them is far removed from having a mora-perfect correctness. This state of affairs many a time obscures the exact number of moras contained in a particular Ghatta-pāda and as a result it becomes considerably difficult to identify with precision the Ghatta-metres. Apart from this, the main cause of obscurity lies in the anceps value of the end syllable of a Pāda. This always causes a difference of one mora and the consequent dubiety.

The treatment of this point by ancient metricians does not contribute much to the clarification. Hemacandra offers the following remarks:

Vānte G Vakrah

Pādānte vartamāno hrasvo g samjño bhavati. Sa ca prastāre takrah sthāpyate. 'vā' iti vyavasthita-vibhāṣā. Tena yatra—apavādah tatra g samjño na bhavati.Dhruvāsu vivakṣā-vaṣād gurutvam laghutam ca. yad āha: Oja-samkhyā yadā'bhiṣṭā, dhruvāsu viratau tadā/go latā, yugma-samkhye tu, viratau gurutā laghoḥ//Tathā: gurua(o) cchiya ekka-lahu-virāma-visayammi visama samkhāe/jamala-lahu lahua(o) cchiya, sama-samkhā-samṭhio hoi// Ch. 15 with Com.

For the last stanza in the above citation Hemacandra is indebted to Svayambhū, since that very Gāthā is found at SC. V 2 with the correct readings guruo and lahuo. The passage means:

(1) The short end syllable of a metrical Pāda is to be treated as long as a general rule.

(2) To this rule there are fixed exceptions. In these exceptional cases the final short is to have its natural value.

(3) In the case of the Dhruvā or Ghattā, the value of the end syllable depends upon the number of moras the Dhruvāpāda is desired to contain.

(4) After counting the moras of a Ghatta-pada exculsive of the final syllable, if the Pada is short by one mora, then the remaining end syllable should be counted as of one mora and accordingly even if in such cases the end syllable is actually long, it should be considered short. On the other hand, if the Pada is short by two moras, then the end syllable should be given the value of two moras and accordingly even if the end syllable is actually short it should be considered long.

This rule works well in those cases wherein we know beforehand the metre, but in those cases in which we have to decide the metre by scanning a specimen, we would be faced with as many as, four alternatives regarding the Antarasamā Catuspadīs. A Ghattā with the actual mora count of 13/10, in its odd and even Pādas and wih short end syllables, for instance, can be regarded as containing 13/10, 14/10, 13/11 or 14/11, moras and these are four different metres called Marakatamālā, Abhinavavasantaśrī, Kusumākulamadhukara and Bhramaravilāsa! The form of the metre has nothing in it to decide in favour of any particular alternative. Of course Svayambhū and Hemacandra lay down' the Gana-schemes for all the Pādas containing from seven to seventeen moras, but there are several and overlapping schemes for each Pāda and in several cases there is disagreement between the two metricians. Hence this does not help us in making the choice out of the four possible alternatives as pointed out above.

A reference to the illustrations adduced by Hemcandra and Svayambhū for different kinds of Ghattās only helps to bring the complicated nature of our problem into relief. The text of the Svayambhūcchandas is considerably corrupt in its Ap. section. Hence it can prove of limited help only in so far as we are able to check the illustrations from PC. So some of the Ghattā illustrations from the Chando'nuśāsana we shall consider first.

In an overwhelming majority (but not all) of the cases the end syllable in the Ghattā illustrations of Ch. is to be regarded as long irrespective of its natural value, but in several cases (VI 19 4, 11 bd; 21a, 44; 20 78, 115; 23; 30; 14 1 cf.; 15 2, etc.) it is to be given its natural value, i.e. if it is short, it is to be counted one-moraic; if long, two-moraic. Further, in two Pādas of the same metrical value, the final short is to have its actual value at one place, is to be counted as long at another. Thus in the following illustration of the Campakakusumā (7+8)

anga-cangima, jai gorangihim/

campaya-kusuma, tā kaha agghahim// (Ch. VI 19 4) the end syllables of the 7-moraic Pādas (i.e., a, c) are to be counted as short, but in the following illustration of the very next variety Sāmudgaka (7+9)

jai bollai, ghana ukkanthia/

sā muddau, muhu kalayanthia/ (Ch. VI 19 5)

the end syllables of the 7-moraic Pādas are to be regarded as long. Thus the Pādas which are theoretically equivalent turn out to be actually different. Similarly though the even Pādas of the above-quoted illustrations of the Campakakusumā and the Sāmudgaka have to all appearance the same mora-contents, yet their end syllables are to be regarded as short in one case, long in the other. Thus the Pādas that are actually equivalent turn out to be theoretically different.

Now let us glance at the Svayambhūcchandas. Svayambhū's general practice also in SC. appears to be to consider the end syllable as long. But here too some Satpadīs (e.g. VIII 20-21, V 7) and Catuspadīs (e.g. Kāmiṇihāsaa VI 112 a c, Chabbhaṇia VIII 15 etc.)

are treated as ending in a short.

One illustration from the actual practice of another epic poet will be illuminating on this point. The commencing stanza of the 6. Sandhi of Puspadanta's Mahāpurāṇa is called Malayavilasiyā in in the text itself. Ch. VII 66 and Chandaśśekhara, 234 define a Dvipadī called Madanavilasitā, but its scheme is given as 5+3, which does not apply to the Malayavilasiyās of MP. But SC. VII 10 describes a Dvipadī called Malaaviasiā which has the scheme 6+2, which is satisfied by the MP. stanzas in question. Now on examining these stanzas, we find that in three cases(MP. 6 1, 6 3, 6 7) all the four Pādas end in vv. In the rest, the end is a long. In the sixmoraic Gaṇa a heavy syllable is avoided in the place of even+odd moras and hence only the following eight forms are permitted: UUUUUU. UUUU —, UU — —, — — — UUUU, — UUU, UU — UU, UU — — UU, UU — — UU, UU — UU — UU, UU — UU — UU, UU — UU — UU — UU, UU — UU — UU, UU — UU —

But SC. can help us in quite a different way to solve this problem. Svayambhū has taken several stanzas from his PC. to illustrate some of the metres in SC. In the case of these stanzas we possess an unusual means: their metre is named and their structure is defined by their author himself. There can be nothing more definite than this. And the considerably corrupt character of the text of these illustrations in SC. need not hinder our investigation because we have an access to their correct text from PC. Moreover, the Ghattās of any one Sandhi being normally in one and the same metre, we can use additional data also, to check up the observations of SC. The table below indicates the common stanzas between SC. and PC. along with the names and schemes of their metres.

Of these Nos. 1, 2, 8 and 9 are Satpadis, Nos. 6, 7 and 11 are Samacatuspadīs and Nos. 3, 4, 5 and 10 are Antarasamā Catuspadīs. Excepting No. 6 all the stanzas are Ghattas appearing either at the beginning of a Sandhi or at the end of a Kadavaka. The text of SC. VIII 17 is corrupt and the meaning is obscure. Therefore No. 8 is to be left out from consideration. Now SC. V 5, V 9 and VIII 20 tell us that the Satpadis employed in PC. 3 3 11, 14 7 9 and 31 1 have the respective schemes 7+7+13, 9+9+15 and 10+8+13. If we examine the text of these stanzas in PC. we find that actually their schemes are 6+6+12, 8+8+14 and 10+8+13 respectively. This means that in the first two cases the end syllable in all the Padas is to be regarded as long, but in the last case it is to have its actual The basis of this discrimination is not clear. The normal expectation is either to assign uniformly its actual value to the end syllable or alternatively to regard it uniformly long. And in the structure of the stanzas themselves there is nothing to account for this discrimination, so that we could take their measures to be either 6+6+12, 8+8+14 and 10+8+13 or 7+7+13, 9+9+15 and 11+9+14. If we look up the other Ghattas of these Sandhis we find that in the case of the Ghatta of 14 2, the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th Pādas actually end in a long syllable and in their case there is no possibility of getting 15, 9, 9 and 15 moras respectively. If the metre of PC. 14 7 9, having the actual scheme of 8+8+14, is to be regarded according to SC. VIII 20 as having the scheme 9+9+15, then it follows that the Sandhi- commencing stanza and all the other Ghattās of PC. 14 are to be considered as having the scheme 9+9+15, and yet one Ghattā of PC. 14, viz. PC. 14 2 9 has the scheme 8+8+14. Does this mean that in the last case a slightly different Satpadī is employed? But there appears no reason for this variation. The long vowel at the end of the four Pādas of PC 14 2 9 is the feminine suffix i and taking into consideration Apabhramśa development -iya into -i, it is very likely that the end syllable of PC. 14 2 9 cdef was originally -iya. In that case the irregularity would be removed.

Of the Samacatuspadis No. 6 is not a Ghatta. It is used in the main body of the Kadavaka and hence useless for our present purpose. For No. 7 (Dhruvaka) the scheme given by SC. VIII 5 is 9 moras for each Pada. PC. 33 3 9 and the other Ghattas of 33. Sandhi actually contain 9 moras in each of their Padas. Thus in their case the end syllable is not to be counted as a long. But though all the Pādas of these Ghattās contain 9 moras, there is a positive difference between the odd and even Pādas. The odd Pādas of the Ghattās of PC 33 end in $-\mathrm{U}$, while the even Pādas end in U U This important difference possessing a definite rhythmic effect is not at all noticed by Svayambhū in his description of the Dhruvaka. The case of the remaining Samacatuspadi is quite peculiar. It is defined at SC. VIII 26 as the second type of Ghatta, but the definition stanza' appears to be somewhat corrupt, as it fails to satify the scheme given by itself. Its odd Pādas actually contain 13 moras, the even Pādas, 11. If we examine PC. 5 1 and the Ghattās of that Sandhi. we find that in all the cases, except 5 2 9a, 5 7 11c and 5 12 9c, the odd Pādas actually contain 11 moras and end in $-\mathbf{u}$, while the even Padas actually contain 12 moras and end in uu. This means that if all the Padas are to contain 12 moras, in one and the same stanza, the end syllable of the odd Padas, actually short, is to be regarded as long, while the end syllable of the even Padas also actually short, is to be regarded as short! And inspite of the marked rhythmic difference in the construction of the end portions of the odd and even Padas, the definition does not take any note thereof, but on the contrary the even Pādas of the definition stanza actually contain 11 moras and end in -v, being thus equivalent to the odd Pādas of the illustrative stanza (as also of the Ghattās of PC. 5)!

There remain now No. 3, 4, 5 and 10, the Antarasamācatuṣpadīs. In their case also the inconsistency of now regarding the end syllables as long, now assigning them their actual value is patent. PC. 65 1 has actually the scheme 7+13, but SC. VI 41 considers 8+14 to be its scheme. Similarly PC. 77 1 and 77 13 having the actual schemes of 8+15 and 8+16 respectively are considered by SC. VI 70, 73 as having the respective measures of 9+16 and 9+17. On the other hand in the case of 41 1, both the actual measure as well as the scheme given by SC. VIII 24 are 9+14. There is no discrepancy here in theory and practice. But the fact that the opening stanza of PC. 77 and the Ghatta of the 13. Kadavaka of the same Sandhi are said by SC. (VI 70-71, 73-74) to be constructed in two different metres (Candujjuo, 9+16 and Raaņāvalī, 9+17) is very significant'. This is a positive evidence of two different though allied metres with the difference of only one mora being employed in one and the same Sandhi.

The above discussion has given us the following results:

- (1) There is no uniformity in fixing the value of the end syllables in the Ghatta-padas. They may be regarded short or long as desired.
- (2) In the case of those Ghatta-padas in which the total number of moras is to be increased by one by assigning the value of two moras to the short end syllable, it is not always possible to do this because there is no rule that Ghattas should invariably end in a short. Some of these Ghattas may have a long end syllable and in their case one cannot increase by one their actual moracount.
- (3) Even in one and the same Ghattā the short end syllables of odd and even Padas can be given different values. Of course this is to be uniformly observed for the whole Sandhi.
- (4) Odd and even Pādas of a Ghattā having an actual difference of one mora between them are liable to be considered by metricians as equivalent in their mora-contents on the strength of counting a short end syllable long.

Thus our examination of the valuable evidence supplied by SC. does not solve the problem of the value of the end syllable of the Ghattā. Both the practices of assigning the face value as well as counting a short end syllable long are in evidence, and hence it is not always possible to give one definite name to any Ghattā.

Failing to get unequivocal guidance from the indigenous authorities on Apabhramsa metre, Alsdorf in his edition of the Harivamsapurāņa (=Mahāpurāņa 81-92 Sandhis) takes recourse to giving two schemes for the Ghattas occurring in his text. First is given the 'theoretical' scheme which gives the number of moras contained in a Ghatta-pada computing one more than what is found actually. The second scheme gives the 'actual' number. But there is one obvious objection to following this practise mechanically. Only a short end syllable can be regarded as long and thus give us an extra mora. In the case of a long end syllable there is no possibility of raising the actual number of moras. And still in such cases also Alsdorf has mechanically counted one mora more than what is actually found.

Absence of Dvipadi Ghattas

Of the three classes of the Ghattas, Dvipadis present a prob-They are said to contain from 28 upto 40 (or 41 or 42) moras per Pāda and have some sixty-four varieties. Svayambhū (SC. VI 163-203) and Hemacandra (Ch. VII 1-57) both treat them at length. Now I have failed to spot even a single Dvipadī in any of the three voluminous Ap. epics, viz., the Paümacariu and the Ritthanemicariu sure 8+15 (or 9+16) and others have the measure 8+16 (or 9+17).

(2) e.g. HP. 192, no. 22, theoretical scheme: 6+4/4+4+4, which does not apply to MP. 85 2 15, 16; 85 9 37, 38; etc.

⁽¹⁾ An examination of the Ghattas of 77. Sandhi shows that some have the mea-of Svayambhū and the Mahāpurāṇa of Puspadanta. There are only Şatpadis and Antarasamā and Sarvasamā Catuspadis. This is inexplicable in view of the mention of the Dvipadi as a class of Ghattas along with the Satpadi and the Catuspadi.

In some cases it may not be so easy to distinguish between the Dvipadi on one hand and the Catuspadi and the Satpadi on the other. The Kunjaravilasita (SC. VI 129; Ch. VI 20, 106) for instance with the scheme 15+13 finds a parallel in the first Dvipadi called Karpūra (Ch. VII 1), having 28 moras per line with a caesura, after the 15. mora. Those Dvipadis, again, which have two caesuras, the first after the 10. or 12. mora and the second removed by eight moras from the first, closely correspond to the Satpadis many of which have the 1, and the 4. Padas containing 10 or 12 moras and the 2. and the 5. Padas containing 8 moras". But even if we do not pay much heed to the difference in the rhyme-schemes of the Dvipadī and the Satpadī, it is plain that only a few of the Dvipadis are liable to be confused in this manner with some Catuspadis and Satpadis. What of the rest? Why they are not found employed in any of the available Ap. epics? Perhaps there is some clue to explain this mystery. Svayambhū defines Dhuvaa (Dhruvaka) as that which is sung again and again in the beginning of all poetic compositions". He does not give Chaddanikā or Ghattā as its synonyms. At another place he mentions 'taking a retrospect' as one of the functions of the Dhuvaa'. A metre named Dhuvaa, seven types of Chaddanias and three types of Ghattas are separately defined in the eighth chapter of SC., where it is also stated that Ghatta is used in the beginning and Chaddani at the end of the group of rhyming lines that constituted the main body of a Kadavaka; that there are also other types of Ghattas and Chaddanias and that Ghattā and Chaddaniā along with some other metres are employed in the beginning of a Sandhi and in the construction of a Rasa. Rajaśekhara Kavi too deals with Dhruva, Ghatta and Chaddanika, but in view of the text of the passage being corrupt, we fail to make out the precise sense. Hemacandra clearly says that Dhruva, Dhruvaka and Ghatta are synonymous and he further adds that when the Catuspadi and the Satpadi, and not the Dvipadi, are employed at the end of a Kadavaka to sum up the topic of the Kadavaka they are also termed Chaddanika. This view is echoed in the Kavidarrana and its commentary: Ghattā esā Kadavavaya-nihane chaddaniyā/Com.: Dhruvā, Dhruvakam iti samjñā-dvayābi eşā (Ghattā)

⁽¹⁾ Over and above defining the Satpadī, Catuspadī and Dvipadī Dhruvās, SC. treats in the eighth Chapter, that deals with Ap. poetic forms, some other metres called Chaddaniās and Ghattās, which seem to have figured in some special way in the structure of the Ap. epic. But their proper function is obscure and as such they are indistinguishable from the various types of Dhruvās. In most of them the end syllable appears to have its actual value Two of the illustrations given for them occur in PC. as shown in the table given on p. 81. But so long as the function of these Chaddaniās and Ghattās is not clear, we cannot get any guidance from them.

(2) Ch. VII 17 defines a Dvipadī with the scheme 10, 8, 13 and actually calls it Chaddanitā.

From the statements of these metrical authorities we gather that some definite distinction was made between the functions of Dyipadis on one hand and Catuspadis on the other. But what was the basis and scope of this distinction cannot be made out by us so ong as more informative sources do not come to light.

Antarasamā Catuspadīs

The rhyme scheme in the Antarasamā is: b rhyming with d. Scheme 9+13 (theoretically 10+14). Occurrence 7. (42, 54.) Sandhis.

The odd Pādas are divisible as 4+4+1 or 6+3. In the former grouping, Jagana is avoided in the four-moraic Ganas. The second four-moraic Gana is frequently vv-. The end is trochaic except in 7 14 9a which ends in ver.

The even Pādas are divisible as 6+4+3. They are identical in construction with the odd Pādas of the Dohā. Jagaṇa is avoided in the 2. Gaṇa. The last Gaṇa is always which is Ghattā is found in RC. 7, 34, 44, 57, 76, 82, 87, 93 and in MP. 11, 48, 91. If the end syllables are counted as long, the scheme would be 10+14, which is the measure of Mahuravanda or Madhukaravrnda'. The odd Padas in the illustration in SC end in a trochee.

Scheme 10+13.

.Occurrence. 16. Sandhi.

4 9a, 6 9c, 11 9a and 12 9a end in a long. Hence the odd Padas cannot be made to contain more than 10 moras. Therefore the measure is either 10+13 or 10+14. Now SC. VIII 10 defines' Chaddaniā II with the scheme 10+13 and the illustrative' stanza in the case of all its Padas and the definition stanza in the case of its even Padas show that the end syllables are not to be regarded as long. Hence I think we are amply justified in taking the metre of the Ghattas of the 16. Sandhi to be the same as the Chaddania II. Otherwise with the scheme 11+14 it would be Vanaphullandhua (SC.) or Navaphullandhava (Ch.) as defined and illustrated at SC. VI 101,102; Raj. 117; Ch. VI 19, 40.

The odd Pādas are divisible as 4+4+2 or 6+4. This means that if the former scheme is adopted, the 2. Gana is never v v. That form is avoided in the 1. Gana also, we finds preference in the 1. Gana, and is the most pervalent form in the 2. Gana. The end is generally ut, rarely

The even Pādas have the scheme 6+4+3 and are identical in construction with the odd Pādas of the Dohā. The end is always uvu.

(7). Scheme. 11+14 (theoretically 12+14).

Occurence. 2. (55., 70.) Sandhis.

2 9b, d, 6 10b, d, 10 9b, d, 14 9b, d end in a long and it is not possible to make them contain more than 14 moras. 13 9 b, d actually contain 13 moras. All the other Ghattās of the 2. Sandhi have actually 14 moras in their even Pādas. So on the assumption that all these Ghattās are composed in the same metre, the even Pāda has got to be uniformly of 14 moras. If the short end syllable of the Pādas is counted long, the measure would be 12+14. This is the scheme of Avaduvahaa as described at SC. VI 115', Rāj. 128, Ch. VI 19. 45.

The odd $P\bar{a}das$ (6 + 4 + v) are identical in structure with the even Pāda of the Dohā. The four-moraic Gaṇa is most frequently vv - the last two moras having only once the form vv. Hence its characteristic end is - U.

The 14 moras of the even $P\bar{a}das$ are divisible as 4+4+4+2. It is not possible to constitute the first Gaṇa with 6 or 5 moras. The end is generally — vv, thrice vv, v. Jagaṇa is found in the 2. four-moraic Gaṇa only. The form vv— is preferred by all the four-moraic Gaṇas, it being most frequent in the 3. Gaṇa. The form — vv is not found in the 2. and 3. Gaṇas. This suggests a dactylic rhythm.

The odd Pādas of this metre are structurally different from the odd Pādas of the previous two Ghattā metres. It is quite possible to suggest that excepting the Ghattās of Kadavakas 2, 6, 10 and 14, the others have the scheme 12+15 and hence the metre is Premavilāsa (SC. 118; Rāj. 129; Ch. VI 19, 46). This Ghattā is used also in RC. 12, 22, 59, 102; MP. 86 has its Ghattās in a metre which has the scheme 11+14. But the scheme of the even Pādas there appears to be 6+4+4.

In PC. 2 13 9 b d the last words are read by all the Mss. as nāhu and avarāhu. They are emended as nāho and avarāho to make the requisite number of 14 moras.

(8). Scheme 11 (or 12) + 12.

Occurrence. 5. (23, 24, 62.) Sandhis.

SC. VII defines in the beginning certain special Ap. metres, connected possibly in some way with the construction of the Ap. epic, which is described just next in the same chapter. SC. VIII 7 states that there are seven types of Chaddanias and three types of Ghattas and SC. VIII 8-29 define and illustrate them. SC. VIII 26 describes Ghatta II as follows:

'savvāṇahom pi paāṇam, ti-ṇava-kalāo huvanti | ghattā-lakkhana erisa, govālā vilavanti |

'All the Padas have three plus nine (i.e. twelve) moras; such definition of the Ghatta (of the second type) is stated by Abhiras (lit. cowherds)'.

Chaddania are different from the ones given in the beginning of Ch. VIII.

(3) The text is corrupt. paāna, kaiān. lakkhanu and erisu can be suggested as emendations.

⁽¹⁾ SC. treats Duvaha and its varieties Avaduvahaya and Uvaduvahaya at two different places (SC. IV 7-13: V! 113-117). First they are treated as independent metres. Afterwards they are described as varieties of Ghattas. These are to be distinguished from each other.

⁽²⁾ Here the designations Chaddaniā and Chattā are given to some definite metres. They are not here generic names synonymous with Dhruvā, Dhruvaka and Ghattā. Further SC. VIII 35 metrions Ghattā and Chaddaniā among the metres used in the beginning of a Sandhi and the structures of these Ghattā and Chaddaniā are different from the ones given in the beginning of Ch. VIII.

And for this the commencing stanza of PC. Sandhi 5 is given at SC. VIII 27 by way of an illustration. From this we can presume that this is the scheme of all the Ghattas of the 5. Sandhi. Actually there is marked difference in the structures of the odd and even Padas of the Ghattas in question. The odd Padas have for the most part 11 moras, divisible as 6 + 4 + v and end in a trochee. To all purposes they are identical with the even Pada of the Dohā. 29 a, 7 11 c, 12 9 c have 12 moras with a final long, and 10 9 a has 12 moras closing with v v. Hence all these Padas, with 11 moras and ending in a v are to be counted as ending in a long and thus containing 12 moras. The even Padas on the other hand mostly have 12 moras divisible as 6 + 4 + vv. A long appears for the final two shorts in 3 9 b, d, 12 9 b, d, 13 9 b, d, 15 9 b, d. Thus excepting final two shorts for one, the even Padas and the odd Padas are identically built up. But the small difference in their ends produces remarkably different effects. And yet metricians have not cared to notice this important feature. Svayambhū has in his definition lumped together the odd and even Padas as containing 12 moras.

The same Ghattā is employed in Sandhis 23. and 24. 23 4 11 c, 24 7 9 a and 24 15 9 a contain 12 moras, closing with a long and 23 5 12 c has 12 moras ending in v v. 23 3 9b, d, 23 5 12 b, d, 23 8 9 b, d, 23 9 12 b, d, 23 14 9 b, d, 24 7 9 b, d, 24 8 9 b, d end in a long, while 23 7 9 b, d and 24 4 11 b, d have 11 moras ending in a trochee. In the last cases the structures of all the Pādas are exactly similar. 24 1 11 b has 13 moras, and hence requires to be emended. RC. has got this Ghattā in 1, 25, 75, 86. MP. employs it in 9., 33., 50., 69., 83., 87. and 98. Sandhis, and Nay. has it in 7.

(9). Scheme 13 + 10.

Occurrence. 1. (80.) Sandhis.

It is not possible to make out more than 10 moras from 1 19 $b,\ d,\ 5$ 9 $b,\ d,\ 9$ 9 $b,\ d,\ 11$ 9 $b,\ d,\ 13$ 9 $b,\ d,\ 14$ 9 $b,\ d,\ because they end in a long, and from 7 9 <math>b,\ d,\ because they actually contain 9 moras. Hence on the assumption that the even Pādas of all the Ghattās of the 1. Sandhi have the same measure it cannot be other than 10-moraic, and this gives for the metre two alternative schemes <math>13+10$ or 14+10, according as the short end syllable of the odd Pādas is treated as short or long.

The odd $P\bar{a}das$ invariably end in uvvv. None of the three Gaṇa schemes (5+6+2,5+5+3,4+4+5) given by SC. VI 134 for a 13-moraic Pāda is uniformly applicable to the odd Pādas of the 1. Sandhi. On the other hand taking the Pādas as 14-moraic we find them divisible according to the scheme 6+5+3, which is given among others for a 14-moraic Pāda at SC. VI 141. But the scheme 6+4+4 is also applicable to these Pādas. This fact combined with the characteristic ending in three shorts makes it highly probable that these Pādas are identical in structure with the odd Pāda of the Dohā. 14+10 is Ahinavavasanatasiri or Abhinavavasantaśrī (SC. VI 87; Rāj. 105; Ch. VI 20, 89). Once $(12\ 9\ c)$ the middle Gaṇa is Jagaṇa.

The even Pādas are divisible as 6+4 or 4+4+2. A long is eschewed for the 2+3, moras and the 6+7, moras. If the scheme 4+4+2 is adopted, the second four-moraic Gana always ends in a long except once (10 9b). The end is either two shorts or a long.

This Ghatta is also found in RC. 43.

Irregularities: 149d. Two moras too many. Perhaps sire is superfluous.

(10). Scheme. $13 \div 15$.

Occurrence. 8., 11., 19. (21., 50., 79.) Sandhis. In 212 cases out of 232, the Pādas end in vvc. which show a strong tendency to be preceded by a long, especially in the odd Pādas. These are identical in structure with the odd Pādas of the Dohā. 1 a, c, 1 9 c, 2 9c, 5 11 a, c in the 8. Sandhi (and 12 9 a b in the 21. Sandhi) have a trochaic end.

The even Pādas are identical in structure with a Pāraņakapāda (SC. VII 59, Rāj., 170; Ch. VI 29) divisible as 4 + 4 + 4 + 3. The alternative scheme 6 + 4 + 5 is violated by 11 5 9d, 19 1 10d, 19 7 11 b, d, 19 8 10 b, d. Jagana is rare in the 1, and 3. Gana. The end is - v, in 11 1 b, d, 11 1 9 b, d. RC. 24., 67. have this Ghatta. The Ghattas of MP. 49 have the scheme 13 -- 15 but there the even Pādas are different. They end in — t.

Irregularities: 11 4 9 d. One mora too Emendation. Read sayāim for sayaim. 13 3 10 c. Two moras too many. jaya- in the opening appears to be redundant. (11). Scheme. 13 + 16.

Occurrence. 6. (28., 51., 57., 76., 86.) Sandhi. 6 15 9 b, d (28 2 9 b, d, 28 4 9 b, d, 28 8 9 b, d, 28 8 11 b, d) end in a long and hence they cannot yield more than 16 moras 6 14 9 b, d (28 3 9 b, d, 28 9 11 b, d) have actually 15 moras and so even after counting the short end syllable as long, they cannot be made to contain more than 16 moras.

The odd Pādas are built up like the odd Pādas of the Dohā and have the same structure as the 13-moraic Pada in Nos. 9 and 10. The even Pādas have the scheme 6 + 4 + 4 + 2. Jagaņa is permitted in the 2. Gana, eschewed in the 3. Gana which as a rule ends in a long. The last Gana is mostly "v. casually - . Thus the Pādas are identical in structure with a Vadanaka-pāda (SC. IV 29; Rāj. 16; Ch. V 28) or a Samkulaka-pāda (SC. VI 160', Rāj. 172; Ch. V 28 Com). The Ghattās of RC. 14., 19., 29., 32., 35., 39., 41., 48., 58., 79.; MP. 13., 17., 20., 22., 26., and of Nāy. 9. are composed in this metre.

In 6 4 9 b, d, 6 6 9 b, d, 6 14 9 b, d (28 3 9 b, d, 28 9 11 b, d) the end syllables should be regarded as long.

(12). Scheme, 14 + 13.

Occurrence. 13. (44., 49., 56., 61., 67., 83., 84., 90.) Sandhis.

The odd Padas have the same structure as the 14-moraic Padas in No. 7, i.e., 14 moras, divisible at 4+4+4+2, Jagana permissible in the 2. Gana, but eschewed in the 1. and the 4., the last Gana having generally the form u.v. which is mostly preceded by a long. The even Pādas have the structure of the odd Pādas of the Dohā. 1 10 b, d, 12 10 b, d end in — t instead of the usual trut. RC. 9., 15, 42., 47., 49., 69., 72., 84., 91 have this Ghattā.

If the measure is taken to be theoretically as 15 + 14 the metre would be Anangalalita (SC. VI 136; Raj. 148; Ch. VI 20, 109). The illustration in Ch. is similar in structure to our stanzas. Irregularities. In 13 6 10 a one mora is too many. while in 13 8 10 c one mora is too few.

(13). Scheme. 14 + 12. Occurrence. 10. Sandhi.

The odd Pādas have the same structure as the 15-moraic Pāda in No. 10. It is not different from a Pāranakapāda. The Gana scheme is 4+4+4+3. Jagana is absent in the 1. Gana, rare in the 3., permitted in the 2. The end is generally $u \cup u$, once (558c) - u.

The even Pādas are constructed on the scheme 6+4+2 i.e. the scheme of the odd Padas of the Doha less by the final short. The end is always u u. The form u u — is preferred in the 2. Gana.

If the end syllables are regarded as long, the scheme would be 16 + 13, which is called Rāahamsa or Rājahamsa (SC. VI 131: Raj. 143; Ch. VI 20, 107). This is one of the favourite Ghattas of Mp. It occurs in 6., 16., 18., 23., 28., 30., 35., 37., 38., 41., 43., 46., 54., 70., 73., 90., 92., 100. and 102. Sandhis.

(14). Scheme. 15 moras per Pāda.

Occurrence 9. 18. (27., 48., 74.) Sandhis. This is Pāraņaka treated at SC. VI 159; Rāj. 170; Ch. VI 29. The illustrative stanza in Ch. shows that the end syllables need not be counted as long. This is the same as the third principal metre employed to build up the main body of the Kadavaka. For its detailed treatment see below. 9 3 9a, 9 5 8d, 9 13 9c, 9 14 9 c, 18 2 9c, and 18 7 9d have a long in the place of the 10. and the 11. mora together and hence they violate the scheme 6 + 4 + 5. The alternative scheme of 4 + 4 + 4 + 3 is satisfied by all the Padas. This Ghattā is also found in RC. 26., 98., MP. 32., 88. and Nay. 5 1 9 1 a, b and 18 12 9 end in a trochee.

3) Şatpadīs.

The rhyme scheme in the Satpadi is: a rhyming with b, d with (15) Scheme, 6 + 6 + 12) theoretically 7 + 7 + 13).

Occurrence, 3. Sandhi.

The opening stanza of the 3. Sandhi is found in a corrupt form' at SC. VIII 17 as an illustration of Chaddania V. Its definition given by SC. VIII 16" is not clear, because of the corrupt and confused character of the text. The rhyme-scheme shows it to be a Satpadi, while the stanza appears to refer to four Padas only. The 3. and the 6. Padas also are of unequal length. Hence the reference is of little value for us.

Again SC. V 5 cites in a corrupt form the Ghatta of the 3. Kadavaka of the same Sandhi as an illustration of the fourth variety of the Şatpada-jāti Dhruvaka, whose measure is to be

⁽¹⁾ tihuanaguru tam gaa guru, mellavi jhinakasaaum/

(2) padhama-pae, vidia-pae, taia-pae, a tehim thiā/ekkakkau, cha-ganu kau, vennim saala turie samthiā/and the Ghattas of the same Sandhi are composed in the same 7 + 7 + 13. Now normally the commencing stanza of a Sandhi metre and if we examine these in the case of the 3. Sandhi, we find the same thing. Still according to SC. we have to understand that the metre of the opening stanza of the 3. Sandhi is Chandania V, while the metre of the Ghatta of the 3. Kadavaka (and hence possibly of all the Ghattas) of the same Sandhi is the fourth variety of the Satpada-jati. The reason for such difference in nomenclatures is not clear.

Actually the 1., 2., 4. and 5. Padas in the Ghattas of the 3. Sandhi contain 6 moras. But from the treatment of the Ap. prosody by Svayambhū and others, we gather that in the case of the Dvipadīs, Catuspadis and Satpadīs, the shortest Pāda cannot contain less than 7 moras. Hence we have to take the short end syllables of all the Pādas of the Ghattās in the 3. Sandhi as long.

All the Pādas actually end in $v \cdot v$. The form v - v is not found for the first four moras of the six-moraic Padas. The 3. and the 6. Pādas have the scheme 6 + 4 + vv. Jagaņa is not used in the four-moraic Gana. The 1 Gana does not show preference for any particular form.

This Şatpadī occurs also in the Ghattas of MP. 5., 32., Jas. 2. (16). Scheme. 8 + 8 + 14 (theoretically 9 + 9 + 15).

Occurrence. 14. Sandhi.

SC. V 9 cites in a somewhat corrupt form the Ghatta of the 7, Kadavaka of this Sandhi as an illustration of the sixth variety of the Satpada Avajāti, having the scheme 9 + 9 + 15. The Avajatis are required by definition' to contain nine moras in their 1. 2., 4. and 5. Padas. Hence in the present Ghattas the short end syllables are to be regarded as long. But in the case of 14 2 c, d, e, f this arrangement does not work, since all these Pādas end in a long and have 14, 8, 8 and 14 moras respectively. Here we have to suppose that either their final long -i's have resulted from original -iya's through modernization of the text or that in this one Ghatta an allied metre-5th variety of Satpada Avajāti is employed.

The 8-moraic Pādas are divisible as 4+4 except in 6 9b which the form -v-vvv. Jagana is not used in these fourhas the form $-\mathbf{v} - \mathbf{v} + \mathbf{v} +$ moraic Ganas. The form of the second Gana is -(or UVU. The 14moraic Pādas have the scheme 4+4+4+vv. Only the 2. Gana can be Jagaṇa. The 3. Gaṇa prefers the form u v --.

7 9 d one mora too many. Irregularities. SC. V 9 reads vegge for veggena (P.S.) or vegena (A) If vegge is adopted the metre is rectified.

Occurrence. 15. Sandhi.

Svayambhū and Hemacandra while describing the Satpadī Ghattā treat only their three types, viz. Jāti, Upajāti and Avajāti with the respective schemes 7+7+10 to 17,8+8+10 to 17 and 9+9+10 to 17. But as Hemacandra makes it clear, many other varieties of the Satpadi Dhruva having all equal, partly equal or all unequal Padas containing from seven to seventeen moras were employed. The commentary of the Kavidarpana too echoes these words' The Kavidarpana specially mentions' the varieties 10 + 8 + 13, 12 + 8 + 13, 8 + 8 + 11, 10 + 8 + 11, 12 + 8 + 11 and 12 + 8 + 12. Svayambhū also gives 10 + 8 + 13 as the measure of the Chaddania VII and gives 12 + 8 + 13 and 12 + 8 + 11as its variations".

In most of the Ghattas of the 15. Sandhi the Şatpadī that is employed has actually the scheme 8+6+12, but as the theory does not recognize a Pada of less than seven moras, the scheme is to be regarded as being 9+7+13, by counting the short end syllables as long. Such a Satpadi is to be considered like those mentioned above.

The Ghattas of the 1., 2. and 3. Kadavakas have the scheme 8+8+12, theoretically 9+9+13. This is fourth variety of the Şatpada Avajāti (SC. V 8).

The 8-moraic Pada has the scheme 4+-(or uu)uu. The form - uvis preferred in the first Gana. The 6-moraic Pada shows preference for the form UU - UU. The end is always UU. The 12-moraic Pada is divisible as 6+4+vv, wherein in the 2. Gana is never v-vRC. 70 has 8+6+12 for its Ghattas.

Irregularities. 2 9e. Two moras too few in the open-If the scheme is 8+6+12 then 2 9b is to be regarded as having two moras too many and the irregularity can be removed by dropping tani. 6 8b and 11 9b have two moras too many. Dropping so sets the metre right.

(19). Scheme.

9+7+12. 12. Sandhì. Occurrence.

If the short end syllables are regarded as long the scheme would be 10+8+13. But No. 20 below with the actual scheme 10+8+13 is regarded so by Svayambhū himself, and the difference between the structures of No. 19. and 20. is patent. 5 14d with the opening - v - v would not allow us to constitute the 1. Gana with four moras. Therefore the scheme of the Ghattas of the 12. Sandhi should be 9+7+12. Hence the scheme of the 9-moraic Pāda is 6+UUU. Only once, in 6 9d, the end is - U. The 7-moraic Pada is divisible as 4 + uvv. The 1. Gana avoids the form u-v. It has a tendency to end in a long. 6 9e exceptionally has -u for the end. The 12-moraic Pada has the grouping 6-44 "". The 2. Gana avoids U-U. UU- is its usual form. This Ghatta occurs also in MP. 25., 52., 55. and in Nay. 2.

Irregularities. 2 9e. One mora too many. Emendation. -ijhada should be read as -jhada.

Occurrence 17., 20. (31., 37., 40., 52., 58.) Sandhis. This is Chaddania VII defined at SC. VIII 20 as dasa-kala-pari-vaddhahe, attha-nivaddhahe, teraha-kala sambhāviahe |

To illustrate this, SC. VIII 21 cites the opening stanza of the 31. Sandhi of PC. Thus in the present case the theory also does not require to count the short end syllables as long.

This particular variety of the Satpadi seems to have become very popular. Poems in Late Apabhramsa have this Satpadī as their standard Ghatta metre and hence it is understandable why it has received the designation Ghattaa (the Ghatta metre par excellence) in some late works on Ap. prosody'. The Kavidarpana mentions' this first among the six Satpadis treated. Compare also the Dvipadī called Chaddanikā (incorrect for Chaddanikā) treated at Ch. VII 17 having 31 moras per Pāda with caesura after the 10. and the 18. mora.

The Gapa schemes of these Padas are 4+4+ uu or 6+ uuuu (=10), 4+-(oruv)vv(=8), 6+4+vvv(=13). In general the same remarks apply to the structures of these Padas as have been made regarding equivalent Padas in Nos. 6, 17 and 18. In 17 1 10d, e, 17 5 10d, e, 17 14 9a, b, 17 16 9a, b, d, e, 20 7 9a, b, d, e, 20 9 9a, b, d, e, 20 11 9a, the end syllable is actually long. Jagana casually appears in the 2. Gana of the 13-moraic Pada, which four times (17 10 10 c, f, 20 8 9 c, f) ends in - v. This Ghattā appears also in RC. 30., 52., 53., 74., 89., MP. 40., 44., 71., 78.; Jas. 1, 4; Nāy. 8. (21). Scheme. 12+8+12.

4. Sandhi. Occurrence.

In 29 d, e, 39 a, b, d, e, 49 c, f, 59 a, b, 89 d, e, 99 d, e, 119 d, e the end syllable is long. This would present a strong obstacle against taking the scheme to be 13-18-13 in theory.

This Satpadī appears to be a variation of the Chaddania VII. Though SC. does not know of any Satpadi with the measure 12+8+12, we can infer it from the other two variations of the Chaddania VII, viz. 12+8+13 and 12+8+11, given at SC. VIII 22, Kavidarpana II 30 includes the present variety.

The 1., 3., 4. and 6. Pādas have the same structure and the remarks made in connection with the 12-moraic Pāda in Nos. 15, 17, 18 and 19 are equally applicable here. Similarly for the structure of the 8-moraic Pada refer to its description in Nos. 17, 18 and 20.

This Ghatta is also met with in RC. 3, 33, 50, 71; MP. 1.

C. Metres employed in the main body of the Kadavaka

They fall in two main divisions: (1) The Principal or Standard Metres employed throughout the epic, and (2) variation metres, employed in individual Kadavakas or some time throughout a Sandhi to break the monotony.

The Standard Metres.

Jacobi" and Alsdorf' on the strength of a statement in Ch. hold that only four metres were recognised by Ap. prosodists as the principal metres of the Apabhramsa epic and accordingly Alsdorf attempts to support this view from the actual practice in Ap, literature.

See the Chandahkośa (Velankar, 1923), 43, and Prākṛta-paingala, I 99.

⁽⁴⁾ Alsdorf, 1936, 184-185.

Let us examine Hemacandra's remarks in question. Having dealt with the Apabhramsa metres in general in the fifth Chapter of his Chandonusarana, Hemacandra devotes the next two chapters to the treatment of the various metres used in constructing the Apepic. The opening Sūtra of the fifth chapter defines the Dhruvā or Ghattā. That Sūtra with its commentary reads thus:

Sandhyādau Kadavakānte ca dhruvam syād iti Dhruvā Dhruvakam Ghattā vā.

Com. Kadavaka-samūhātmakah Sandhis tasyādau, caturbhih Paddhadikādyais chandobhih Kadavakam, tasyānte dhruvam niscitam syād iti Dhruvā, Dhruvakam, Ghattā veti samjñāntaram.

Here in the commentary first the term Sandhi is defined. It is followed by the definition of the term Kadavaka. In this the word caturbhih can be taken as applying to Paddhadikādyaih, or alternatively Paddhadikādyaih and caturbhih both can be taken as qualifying chandobhih. Jacobi and Alsdorf have understood the definition in the first sense and hence they take it to mean that a Kadavaka is composed in any one of those four metres, one of which is the Paddhadikā. In other words according to these eminent scholars the above-quoted definition of the Kadavaka lays down that only four (Paddhadikā and some other three) metres are to be employed in composing a Kadavaka. Thus the purpose of the statement caturbhih etc. is, they think, to prescribe which metres are to be used in a Kadavaka. This interpretation of the sentence in question makes Alsdorf, inspite of some difficulties, to set up the Paddhadikā, Adillā, Pādākulaka and a Pāraṇaka-like metre as the four principal metres of the Ap. epic.

There are, however, several prima facie considerations which go against such an interpretation of the words in Ch-In explaining the other terms Sandhi and Dhruvā, Hemacandra has given particulars that are peculiar from the point of view of structure or position and there is no reference to metrical form. Thus Sandhi is defined as made up of a group of Kadavakas, and Dhruvā as that which appears without fail at the end of a Kadavaka. Accordingly it would lead us to expect that the explanation of Kadavaka also would concern itself with pointing out something that is peculiar to its structure or position and not to its metrical form. Moreover it would be rather strange that in such an important point Hemeandra considered the cryptic mention Paddhadikādyaih sufficient. The ground of familiarity can hardly account for such brevity, because the other terms Sandhi and Kadavaka were far more familiar and yet they have been expressly defined.

It is from two other works on Ap. prosody that these first considerations get a decisive support in favour of the alternative interpretation, suggested above, according to which the expressions caturbhih and Paddhadikādyaih both qualify Chandobhih and the whole definition means that a Kadavaka is made up of four stanzas of the Paddhadikā or other such metres. The Svayambhūcchandas, which, as we have already seen, served as a source for Ch. has the following lines on the structure of the Ap. epic.

Paddhadiā puņu je-i karenti, te soda(la)ha-mattau Pau dharenti | vihi Paahim jamau te nimmaanti, Kadavaa(u) atthahim jamaahim raanti/

āihim puņu Ghatta samāmaņanti, Jamaāvasāņa(e) Chaddaņi bhananti samkhā-nivaddha-kadavehim Samdhi, iha vivaha-paārahi tuhum vi vandhi/SC. VIII 30-31.

'Those that compose in the Paddhadika, bring forth a Pada (i.e. Pāda) of sixteen moras. They construct a Yamaka with two Padas (i.e. Pādas) and a Kadavaka with eight Yamakas. For the beginning they lay down Ghatta and say Chaddani at the end of the Yamakas. A Sandhi is (composed) with a limited number of Kadavakas. So you compose it in a variety of modes'. Here a Kadavaka is said to consist of eight Yamakas, i.e. sixteen Padas, equivalent to four four-lined stanzas.

The Kavidarpana' says the same thing in words that would remind us of Hemacandra's definition. It observes:

Pajjhadiyāi-caukkam Kadavam, tāņam Gaņo Sandhi.

Com. Pajjhatikādi-chandāmsi catvāri Kadavam". Ādi sabdād Vadanādi-parigrahah. Teṣām Kadavakānām gaṇaḥ Sandhi-samjñaḥ.

Here Pajjhadiāi-caukkam is predicted of Kadavam and this leaves no doubt as to the meaning. Here as also in Hemacandra's definition chandas means 'a stanza', 'a unit of four lines' and not 'a metre'. In the first chapter of Ch. while dealing with terminology, Hemacandra has used this term in this technical sense.

turyāmsah pādo 'visese/

Com. Chandasas caturtho bhagah pada-samiñah, avisese samanyabhidhäne.

Chandas here clearly means 'a stanza' of four lines.

And this definition of the Kadavaka is born out by the practice of early Ap. epic poets like Svayambhú in whose works the normal length of a Kadavaka does not exceed eight couplets. But after Svayambhū this convention has become slack and in the compositions of Puspadanta and other poets, the Kadavaka tends to become longer than 16 lines3.

Thus Hemacandra does not say anything as to how many metres are permitted to be used in the body of the Kadavaka.

There are three metres which principally appear in the Kadavakas of PC. I-XX, viz., Paddhadika, Vadanaka and Paranaka. The first two are 16-moraic, the last one 15-moraic.

(22). Paddhadikā.

The Tippana on the word Sayambhū in Mahāpurāna 1 9 5 describes him as Pāmthadi (corrupt for Pāddhadī= Paddhadiā)-baddha-Rāmāyana-kartā, Apalisamghīyah. Thus Svayambhū's Rāmayana or Paiimacariu was known as a poem composed in the Paddh-

Velankar, 1935-1936, 49, 51.
 The Chandahkandali quoted by the Com. of the Kavidarpana (p. 39) has the following: Paddhadiyāihim cauhim puna kadavam.
 The difference in the definitions of the Kadavaka as given by Svayambhū on one hand and Hemacandra and others on the other is significant. The former takes a rhyming distich as a unit and hence gives eight distichs as the measure of the Kadavaka, while the latter take a stanza of four lines as the unit and accordingly lay down four stanzas as the standard length of the Kadavaka. But the rhyme scheme in the Kadavaka bears out Svayambhū's view. Only in some late Ap. works, wherein all restrictions as to the length of the Kadavaka appear to have been given up, it is divided in four lined stanzas. But even then the rhyming being confined to two successive lines, no organic connection obtains between the pairs constituting a stanza. Only when fresh material comes to light the difference can be explained.

diā metre. Svayambhū himself says' in the beginning of his Ritthanemicariu that Caturmukha gave him the Paddhadiā 'studded' with the Chaddani, Duvaa and Dhuvaa. Thus Paddhadiā appears to be the outstanding metre in Svayambhū's epics.

Not only that, for the Ap. epic in general too the Paddhadia has an importance second to none and comparable to that of the Anustubh in the Sk. epics. Nevertheless, not a single Ap. metrician has described it in any systematic or thorough manner on the other hand there prevails considerable confusion regarding the meaning, structure and function of Paddhadia. All that we gather from what is said on this point by Svayambhū, the earliest authority, directly or as obiter dicta is collected below:

In the eight chapter of SC. dealing mainly with the form and structure of the Ap. Sandhibandha and Rāsābandha, first we are informed that there are seven types of the Chaddania, three types of the Ghatta, many types of the Paddhadia and different types of the Gīti. From this it is clear that here the term Paddhadiā stands not for one particular metre, but a class of metres. In the succeeding portion of the same chapter of SC. these varieties of the Chaddania etc. are described. SC. VIII 30-34 are devoted to the description of the Paddhadia. But the information we gather from that passage rather gives an idea of the structure of a Kadavaka. It does little to enlighten us on the anekavidhatva of the Paddhadia. states: if one undertakes to compose in the Paddhadia, he should construct a Kadavaka with eight Yamakas (rhyming distichs), each of which is made up of two Padas of 16 moras each. should be the Ghatta and the Chaddania in the beginning and end respectively of the group of the Yamakas. A Sandhi is to consist of a limited number of such Kadavakas. Various other Ghattas, Chaddanīs, Vidārikās and Dhavalas also can be employed. This gives us an idea of where and how the Paddhadia is employed. It also suggests that a Paddhadiā-pāda is 16-moraic. But nothing is said regarding the structure of these 16 moras or the different varieties of the Paddhadiā. But we get some results by examining the structures of the lines in these definition stanzas (SC. VIII 30-33) which are also intended to illustrate the Paddhadia, evidently in one of its varieties. The 16 moras are divisible into four groups of four moras each, the form of the last four-moraic Gana being — without fail. This is supported by SC. VIII 41-44 given to illustrate the Paddhadiā which is said by SC. VIII 35 to appear along with some other metres in the beginning of a Sandhi. At another place in SC. VIII 4a, the Paddhadia" is included among the metres that are preferentially employed in the Rāsābandha. Lastly Paddhadiā occurs at SC. VII 160 cd as the name of a Sarvasamā Catuspadī Dhruvā having 16 moras per Pāda which are divisible as 4+4+4. The lines containing this definition end in UU-

From these pieces of information we can gather that like the terms Chaddania, Ghatta, Dhruvaka, Vastuka, the term Paddhadia also had two applications. It was the name given to the group of metres containing 16 moras per Pada and employed in the Ap. epic called in all probability the Sandhibandha. Besides it was the name of a particular metre having the form 4+4+4+v-v. It is likely that as in the case of the other terms mentioned above, the development of the application may have been from the general to the particular. In other words because the metre with the form 4+4+4 user was fondly employed in the Sandhibandha that alone came to be called the Paddhadika. From the remarks adi śabdād Vadanādi parigrahah of the com. of the Kavidarpana, we know that over and above the Paddhadika, Vadanaka and some other metre or metres were used for the main body of the Ap. epic, and this finds support from the actual practice as evidenced by the works of Svayambhū, Tribhuvana, Puspadanta and others.

Occurrence 1 (4-11, 13., 15.-16. Kadavakas), 3. (13. Kadavaka) 4., 7., 10., 13., 16., 18. Sandhis.

Seven out of the twenty Sandhis or, on a different count, 91 out of a total of 285 Kadavakas are composed in this metre. Its normal form is +4+4+4 U U, Jagana being permitted in the 1., 3. For a systematic treatment of this metre see Alsdorf, 1928, 73; 1936, 190; Jacobi, 1918,* 48; Bhayani, 1945, 56-57. The 1. Gana enjoys great freedom of form, though -ut finds a preference (about 60 p.c.). As contrasted with this the 3. Gana has the form UU-(OPUUUU) in about 70 p.c. of the cases. Accordingly in the case of the Paddhadias of PC., Alsdorf's results that the Paddhadia is a metre of anapaestic basic character and that its 3. Gana is built up similarly to the first shall have to be modified. In the 2. Gana the form -- UU is the least preferred (about 12 p.c.), while UU a relative majority. This presents a contrast with the 1. Gana. The end is rarely U,UUU (about 5 p.c.)

(23). Vadanaka.

Occurrence. 1. (2., 12., 14. Kadavakas), 2., 3. (2., 12. Kadavakas), 5. (1-5., 7-16. Kadavakas) 8., 11., 14., 17. (1., 7., 9., 11., 13., 15., 18. Kadavakas), 20. Sandhis,

This metre is found in eight whole Sandhis out of a total of twenty, or in 112 Kadavakas out of 285 in all. It is defined by most of the Pk. metricians. For its discussion, see Jacobi 1918, *47 Alsdorf, 1928, 76; 1936, 191; Shahidullah, 1928, 63; Bhayani 1945, 50.

Though Hemacandra has expressly given the designation Vadanaka, and though Adila is the name given to a special form of the Vadanaka, yet Jacobi and Alsdorf, following perhaps the 'Bardic group' of metricians accept the name Adila for our metre. But from SC. IV 32 and the Kavidarpana II 21 it is quite clear that the metre should be named Vadanaka, it being called Adila only when it has got Yamakas.

6+4+4+2 is the general scheme of the Vadanaka. A sample analysis indicates that in the 1. Gana froms - tv- and tvvvvoccur more frequently, and generally the forms with two shorts in the middle are preferred. U-U and have the smallest frequency. In the 2. Gana one third of the total number of cases are v .vv v. The form vv vv enjoys he preference (about 42 p.c.). - U U is the least preferred form. The commonest form of the 3. Gana is UU - (about 69 p.c.). Next comes -- (about 25 p.c.). uv occurs rarely. The 4. Gana is usually vv, only about 18 p.c. cases are -.

These results are in agreement with those obtained in the case of the Samdesarasaka stanzas, while they are at divergence with Alsdorf's findings concerning the Vadanaka stanzas in the Harivamsapurana, wherein uvu-v is frequent in the 1. Gana. The Samkulaka described as a Samacatuspadī (scheme 6 + 4 + 4 + 2) at SC., VI 160; Raj. 172; Ch. V. 28 Com. It seems to be the same as the Vadanaka, except that it ends in -, not in UU. The famous Hindi epic Ramacaritamanasa of Tulsidas is composed in this metre; the last two shorts of our metre appear there contracted as a rule into a long. It has come to be known as Copai or Caupai in the early vernacular literature.

(24). Pāranaka.

Occurrence. 1. (1., 3. Kadavakas), 5. (6. Kadavaka), 6., 9.

(1., 11., 13.-14. Kadavakas), 12., 15., 19. Sandhis.

It is employed in five whole out of twenty Sandhis, or in 77 out of 285 Kadavakas. It is a 15-moraic metre. Its structure is identical with that of the Paddhadikā except that the last Gana has the form was instead of www. In other words omitting the first short and preferring UU for the middle of the last Gana of the Paddhadikā gives the Pāraṇaka. Everything else said in connection with the structure of the Paddhadikā applies in principle to the Paranaka. The form - v in the last Gana is very rare-

The Paranaka is described among the Samacatuspadi Dhruvas along with the Pādākulaka, Samkulaka and Paddhadikā by SC. VI 159 (Aranaa is a blunder for Pāranaka); Rāj. 170, Ch. VI 29. Though it is described here as a Catuspadī, like the Paddhadikā it is used as a Dvipadī in the Kadavaka. Svayambhū gives two Gaṇa-schemes for the Pāraṇaka: 4+4+4+3 or 6+4+5.

The latter is not applicable to our lines.

The use of a 15-moraic metre in constructing the Kadavakas may appear as going against the above-quoted general statement of Svayambhū (SC. VIII 30) that a 16-moraic metre is to be employed for building up the Kadavaka. But difference between the Paddhadia and the Paranaka is slight and the latter can be well looked upon as a modified form or variation of the former. It is characteristic of the Apabhramsa prosodists that such an important metre is not described independently. It is noticed along with a host of other metres among the Samacatuspadi Dhruvas.

The Variation 2. Métres.

For the sake of variation, a Kadavaka here and there is composed in a non-Paddhadikā type of metre, or occasionally throughsavve pannāraha-mattaā, ta(i)ca-taāra-sahjuttaā'havā/cha-ca-pa-ganehim sambaddhaā, [P]āranaassa ime pāaā//

 In old Gujarati verse literature a 15-moraic metre is very popularly used for building up the frame of the narrative. But it is devised from the Vadanaka by omitting its last mora, and hence is different from the Pāranaka. It is known as copāi and is described by the Chandahkoša (41; cf. also 20) under the name I aghvenaña. the name Laghucopāi.

out a whole Sandhi different fancy metres are used to break the monotony of the narrative frame. Many Varnavrttas of the Sk. prosody—especially those characterized by a recurrent structural unit—are employed for this purpose. The language of all such passages in the Varnavrttas is more or less Prakritized. This practice of the Ap. epic poets is obviously based upon the similar practice found in Sk. Mahākāvyas.

Four such variation metres are found in PC. I-XX.

(25). Madanávatára.

Scheme.
$$5 + 5 + 5 + 5 (= 20)$$
. Occurrence. III 1, IX 12.

For other metrical authorities see Bhayani, 1945, 58-59.

The Madanāvatāra is several times used in MP. and appears to be a favourite of the post-tenth century Ap. poets. It is found in Devacandrasūri's Sulasakkhāņu (2. Kadavaka), Jayadevamuni's Bhāvanāsandhi (2., 4., 6. Kadavaka), Nemināthadvātrimsika (almost throughout) etc.

(26). Scheme. a.
$$4 + v - (\text{or } vv)v \ (= 8)$$
b. $4 + 4 + 4 + v - (\text{or } vv)v \ (= 16)$.
Occurrence. XVII 8.

Technically the metre is of the Antarasamā Catuṣpadī type. But a rhymed distich being the unit of the Kadavaka it appears in a two lined form with the rhyme scheme a/b that is usual in the Kadavaka.

The first Gapa of the 8-moraic Pāda avoids v-v. Hence the odd Pāda corresponds with the Pādas of the Dvipadī Candralekhā' (4 + $v-(or\,vv)\,v$) described by Hemacandra.

The even Pāda is that of the Paddhaḍiā. It can be easily seen that the odd Pāda is identical in structure with the last eight moras of the Paddhaḍiā-pāda. Looked at in this way the metre in question is just a combination of a truncated and a full Paddhaḍiā-pāda. The metre of MP. 13 10 is just the reverse of ours. There a is equivalent to our b and vice versa.

(27) Vilāsinī.

Scheme.
$$3 + 3 + 4 + 3 + v - (= 16)$$
. Occurrence. XVII 12 (XLVI 2).

All the lines satisfy the schemes of Vilāsinī' and Bhūṣaṇā Galitaka' (5+5+3+v-). So the structure cannot tell us which of the two is the metre employed in the present case. But in RC. 71 2 it is called Vilāsiṇī-chanda and Vilāsinī belongs to that group of Ap. metres including the Helä, Avali, Mañjari, Dvipadi, Racitā etc. which is treated together at Ch. IV 57-66. This decides in favour of the Vilāsini.

A caesura is definitely felt after the 8. mora. This fact as also the general swing of the metre makes it closely allied to that metre which is used in the famous $Gopik\bar{a}$ -Gita of the $Bh\bar{a}gavata$ - $pur\bar{a}na$ and which is known as Lalita in the Gujarati prosody. The general pattern of our metre is -u-u-/-u-u, wherein all the heavy syllables except the last one are replaceable by two light syllables. This metre is similarly used in RC. 71. 2; MP. 28 27, 34 10, 40 12, 42 12, 45 9, 48 1, 86 8, 88 11. Alsdorf fails to identify it and hence thinks' it to be Pańktikā (Ch. II 108).

(28) Pramāņī.

Scheme. v— × 4. Occurrence. XVII 16.

This is a quite familiar metre of the Sk. prosody. It is defined at Chandahśāstra V 7, Jayadevacchandas V 4, Vṛttaratnākara III 18, Chandonuśāsana II 82 etc. Here it is used in the two-lined form. It is found several times in MP.

8. SYNOPSIS OF THE CONTENTS.

I Sandhi.

Introducton: the birth of Rsabha.

Homage to the twenty-four Tirthankaras (1). Metaphorical description of the Rāma story as a river—Tradition through which it was handed down—The poet introduces himself—His resolve to recount the sacred theme of the Rāma story (2). Following the convention, the poet modestly declares his ignorance regarding various branches of learning and literature (3). The Magadha country described (4). Its capital Rājagrha described (5). Srenika, the king of Magadha described (6). Mahāvīra's audience-hall on mount Vipula—A messenger informed the king of Mahāvīra's arrival (7). Going through the prescribed ceremony of homage, Srenika set out to the audience-hall—The twelve compartments of the audience-hall with their respective occupants, various types of gods, men and beasts described (8). Srenika prayed to Mahāvīra (9). Srenika wanted to know the Rāma story as known to the Jain faith. He pointed out various inconsistencies in that story as narrated in the traditions of other faiths (10). Accordingly Apostle Gautama began to narrate the Rāma story.

Situation of the Bharata country in the cosmography—Successive births of the fourteen Kulakaras (11). Their names—Marudevi, the consort of the last Kulakara Nābhi, described (12-13). The six goddesses Kīrti, Buddhi, Srī, Hrī, Dhrti, and Laksmi approached Marudevi in human form and rendered services to her—Marudevi saw a series of fourteen dreams—riches were showered from heavens for thirty fortnights (14). The fourteen dreams described—Marudevi conveyed these to her husband (15). He interpreted them as prognosticating the birth of a son destined to be a Tirthankara. In due course Rsabhadeva was born (16).

Rşabha's life-story—upto practi,sing penances.

The birth of the Jina was solemnised by the four classes of gods—Indra's throne shook and hence he started forth on the Airāvaṇa elephant (1). Kubera decorated the city of Sāketa—Indra's queen with the help of the sleep-inducing charm substituted a magic child for Rṣabha, who was made over to Indra (2). He took the child to Mount Mandara beyond the regions of constellations and seated him on a throne placed on a white slab (3). At the commencement of the ablution ceremony various gods honoured Rṣabha by displaying their skill in music, dance, drama, etc. (4). Various gods emptied water-jars over Rṣabha's head and his ceremonial bath was completed (5). Indra then adorned him with a variety of ornaments. A devotional hymn followed (6). Indra injected nectar in Rṣabha's left thumb. The child was taken back to Avodhyā. He was named Rṣabha.

He grew up rapidly (7). Once his subjects complained to him of being deprived of the means of subsistence because the Kalpavrksas disappeared. Consequently he taught them various professions and arts. He got married to Nandā, Sunandā and others. He begot one hundred sons. Bharata and Bāhubali were chief among them (8). Seeing Rṣabha immersed in wordly pleasures, Indra, with a view to awaken love of renunciation which would be beneficial for the flourish and spread of Dharma sent Nilānjanā with her span of life nearing its end, to dance before Rṣabha. While dancing, she fell dead (9). Seeing Nilānjana become suddenly lifeless, Rṣabha was struck with the ephemeral nature of the mundane glory and he resolved to renounce the world. The Lokāntika gods also exhorted him to that end, since the rebirth of religious beliefs and practices that had fallen into abeyance was eagerly awaited (10). Bharata was installed on the throne and Rṣabha went to Prayāga, where together with four thousand kings he took to the Order.

He practised all sorts of austerities (11). The other kings with him unable to endure the rigours of austerities violated their vows (12). The Heavenly Voice remonstrated with them for their unceoming conduct. But lacking fortitude for practising mortifications, they gave up austerities and founded new faiths. At this juncture there arrived Nami and Vinami, sons of Kaccha and Mahākaccha (18). They asked from Rṣabha their share in the kingdom. Coming to know of this disturbance to Rṣabha, Dharanendra appeared there. He questioned Nami and Vinami (14). They said 'when we were abroad, the kingdom was portioned of between all the sons of Rṣabha, but we were kept out of consideration'. As they were bent upon receiving their due at Rṣabha's own hands, Indra assumed Rṣabha's form and gave them the rulership of the northern and southern slopes of the mount Vijayārdha together with some miraculous powers (15).

While wandering on earth with raised hands, rich presents were offered to Rṣabha but he did not accept them. In Hastinagara, king Śreyāmsa invited him to end his fast (16). Bringing him to his residence, he worshipped him and offered sugarcane juice. As Rṣabha broke his fast, gods showered gold and jewels. On account of the exhaustless gifts then bestowed on Śreyāmsa, the day became known as Akṣayatṛtīyā (17).

III Sandhi.

Ŗşabha's life-story—upto his attaining Kevala.

Leaving Hastināgapura, Rṣabha arrived at Purimatala. There he came to the Sakaṭamukha garden rich in all sorts of flower plants and trees. In their midst stood a huge banyan tree (1). There Rṣabha practised all the vows and austerities—these recounted in the numerical order of one to eighteen—and eventually he attained Kevala (2). He came to possess thirty-four Atiśayas and eight Prātihāryas and became the supreme deity of all the three worlds (3).

Gods constructed a golden audience-hall for the Jina. The seats of various Indras shook. The lord of gods called upon all to go and pay homage to the Jina. All classes of gods with their most diverse vehicles started, as did Isanendra mounting upon the Airāvaṇa elephant in enviable pomp and glory (4-5-6). Hordes of various gods and demons arrived to the audience-hall and humbly presented themselves to the Jina (7). Indra with his retinue recited a hymn to the Jina (8). Observing the gods coming down in their aerial cars, Rṣabhasena, the ruler of Purimatāla made inquiries. He was told that Bharata's father had attained Kevala. On learning this the king went to the audience-hall and paid homage to the Jina (9). He was so much moved by the scene that he and eighty-four thousand from the rank and file, together with eighty-four born aristocrats too took to monkhood, while lacs of others made up the laity. Even gods were purified and animals forgot their inborn mutual enmity (10).

Then the Jina preached all the basic principles and tenets of the Jaina faith. Nothing in the three worlds could be unknown to him (11). The sermon had a pacifying effect on all. Before dispersing many of them committed themselves to practising various vows and austerities. The Jina left that place and went to Gangāsāgara (12). Here Bharata became the paramount lord of the whole earth and attained all-round prosperity. As his father attained Kevala, he, by the strength of his arm established his sovereignty over the whole earth (13).

IV Sandhi.

Combat between Bharata and Bāhubali—. attainment of Nirvāņa by Bāhubali and Rabha.

After completion of the round of world-conquest, when Bharata returned to his capital, the victorious discus (Cakraratna) did not enter the city, whereupon Bharata asked his ministers whether any king still remained unconquered (1). The ministers submitted: 'All are subdued except your younger brother Bāhubali, king of Potanapura, who is mighty enough to overthrow you and your army single-handed' (2). Learning this Bharata ordered his ministers: 'So arrange that either Bāhubali accepts my sovereignty or offers a battle'. The ministers went to Bāhubali and told him to serve Bharata as a feudatory. Bāhubali denounced them saying: 'As our father gave each of us his due share of territory, I am in no way indebted to Bharata. Why then should I go to him?' The ministers replied angrily: 'Even if your territory is given to you by your father, you cannot have even an inch without paying tributes to Bharata' (3-4). Bāhubali said haughtily: 'Being puffed up by world-conquest let him do his worst. As to the tributes, I will pay them tomorrow in the form of shafts, lances and javelins which would cure him of his arrogance'. Thereupon the ministers departed and told Bharata: 'Bāhubali cares a straw for you. He stands prepared for giving a fight' (5).

Bharata made enormous preparations for a march. As he started, spies informed Bāhubali, who also gave orders for a countermarch. The two armies confronted each other on the battle field (6-7). The field became a scene of reckless turmoil and destruction. Seeing this the ministers cried halt and said to Bharata and Bāhubali: 'What is the use of massacring the poor soldiers? Rather you two alone fight out, first a glance-duel, then a water-duel and lastly a bodily combat. He who is victorious in all the three duels, is to be the lord of the earth and treasures'.

The advice was accepted and Bharata and Bahubali became engaged first in a glance-duel, in which Bharata was defeated (8-9). They started the water-duel. In this also Bharata got a defeat (10). Finally they set themselves to the bodily combat. While both were trying various moves and techniques Bāhubali lifted up Bharata and his army roared for triumph. Bharata, thus rebuffed, released his cakraratna on Bāhubali but the latter being a caramadehin (i.e. destined to attain salvation during this life) it by-passed him (11). But this incident moved Bāhubali and he pondered: 'What is the use of a kingdom for the sake of which one has to kill one's brother, father or son. Better strive for salvation, which can earn eternal bliss for me'. He made over his territories to Bharata, accepted the Jina as the Master and having picked out five handfuls of hair stood with raised hands, immovable as a rock, for one year, during which creepers grew over him and he was turned into an abode of snakes and scorpions (12).

At this juncture Rṣabha halted on Kailāsa. Bharata went there to pay obeisance. He asked Rṣabha: 'Why Bāhubali does not still attain Kevala?' Rṣabha said: 'Even still he cherishes the Īrṣā-kaṣāya, thinking, "even though I have made over the earth to Bharata, why am I placing my feet thereon." Hence he fails to attain Kevala' (13). Learning this Bharata went to Bāhubali and falling at his feet said: "This earth is really yours. I am only your slave'. And immediately the four Ghātikarmans of Bāhubali were destroyed and he attained Kevala. Eight Prātihāryas appeared and the gods poured in saying: "The son of the Tīrthakara has become a Kevalin.' In the end he went to the abode of the Siddhas; so also did Rṣabha, and Bharata ruled as a sovereign in the invincible Ayodhyā (14).

V Sandhi.

The origin of the line of Demons (upto Devaraksas): Account of Ajita (the second Tirthankara) and Sagara (the second Cakravartin).

Gautama then told Srenika to listen to the origin of the lines of the Demons and Monkeys that he set out to narrate: Long after this there was born in Ayodhyā venerable Ajita as a son to Vijayā and Jitasatru of the Ikṣvāku line. His birth, marriage etc. were celebrated exactly as in the case of Rṣabha. Once while going to the Nandana park he saw a lake fanned by the breezes and with blooming lotuses (1). Seeing the same lake in the evening with its lotuses faded and lustreless, sombre thoughts of the evanascent character of life and worldly glory and pleasures possessed him. That very moment the Lokāntika gods exhorted him and together with ten thousand other persons he renounced the world (2). He broke his fast at the house of Brahmadatta, moved preaching over the earth for fourteen years, practised Sukla Dhyāna and attained Kevala. He had nine apostles and one lakh monks.

His cousin brother Sagara was at that time the Universal Monarch. Once Sagara was led away by his restive horse into a great wilderness, where at dusk, while he was removing his fatigue in a bower on the shores of a beautiful lake he was seen by Tilaka-kesa, daughter of Sulocana and sister of Sahasrāksa. She at once fell in love with Sagara (3-4). Somebody informed Sahasrāksa, who, delighted because the forecast of the soothsayers thus proved true, went personally to invite him, gave him his sister in marriage along with the gift of the Northern and Southern Ranges (of Mount Vijayārdha) (5). Along with Tilakakesā, Sagara returned to Ayodhyā.

Here Sahasrāksa in order to wreak revenge on Purņaghana who had killed his father, marched to the city of Rathanūpurucakravāla and destroyed him in battle. Purņaghana's son Toyadavāhana, escaping somehow, took shelter in the audience-hall of Jina Ajita (6). There he was comforted by Indra to whom he related his story. His enemy also pursuing him with the vow that he would kill Toyadavāhana, even if all the great gods offered him protection, entered the audience-hall. The Jina related to both of them the incidents of their previous births, whereupon they gave up their enmity.

Bhīma and Subhīma (the Demon chiefs who were present there) embraced Toyadavāhana (7) and Bhīma said: 'As you were my son in the previous birth, even now you are dear to me. Accept from me the aerial car Kāmuka, theDemoniaccharm (rākṣasī vidyā), a necklace and the impregnable and sea-girded city of Laṅkā together with the Underground Laṅkā (Pātāla Laṅkā), six-yojana in extent and having only one door. Toyadavāhana accepting these gifts entered Laṅkā in the company of his ministers and feudatories and founded a new line of Demons (8). Long after this he again went to the audience-hall of Jina Ajita, who by way of reply to Sagara's question said: 'Only one Tīrthaṅkara, Rṣabha and one Universal Monarch, Bharata had appeared previously, while twenty-two Tīrthaṅkaras and ten Universal Monarchs as also nine Baladevas, nine Vāsudevas, nine Prativāsudevas and eleven Haras will appear in future. Besides, there will be fifty-nine Purāṇas in the Jain religion'. Then Toyadavāhana, filled with religious fervour renounced the world together with one hunderd and ten Vidyādhars (9). Lankā was given to his son Mahārakşas. Ajita attained Nirvāṇa.

Once Sagara's sixty thousand sons went to Kailasa and bowed down to the twenty-four Jina shrines there, constructed by Bharata with gold and jewels. On Bhagirathi's suggestion to dig out the Ganga and encircle therewith the holy places as a protective measure, they employed the Danda-ratna to excavate the earth round the Kailasa (10). This produced such an upheaval in the region of the serpents that their lord Dharanendra threw his venomous glance on Sagara's sons and all were reduced to ashes, except two Bhima and Bhagirathi, who with heaving hearts and downcast looks returned to Saketa city. The ministers advised them to break the sad news to the king in such a manner as would not shock him to death. At the time of holding the Darbar (assembly) Sagara was pained to see not a single son present out of the sixty thousand (11). Then entered Bhima and Bhagirathi, and the king asked them the whereabouts of their brothers. The ministers in reply stressed the transitory nature of everything in the world (12). The king caught the hint and afterwards, choosing a fitting moment, Bhīma and Bhagīrathi related all that happened, whereupon the king swooned. Recovering he lost all taste in kingship and thought of immediately renouncing (13). As Bhima refused to occupy the throne, Bhagirathi was crowned king.

Here, Mahārakṣas, who had got a son Devarakṣas, once went out for water-sports surrounded by his queens, when he chanced to see a dead bee in the interior of a lotus and he reflected: 'all who are given to passion meet a similar fate' (14). While he was in such a dejected mood, there arrived a company of monks, all of whom were shining with great asceticism, learning and character and destined to attain salvation in this life (15). Delighted at this, the king requested them to introduce him into the holy Order. The monks said: 'There remain only eight days for you to live, so do what you like.' Thereupon, the king spent those eight days in penance, worship, scriptural recitation and charity and attained salvation. His son Devarakṣas ruled over Lankā (16).

VI Sandhi.

The origin of the line of Monkeys (upto Praticandra)—The account of Taditkeśa.

After a succession of sixty-four kings, the throne came to be occupied by Kirtidhavala (the names of these kings are recounted in Sanskrit prose). Once Kirtidhavala's brother-in-law Śrikantha came to Lankā with his wife and retinue. He received him with great honour. That very moment the news reached him that hostile forces had surrounded his city. Thereupon Śrikantha took a vow to overpower the enemy (1). Śrikantha's wife Kamalā explained to Kīrtidhavala: 'I am daughter of Puspottara, the king of Meghapura. Once I saw passing through the sky the aerial car of Śrikantha who was returning after bowing to the Jina shrines at Meru and immediately I was smitten with love. There and then we married. There is now no meaning in fighting and destroying each other's armies. So you send envoys to my father'. Accordingly messengers were sent to Puspottara (2). They said, 'All girls are for being given away in marriage and your daughter herself has made this choice, how then Srikantha is at fault?' Hearing these words Puspottara had no face to save. Saying: 'Girls, if not married away are a source of infamy' he returned. Thus Srikantha married Kamalāvatī.

After many days, seeing Śrīkantha eager to leave, Kīrtidhavala, with a view to avert separation from him, said: 'Why do you not stay near me? Choose for yourself any one of my numerous islands (3-4). (Kīrtidhavala's) minister advised Śrīkantha to select Monkey Island (Vānaradvīpa) which he describes. Śrīkantha made up his mind and started on the first day of Caitra(5). Śrīkantha's army entered Monkey Island, which is described (6). Sporting with monkeys and taking some with him, Śrīkantha went to the mountain Kisku, where he founded the city Kiṣkupura, which is described. Once seeing gods proceeding towards Nandīśvara Island, he also started in order to pay homage to the Jina (7). With his retinue he reached Mountain Manuśottara, but his further movement was checked. Resolving to practise severe austerities so that he can get qualified to enter Nandīśvara, he returned to his city, handed over the reins of his kingdom to his son, and became a recluse. Successively eight kings in his line took the same course.

Amaraprabha, the ninth king, flourished during the interval between the Jinas Vāsupūjya and Śreyāṃsa (8). On the occasion of his marriage with the princess of Laṅkā, somebody executed drawings of monkeys in his courtyard, seeing which the bride swooned through fear. The angry king ordered to execute those who drew monkeys. The ministers pacified him by telling, 'Since Śrikaṇṭha's time they are our family deities, cause of prosperity and the emblem for our Monkey Dynasty.' The remorseful king gave orders to mark the royal crown, the royal umbrella, banners etc., with the monkey insignia (9). Since then his line became famous as the Monkey Dynasty, which held overlordship of both the Ranges. Amarprabha's son was Kapidhvaja, Kapidhvaja's Pratibala, Pratibala's Gaganānanda, Gaganānanda's Khacarānanda, Khacarānanda's Girinandana. Girinandana's Udadhirava.

Udadhirava's friend was Taditkeśa, the king of Lanka, whose queen was once injured on breasts while they were bathing in the garden tank, whereupon he pierced the monkey with an arrow. The monkey went to a monk nearby. He heard the namokkāra from him, died, was reborn as an Udadhikumāra god and recalling his previous birth descended near Taditkeśa (10). As Taditkeśa was still revengefully killing monkeys whenever he came across one, the Udadhikumāra god created a magic army of innumerable monkeys, as huge as mountains, carrying trees fire and other weapons (11). Some of them challenged the king, who, in view of their human speech and arms, regarded them as unusual phenomena and trembling with freight humbly enquired: 'Who are you? Did I offend you? Why are you armed?' The god told him everything asking in the end either to meet the challenge or fall at his feet (12). The king bowed down to the god, who led him to the monk and showed him his dead body of the previous life. When that monk was requested to preach religion he took them to his Guru in a Jain shrine (13). On being requested to preach religion his Guru expounded the great merits of Dharma (14). Being asked by Taditkeśa, the Guru narrated, 'In your previous birth you were a monk and this god, a hunter, who laughted at you. Thereupon as you bore ill-will towards him, you attained the Jyotis heaven, instead of the Kāpistha. Thence you were reborn as the king of Lankā, while that hunter wandering in the labyrinth of transmigrations, was reborn as a monkey, who being killed by you was again born as an Udadhikumāra god.' Thereupon Taditkesa installed his son Sukesa on the throne of Lankā and renounced the world (15). The god also adopted the Jain faith. Now message was sent to Udadhirava that Taditkesa took to practising austerities, whereupon he handed over the reins of his kingdom to his son Praticandra and entered the Order (16).

Srīmālā's Svayamvara: Lost Lankā won back by Sukeśa's sons

On receiving the news that in Adityanagara on the Southern Range was to be held the Svayamvara of Śrīmālā, the beautiful daughter of Vidyāmandara and Vegavatī, Praticandra's sons Kişkindha and Andhraka went there (1). Description of the Svayamvara hall (2). Śrīmālā entered mounted on a cow-elephant. In due course she came to Kişkindha (3). She placed the garland round his neck, when Vijayasimha flared up: 'Who permitted the Monkeys to seat in the midst of the Vidyādharas? Snatch away the bride from the bridegroom and kill him.' Thereupon Andhraka challenged Vijayasimha to a fight (4), and there ensued a battle between the two parties. Sukeśa, the king of Lankā, also arrived on the scene. Vijayasimha was decapitated by Andhraka in the battle (5). The hostile forces being discomfited, Sukeśa told his ally to return to Kişkupura with Śrīmālā.

Somebody informed Aśanivega of his son's death. He surrounded Kiskupura and along with his son Vidyudvāhana challenged Kiskindha and Andhraka to a fight. A terrible battle ensued wherein Aśanivega with a sword struck Andhraka on the throat and the latter went the way of Vijayasimha (6-7). Here Kişkindha who had swooned owing to a javelin blow was brought back to his camp by Sukesa. Recovering, he enquired about Andhraka and being informed of his death again swooned. On recovery, he lamented grievously for his brother but Sukesa told him: 'There is no room for crying, with the sword hanging over the head' (8). On his advice he began to fly towards Pātālalanka. Aśanivega stopped Vidyudvāhana from pursuing the escaping foe, saying that it was against the code of honour and that they had avenged the death of Vijayasimha. Lanka was placed in charge of one Nirghata and other conquered cities also were entrusted to others (9). usurping the cities of Kiskindha and Sukesa and bringing all other Vidyadharas also under his control Asanivega once recalled the grief of Vijayasimha's death. He gave the reins of his kingdom to Sahasrāra, and devoted himself to other-wordly activities.

After a big lapse of time, Kişkindha went for pilgrimage to Mount Meru. On his way back he saw the beautiful mountain Madhu. He called his subjects there and founded a city called Kişkindhapura (10). Madhu mountain also was renamed Kişkindha. Kişkindha got two sons: Ikşurava and Sūryarava. Sukeśa's sons were Mālin, Sumālin and Mālyavat. They once proposed: 'Let us go to see king Kişkindha'. Their father said: 'All around there is danger from the enemies. How can we leave Pātālalanka. Lankā which belonged to us since Toyadavāhana, was usurped from me.' Thereupon flaring up Mālin said: 'With our kingdom lost, how can we live even for a moment? (11). One should be satisfied only when whatever he has or does is of the highest order. I take a vow to triumphantly enter Lankā tomorrow' (12). The march was ordered in the morning. With a tumultous uproar Lankā was besieged. Nirghāta, the governor of Lankā, confronted Mālin in the battle (13). In that formidable encounter Mālin killed Nirghāta with a sword. Sukeša, Mālin, Sumālin and Mālyavat entered Lankā and paid their homage at the shrine of Sānti-Jina (14).

VIII Sandhi.

Malin's battle with Indra: Malin's fall.

Mālin's sway spread over all the Vidyādhara states. At that time in the Rathanūpura city on the Southern Range, Indra, the son of Sahasrāra and Mānasasundarī established all his retinue and paraphernalia in a thorough imitation of the insignia of the celestial Indra, declaring himself to be the terrestrial Indra (1). As Mālin's feudatories left him and joined Indra, he ordered a march against the latter. Seeing ill-omens when they were setting out, Sumālin grasped Mālin's hand and drew his attention to them (2). Mālin replied that only one's fate and steadfastness were all-powerful and not the omens. And they started on their march (3). The kings on both the Ranges took refuge with Indra. Mālin's messengers asked Indra to pay tributes and avert the struggle with Mālin, the invincible, whereupon Indra said in rage: 'You are left alive because you are a messenger. Who is that king of Lankā and what is this talk of treaty? He among us who survives will become the sole lord of the earth' (4).

The messengers returned. All the generals and warriors on Indra's side got armed (5). Description of the battle (6). Fight between Mālin and Indra in which ultimately Mālin's head was severed by Indra with the discus (7-9). Thereupon seeing the Monkey and Demon forces fleeing in stampede, somebody suggested to Indra to pursue them, when Sasin requested to entrust that task to him. Being permitted he ran shouting after the escaping enemies. But Mālyavat confronted him and ridiculing him as an empty braggart struck him with a javelin. Sasin swooned and when he recovered, the enemies had cleared away (10-11). Indra entered Rathanūpura in great triumph and fell at the feet of Sahasrāra. He put Lankā in Dhanada's charge and Kisku in that of Yama and honoured others also with the gift of territory (12).

Birth of Rāvaņa, Bhānukarņa, Vibhīşana: They acquire Vidyās

Long after this Sumālin in Pātālalankā got a son Ratnāśrava, who, when grown up, went to Puṣpavana for mastering Vidyās (magic charms). At this juncture there arrived Vyomabindu, who seeing Ratnāśrava there as was forecast by his Guru, told his daughter Kaikasī that that person was destined to be her husband. Stationing her there, he retired to his hermitage. Here Ratnāśrava succeeded in mastering the Vidyās (1). Being asked by Ratnāśrava that charming damsel said: 'I am Vyomabindu's daughter Kaikasī, as yet unmarried. He has brought me here in accordance with his Guru's words. I am offered to you in marriage.' Thereupon Ratnāśrava founded there a city, called his relatives and married her.

Long after this she dreamt that a lion, after tearing open the temples of an elephant entered into her womb (2), and that the sun and the moon sat in her lap. Ratnāṣrava interpreted these dreams: 'You will give birth to three sons, the eldest of whom will be a Universal Monarch of formidable prowess.' In due course were born Rāvaṇa, Bhānukarṇa, Candranakhī and Vibhīṣaṇa. Child Rāvaṇa was precociously adventurous (3). Once while playing he entered the treasure-house and got hold of the necklace, which was handed down in the family since Toyadavāhana, which had nine gems shaped after the nine planets and which was guarded by poisonous serpents against ordinary persons. As he put it on, there appeared nine reflections of his face in the nine gems. Thenceforth Rāvaṇa came to be known as Ten-headed (Daśa-mukha) (4). His parents as also Ikṣurava. Kiṣkindha, Sūryarava and others were overjoyed by this feat of Rāvaṇa and they saw in him the highest hope and promise of their lines.

Once Rāvaņa hearing a roaring noise and seeing Vaiśravaņa pass across the sky asked his mother about him (5). She replied with down-cast looks: 'He is your cousin-brother Vaiśravaṇa, the son of Viśvāvasu and my elder sister Kauśiki. He brought infamy to us by going over to our enemies and usurped our ancestral home Lanka. When shall we regain it from him?' Vibhīṣana turning red with anger replied: 'What is this talk of Vaiśravana's fortune? Within a few days you will see even these so-called gods Yama, Kubera, Varuṇa, Indra and others as our servants' (6).

Once being permitted by .their father, the three brothers went to the terrible forest Bhimavana for mastering magic charms. The eight-syllable charm known as Sarvakāmānnarūpā ('yielding all desired foods') was mastered within two Praharas. Then they concentrated upon the sixteen-syllable charm to be mastered after ten thousand crore repeated recitations. At that juncture, the three brothers were seen by a Yakşa woman (7). Smitten with love, she offered herself to Rāvaṇa but getting no response, she struck him on the chest with the ear-lotus. Another lady said, 'Know that man to be fashioned from wood'. Failing in their intent, they informed Anavrtta Yakşa that three men having cared a straw for him were engaged in mastering magic charms (8). Full of rage he went to them and asked as to which deity was the object of their meditation. Not receiving any reply, he created numberless disturbances like serpents, lions, ghosts, fire etc. but to no avail (9). Then with the help of his magic powers he produced such an illusion that Ratnāśrava, Kaikasī, Candranakhī and other relatives, being mercilessly lashed by Mlecchas, were crying piteously for rescue and making heart-rending appeals to their sense of filial duty (10). As even then none of the three brothers was disturbed in the least, the magic forms of Ratnāśrava, Kaikasī and Candranakhī were killed and before their very eyes served to jackals and hounds. As still they were unmoved, he threw a blood-stained magic head of Rāvaņa in front of Bhānukarņa and Vibhīşana. Thereupon the latter two were slightly perturbed. When their magic heads were thrown in front of Rāvaṇa, he remained quite undisturbed. The gods cried bravo and Rāvaṇa got the mastery over one thousand magic charms (11). The names of some of the magic charms recounted (12). Bhānukarṇa was the master of five charms and Vibhīsaṇa of four. Rāvaṇa founded a city called Svayamprabha and got constructed a shrine called Sahasrasikhara. Hearing the news of Rāvaṇa's prosperity, hoards of Monkeys and Demons poured in (13). Informed by the Avalokanī charm that the on-coming hoards consisted of his friends and relatives, Rāvaṇa, surrounded by his one thousand charms as also Bhānukarṇa and Vibhīṣaṇa went forth to receive them. Ratnāśrava with his kinsmen came to the royal palace and embraced his sons with love and joy (14).

Rāvaņa's marriages: Lankā is won back.

Rāvaṇa came to possess the magic sword Candrahāsa through five-meal fasts. Once when he had been on a pilgrimage to Meru, Maya and Mārīca along with the beautiful princess Mandodarī came to Rāvaṇa's palace and being informed, on inquiry, by Candranakhī that after mastering Candrahāsa he had gone to Meru, and that he was to return shortly, they waited, when towards the dusk the earth began to shake, darkness and light appeared to play or at once it would rain, thanks to the Vidyās of Rāvaṇa, who was approaching (1). Candranakhī explained these unusual phenomena as being due to Rāvaṇa's wondrous powers.

On arriving Rāvaṇa saw Maya's tent and he was informed that two Vidyādharas, Maya and Mārīca, were waiting for an interview with him. Then he performed worship at the shrine and of a sudden he and Mandodarī happened to see each other. Seeing faultless beauty pervading every of her limbs, he felt unable to withdraw his glance from her (2-3). Divining Rāvaṇa's mind, Mārīca introduced himself and Maya as two brothers coming from their Devasamgīta City on the Southern Range and requested to immediately accept Mandodarī in marriage, it being the most auspicious moment. Rāvaṇa consenting, the marriage was celebrated and the bride and bridegroom entered the Svayamprabha city (4).

Once while he was passing by the Gandharva Tank on mount Meghadhara he was seen by the six thousand Gandharva princesses bathing there surrounded by guards. They declared their resolve not to accept as their husband any one else except Rāvaṇa (5). The guards informed Gandharva Surasundara, who together with Kamaka and Budha hastened in great rage to the scene. Seeing the huge army, the princesses dispaired. But Rāvaṇa with a smile used the sleep-inducing charm and fettered them with serpent bonds (6). Thus marrying the six thousand girls, he returned. Long after this Mandodarī gave birth to two sons, Indrajit and Ghanavāhana.

In Kumbhapura Bhanukarņa also was married. Day and night he would make trespasses in the Lankā territory. As the subjects complained, messenger Vacanālankāra was sent to warn Sumālin. He threatened: 'In spite of your hundreds of faults Vaiśravaṇa keeps calm. But if you will not check your grandson's mischief you shall have to reenter Pātālalankā. You remember Mālin's fate and the same course of events appears to be repeating. So better hand over your grandson to us as a prisoner' (7). Full of rage at this Rāvaṇa drew his Candrahāsa sword to finish the messenger on the spot, when Vibhīṣana checked him saying it was unbecoming (8). The messenger escaped with his life. Rāvaṇa and others became equipped and marched. Here on the report of the messenger the Yakṣa also made preparation and flew to Mount Guñja. The Demon forces arrived and the opposite armies closed in battle (9). Description of the battle: Vaiṣravaṇa challenged Rāvaṇa (10). Their battle described. Ultimately Rāvaṇa struck Vaiṣravaṇa who, as he swooned, was removed by his lieutenants. The Demons declared victory but Kumbhakarṇa wanted to pursue the enemy (11). Vibhīṣaṇa disuaded him. Vaiṣravaṇ's aerial car Puṣpavimāna was captured. Recalcitrant elements were punished. Rāvaṇa established himself as the overlord of hundreds of states (12).

Acquisition of a wonder elephant: defeat of Yama.

From the Puṣpavimāna Rāvaṇa saw the white Jina shrines, which, Sumālin told him, were erected by Hariṣeṇa (1). Sumālin related the episode of Hariṣeṇa—how for eight successive days Hariṣeṇa performed great exploits till in the end he came to possess the whole earth with its precious treasures (2). When Rāvaṇa halted on Mount Sammeta, a terrific noise was heard. They were roars of a marvellous elephant, which is described (3-4). Rāvaṇa undertook to tame that gigantic elephant, as to him the task was a child's play (5). With wonderful skill, strength and knowledge of the elephant lore, the elephant was tamed. One and all of Rāvaṇa's kinsmen danced for joy (6-7).

He was full with the talk of the elephant, which was named Tribhuvanālaṅkāra, when a wounded warrior arriving there gave him the news of the crushing defeat of Kiṣkindha's sons in a battle with Yama. Immediately Rāvaṇa marched to Yama's city (8). There he saw numerous inhuman instruments of torture and their wretched victims. Rāvaṇa released the convicts, threw Yama's guards in their place and destroyed the instruments of torture. The news reached Yama (9), who, veritably the death incarnate, came forth with his terror-striking and most destructive weapons (10). Fight between Yama and Rāvaṇa. Yama was worsted in the battle. He ran to Indra and declared his decision to resign his post (11-12). Thereupon Indra wanted to march on Rāvaṇa, but his minister advised him first to dispatch a messenger to him and give Surasaṅgīta city to Yama. Rāvaṇa gave Yamapurī to Ikṣurava and Kiṣkindhapurī to Sūryarava and started towards Laṅkā (13). Rāvaṇa reached Laṅkā where his installation ceremony was performed (14).

Abduction of Candranakhī by Khara and Dūşana: Rāvaņa's reversal at Vāli's hand: Vāli renounces the world.

On enquiry from Rāvaṇa as to which of the kings were hostile to him, some one told him of the mighty Vāli, the son of Sūryarava, who excelled in strength and speed all the persons in the three worlds (1), who had accepted Samyaktva and had vowed not to bend his head to anyone except the Jina. Hence his father Sūryarava fearing conflict with Rāvaṇa had renounced the world. Another person said: "The Monkeys are friends with us since Śrīkaṇtha's days. Moreover, all are heroes only so long as they have not experienced onslaught of Rāvaṇa's arms' (2).

Once when Rāvaṇa had gone to marry Tanūdarī, Khara and Dūṣaṇa abducted Candranakhī and killing Candrodara occupied Pātālalankā. The pursuing Demon forces, not finding the entrance to Pātālalankā returned. When Rāvaṇa returned, he found his household wrapped in gloom (3). On receiving the news, as he was setting out to punish Khara and Dūṣaṇa, Mandodrī dissuaded him and Maya and Mārīca were sent to celebrate Candranakshī's marriage. Khara was crowned. Candrodara's queen Anurādhā gave bith to a son Virādhita in the forest (4).

He recounted to Vali the Rāvaņa sent a messenger to Vāli. history of their family friendship and advised him to go to Ravana to pay regards (5). But Vali turned away his face and did not even listen to the messenger's words. The latter thus rebuffed rudely said: 'Either you come and salute Rāvaņa or offer battle.' Thereupon Vāli's minister gave the messenger an idea of Vāli's strength (6). Returning, the messenger gave report to Rāvaṇa, who taking a vow to cure Vali of his arrogance, marched against him (7). Vali also came out. The armies were on the verge of closing in battle, when minister Vipulamati advised them to stop the vast scale destruction that was imminent and decide the issue by a personal combat. Both consenting, the combat began (8-9). Evenfually Vali with his right hand lifted up Rāvaņa along with his aerial car. The Monkeys roared with victory. Thus curing Rāvaņa of his pride, crowning Sugrīva and advising him to serve Rāvaṇa, Vāli went to Muni Gaganacandra, practised austerities and acquired divine powers. Later on he went to Mount Aṣṭāpada and continued his sustarities there (10.11). Sugrīva marvied his sister franchhā to austerities there (10-11). Sugriva married his sister Śriprabhā to Rāvaņa. Nala and Nīla, sons of Iksurava were sent to Kiskupura. One half of Sugiva's kingdom was given to Sasikirana, the son of Dhruvā and Vāli. To Sugrīva was married Sutārā, daughter of Jvalanasikha, the king of the Northern Range, because though her hand was sued by Sahasragati, Jvalanasikha's Guru was against that match. Sahasragati consumed by the fire of separation went to a forest to acquire a magic charm. Sugrīva got two sons Anga and Angada (12).

XIII Sandhi.

Lifting of Kailāsa: Rāvaņa marches against Indra.

Having married Ratnāvali, while Rāvaņa was returning his aerial car stopped mid-way. Though urged on, the car did not proceed owing to venerable Vāli's presence down there (1). Angrily Rāvaņa descended, as Mārīca informed him that below on Kailāsa was a sage practising austerities and that his ascetic power was the cause of stopping the car (2). He descended on Kailāsa, whose description follows. Seeing Vāli there, Rāvaṇa burned with jealous anger and to take revenge of his past defeat prepared to throw Vāli together with Kailāsa into the ocean (3). With the help of the excavating charm, he raised the mountain from its roots, starting cataclysmic changes all around (4-5). Thereupon Dharanendra's seat in the nether world shook and he appeared before Vāli. As he bowed to the sage, Kailāsa was pressed downwards upon Rāvaṇa. His body was contorted like that of a tortoise. He began to vomit blood (6). He ejaculated a terrible scream. Hearing that his queens burst into cries and Mandodarī begged Vāli for her husband's life. Thereupon Dharanendra raised the mountain (7). Maimed and crippled Rāvaṇa came out, paid obeisance to Vāli, denounced his own thoughtlessness and praised Vāli's piety (8). Thence he went to worship the Jina shrines erected by Bharata. Description of the worship. Rāvaṇa sang (9). Pleased by Rāvaṇa's exquisite song Dharanendra presented him with a weapon called Amoghavijayā. After a month Rāvaṇa returned to his city. Vāli attained Kevala and eventually Nirvāṇa.

Thoughts of wreaking revenge on Indra rankled in Rāvana's heart (10). He set out with his army. Coming to Pātālalankā he was reminded of his past enmity and wanted to punish Khara and Dūṣaṇa. But being dissuaded by Maya, sent Indrajit with presents to call them (11). On their arriving, all went to Kiṣkindha city. Reinforcing the forces, they marched on. As they reached the intervening region between the Narmadā and the Vindhyas, the sun set. Description of the sun-set (12).

XIV Sandhi.

Description of the spring season: Sahasrakirana's water-sports: Description of nature in the month of Phalguna.

Spring set in (1). Description of the advent of spring season represented as a king. The Narmadā is invested with charm (2). The Narmadā described as a lady, youthful and adorned, going to meet her lover. Her beauty attracted the attention of Rāvaṇa and of Sahasrakiraṇa, the king of Māheśvara (3). The latter's heart was fascinated by the irresistible charms of spring, and he went with his harem to the Narmadā for water-sports, the riverstream being dammed up by mechanical contrivances (4). Description of their water-sports (5). Description of the water rendered multi-coloured and variegated (6). Description of the bathing queens (7). Seeing these water-sports even gods in heaven praised the blessedness of Sahasrakiraṇa (8).

Rāvaṇa also enjoying water-sports, worshipped the idol of the Jina on the bank and as he was singing chants, the blocked up waters of the Narmadā that were now released rushed forth washing away everythig on the banks. Rāvaṇa catching hold of the idol came out in great flurry and forthwith ordered his men to find out the perpetrator of such wickedness (9). Description of the Narmadā after the waters were released (10). The searching party returned full of praises for Sahasrakiraṇa's water-sports (11). Somebody talked only of the great beauty of his harem (12). Another one was much impressed by the various mechanical contrivances employed by Sahasrakiraṇa to block the river-stream and explained that this water released from their check washed away Rāvaṇa's worship. Hearing all this Rāvaṇa drew his sword (13).

XV Sandhi.

Defeat of Sahasrakirana and Nalakubara

He marched against Sahasrakiraņa. As Sahasrakiraņa was coming out from water, guards informed him of the onset of some hostile king. He took his bow and stood ready to face the army (1). He comforted his highly frightened queens by telling them to fully trust the strength of his thousand arms (2). Seeing the whole army of Demons fighting from the sky with magic weapons on one side and Sahasrakiraņa alone fighting from the earth on the other, gods denounced it as immoral. Thus shamed, the Demons came down to earth and forsook the use of magic weapons. Sahasrakiraņa fought bravely (3). Hearing that Sahasrakiraņa, though single-handed had kept the whole army at bay, Rāvaņa went forth mounted upon his elephant and destroyed Sahasrakiraņas chariot (4). Sahasrakiraņa mounting on an elephant destroyed Rāvaṇa's armour and laughed at him as a novice in archery. Enraged thereby, Rāvaṇa struck him with a lance and with a jump captured him (5). Rāvaṇa brought him as a captive to his residence.

Some Janghācāraņa sages informed Śatakara, Sahasrakiraņa's father, who was a recluse. He came to Rāvaņa (6). He asked Rāvana to release Sahasrakiraņa, as he was a caramdehin destined to get slvation during the current existence). Rāvaņa obeyed and offered Sahasrakiraņa his kingdom back. But the latter said: 'After enjoying such water-sports and such a fight with you, I find kingship tasteless. I prefer to strive for emancipation' (7). He installed his son in his place and renounced the world. As these news were communicated to Anaraņya, the king of Ayodhyā, he too with his son Anantaratha renounced the world, putting the reins of the kingdom in Daśaratha's charge.

Rāvaṇa proceeded onwards and destroying the sacrifice (of King Marutta) marched towards Magadha (8). Comforting Nārada, subduing Marut and marrying his daughter he stayed there for nine years and thence went to Magadha. He married his daughter to Madhu, the King of Mathurā, to whom Camarendra had presented Śūlāyudha. Thence he went to Kailāsa. Paying obeisance to the shrines of the Jinas, Rāvaṇa showed to his people places where Bharata and Bāhubali had attained Nirvāṇa and where being pressed down by Vālin's foot. his body was contorted (9).

Hearing the news that Rāvaṇa was nearby Nalakūbara, the governor of Durlaṅghya City of Surendra, on the advice of his minister, planted machines for defence and put the Aśālī charm round the City, which was thus rendered impregnable. Rāvaṇa's forces besieged the city (10). But they informed Rāvaṇa that such machines were planted that nobody moving within one Yojana of their range would escape alive. Rāvaṇa was very much worried by this. Here Nalakūbara's wife Uparambhā fell in love with Rāvaṇa and unable to bear separation, told her friend that only in meeting Rāvaṇa lay the fulfilment of her youth and life (11). Her friend Vicitramālā undertook to arrange the meeting. Uparambhā told her: 'In case he shows unwillingness to accept me, tempt him with the offer of the secret of the Āśālī charm and promise the Sudarśana Cakra.' Vicitramālā went to Rāvaṇa and told him that through his separation, Uparambhā was on the verge of death (12). If he accepted Uparambhā he would be the master of Āśālī, Sudarśana Cakra and Nalakūbara. At this Rāvaņa looked at Vibhīṣaṇa. The messenger went to take her bath. Vibhīṣaṇa observed, 'This is the occasion for employing strategem (13). If you are bent on success, somehow acquire Āśālī and you can still manage not to touch Uparambhā.' Agreeing with this, Rāvaṇa presented garments and ornaments to the messenger and then asking for the Āśālī charm got it (14). Now the two hostile armies fell upon each other. Vibhīṣaṇa soon captured Nalakūbara. The city as well as the Sudarśana were also captured. Uparambhā was not accepted by Rāvaṇa. Nalakūbara was thus subdued, and the kingdom was given back to him (15).

XVI Sandhi.

Indra's consultation with his ministers:
Failure of the negotations:
Rāvaņa and Indra prepare for war.

Indra's spies gave him an idea of Ravana's policy and the strength of his army (1), of how he spent his day and night according to a fixed schedule, which made provision for doing justice to all the state and private duties (2-3). As Indra did not avail any of the previous opportunities of extirpating the enemy, who had grown from strength to strength, now he had become very mighty. But Indra said: 'To have killed a boy was below my dignity' (4). Indra then proceeding to the consultation hall, where extreme secrecy was maintained, asked his ministers: 'As the enemy now appears almost invincible, what course of policy is to be followed?' Bharadvaja said: 'You act according to your best lights without consulting the counsellors.' Thereupon Viśalacaksu said: Even in chess the king does not move without the help of the minister' (5). Parāśara, Piśuna, Kauţilya, Manu and others stressed the necessity of an increasingly greater number of ministers for the successful running of the state. Eventually all expressed their opinion in favour of maintaining friendly relations with Ravana (6). So long as the expedients of conciliation, dissension or gift worked why should anybody resort to war? They pointed out various malcontents among Rāvaṇa's feudatories who provided a fruitful soil for sowing dissension. They advised, With this end in view the messenger Citrānga should be sent to Rāvaṇa's court' (7). Accordingly Citrānga was called and while Indra was giving him instructions. Nāvada informed Bāvana of Indra was giving him instructions, Nārada informed Rāvaņa of the impending arrival of extremely clever Citranga, and of the political design underlying it. He strongly advised him to reject the offer of friendship as at that moment Indra was weaker of the two. This good turn was done to him by Narada remembering Ravana's help at the time of Marutta's sacrifice (8). Narada left and Rāvaņa gave instructions to his commander-in-chief to guard the forces against spies.

Citranga came to Marīca's palace and thence was brought to Rāvaņa, who, after due ceremony inquired about the strength of Indra's forces. Citranga said, 'Indra is all powerful' (9). Rāvaņa praised him as a very clever messenger and asked the purpose of his visit. Citrănga said, 'Let friendly relations be established between Indra and you. He offers to you his daughter Rūpavatī' (10). Rāvaņa replied, 'You hand over to me all the cities on the Vijayārdha and we are friends, or prepare tomorrow for war.' Thereupon Citrānga gave him an idea of the strength of the various constituents and divisions of Indra's army and of his fortifications. Rāvaṇa said, 'If I fail to vanquish him in battle, I would throw myself in blazing fire' (11-12). These words were echoed by Indrajit. Citrānga while leaving invited them all to the feast of battle (13). Indra was informed. He made preparations for war and came forth on Airāvata (14). Strategic arrangement of Indra's forces (15).

War between Rāvaņa and Indra: Indra's defeat

On Rāvaṇa's arrival both the armies fell upon each other (1). Description of the battle (2). Seeing his army retreat under pressure from the enemies Mahendra's son Prasannakīrti rushed through the ranks of Indra's forces (3). As he was engulfed in a volley of arrows from the Gods, Śrīmālin first confronted Candra, who retreated. Yama took his place. He also beat a retreat and Kubera too after him met the same fate. Nobody could give him a stand (4). Then Kesarin, Kanaka and Agni together confronted him. But they also turned their back. When Indra's sons faced him he severed their heads. Thereupon as Indra himself was moving, Jayanta offered to go (5). Jayanta challenged Śrīmālin, who forthwith broke Jayanta's bow and destroyed his chariot. Jayanta, saved by a hair's breadth swooned, but coming to himself destroyed Śrīmālin's chariot. Śrīmālin fell unconscious but recovering fell upon Jayanta who struck him on the chest with a bolt. Śrīmālin fell dead (6-7).

Now Indrajit rushed forth with a challenge and in the duel destoryed Jayanta's armour. Before he can jump and catch hold of him Indra intervened (8). Several stalwarts gathered and surrounded lonely Indrajit. But he displayed the highest heroism. On being informed of this Rāvaṇa rushed forth in his chariot (9). At Rāvaṇa's order, the charioteer brought him near Indra and the battle raged at its climax (10). Every one sought out his match and got engaged with him in a deadly struggle (11). Description of the fighting warriors (12). Description of the battle-ground (13). Description of the fight between Rāvaṇa and Indra. Rāvaṇa mounted his elephant and again fell upon Indra (14-15). Description of the elephants of Rāvaṇa and Indra (16). Young Rāvaṇa's agility put aged Indra at a considerable disadvantage. Rāvaṇa took a jump and bound his opponent with a garment. The Demons declared victory and all the generals of Rāvaṇa's army captured their opponents. Thus taking with him hundreds of captives Rāvaṇa returned to Lankā (17). Sahasrāra, Indra's father begged for his son's life. Rāvaṇa released Indra along with his vassals on their agreeing to perform the menial services allotted to each. But Indra gave up his kingdom and renounced the world (18).

Răvaņa takes vow not to commit rape: Marriage of Pavananjaya and Anjana: Repudiation and re-acceptance of Anjana

After Indra's defeat, while Rāvaṇa was returning from a pilgrimage to the summits of Mandara, he heard a great hubbub which was explained by Mārīca as being due to gods proceeding to pay homage to Anantaratha, who had attained Kevala. Rāvaṇa went to the Kevalin and saw there all people taking some one or other of the religious vows (1). Sage Dharmaratha urged Rāvaṇa to take a vow. Rāvaṇa replied, 'I can accomplish all the feats of physical strength considered impossible, but cannot observe a vow' (2). Still thinking hard he took a vow, not to accept any woman against her wish. After this, he returned to Lankā.

Mahendra, the king of Mahendra city, seeing her daughter Añjanã coming of age, went to seek for a suitable husband for her to Mount Aṣṭāpada where hundreds of Vidyādharas were assembling on the Aṣṭāhikā festival (3). There he became friends with Prahlāda, the king of Ravipura, to whose son, Pavanañjaya, Añjanā was betrothed and the marriage ceremony was fixed to take place after two days (4). In the meanwhile Pavanañjaya became so love-lorn that his friend Prahasita noticed his sudden emaciation and asked the cause (5). He sald, 'If I do not see the face of my beloved today, I will die.' Thereupon both went at night to Añjanā's sleeping quarters and saw her from the window. Prahasita congratulated his friend for getting such a matchless beauty (6). Añjanā's friend Vasantamālā was congratulating her for getting a husband like Pavanañjaya. But another friend Miśrakeśī said, 'Before Vidyutprabha, Pavanañjaya counted for nothing.' Hearing these words Pavanañjaya raised his sword in indignation and was going to sever the heads of both the girls, when Prahasita checked him from doing anything rash. Grievous, he returned to his residence. Spending somehow that endless night, he started with his retinue in the morning. When other kings with great difficulty pursaded him, he decided that having accepted her hand, he would desert her for twelve years (7-8).

Through this long unbearable grief Anjanā became completely worn out. In the meanwhile as his messenger returned without collecting tributes from Varuna, Rāvaṇa had declared war on him (9). In the battle that ensued Varuṇa's son Rājīva and Puṇḍarika took Khara and Dūṣaṇa captive and they retired with Varuṇa to their watery castle. Lest his brothers-in-law be killed Rāvaṇa removed the siege and sent directives to the Vidyādharas of all islands. One such came to Pavaṇaṇaya and he started forthwith with his army, when crying Anjanā came out to give him a send-off. But he spurned her. She said, 'With your going away life too will depart from me, since it was sustained by your presence only' (10). Though struck with these words, Pavaṇaṇaya went away disregarding her.

Encamping on the banks of Mānasa lake, Pavananjaya saw there the female Cakravāka pathetically bewailing for her dear companion from whom she was separated because of the night-time. This sight moved Pavananjaya to imagine the plight of poor Anjana for all these years and he resolved to shower his love on her immediately. Thereupon Prahasita and Pavanañjaya flew across the sky (11). In a moment they arrived at Añjana's quarters. Pavana hid himself and Prahasita informed her of Pavana's arriva!. Vasantamālā did not believe it, but Pavana himself appeared and smothered Añjanā in a passionate embrace (12).

Afijanā accused of unchastity and abandoned: Birth of Hanumat: Pavana's Search:
Their Reunion

In the last part of the night Pavana prepared to leave when Añjanā asked for some token for convincing others in case she conceived. Pavana gave his armlet and left. In course of time seeing Añjanā big with child her mother-in-law accused her of unchastity; Vasantamālā showed Pavana's armlet and girdle as evidences of his visit and offered to pass any other ordeal (1). But Ketumatī was unconvinced. She got them lashed and on her orders a fierce soldier drove them away from the city and left there (2). They spent a frightful night in that wilderness. Then she went to her father's city and as the news of her arrival reached him he gave orders to decorate the city and arrange for her reception (3). But coming to know that Añjanā was pregnant and had come crying with Vasantamālā alone, without any escort or paraphernalia, the king suspected some blot on her character and ordered to drive her out forthwith from the city. His minister advised him to make enquiries before taking any steps, for discord between mothers-in-law and daughters-in-law was proverbial. But the king was firm in his conviction and so Āñjanā and Vasantamālā were driven out of the city.

They entered a frightful forest, crying bitterly and blaming Fate for its cruelty (4-5). Anjana's lament. Completely exhausted, they arrived near the Paryanka cave where sage Amitagati practised austerities. Anjana paying obeisance to the sage asked about the wicked deeds committed by her in her previous lives on account of which she had been suffering (6). Vasantamālā attributed her sufferings to the unlucky child in her womb. But the sage said: 'That child is destined to become a hero and get emancipation during this very existence. But Anjana in her previous existence threw away the Jina idol worshipped by her cowife out of ill-will, hence her present suffering. Henceforth she will enjoy all blessings.' With these words, the sage left.

At this juncture a terrible lion appeared before them. Añjanā fell unconscious and Vasantamāla flew up in the sky and began to scream and lamentingly appeal for rescue. Hearing this Maṇicūḍa, a benevolent Gandharva-chief, assumed the form of Aṣṭāpada and chased the lion. Vasantamālā came down to Āñjanā (7-8). The Gandharva sang a charming song. They became conscious of some benevolent being residing there, who gave them protection and comfort. While they stayed there in the Paryanka cave, Añjanā gave birth to a son bearing all auspicious marks.

Pratisūrya passing across the sky saw them and coming down enquired about them (9). Vasantamālā introduced Anjanā and related their tale of woe. With tears in his eyes, the Vidyādhara introduced himself as Anjanā's maternal uncle and king of Hanuruha. Shedding tears of joy they embraced each other (10). Pratisūrya comforted them, took them in his car and started. The mischievous child fell out of the flying car down on the earth. The Vidyādharas brought him back to Añjanā. Coming to the city Pratisūrya celebrated the child's birth. He was named Sundara, being very beautiful, Śrīśaila, because by his fall he pounded the mountain to dust, and Hanumat, as he was reared up in the Hanuruha Island (11).

Here securing the release of Khara and Dūṣaṇa and successfully negotiating friendly treaty between Varuṇa and Rāvaṇa, Pavana returned. Seeing the apartments of his wife empty, he made inquiries and coming to know what happened went with his friend to his father-in-law. Not finding Añjanā there, he went away somewhere, sending back his friends with the message to his mother that Pavana was consumed up by the fire of separation (12). His grievous friends returned. Pavana entered a wild wood and enquired the animals and birds there about his beloved. While thus roving, he saw a huge banyan (13). There he begged his elephant Kālamegha to excuse him for his past ill-treatment and took before him the vow of becoming a recluse in case no tidings of his beloved reached him. Thenceforth he observed complete silence. The elephant guarded him.

Prahasita informed Pavana's mother (14). She broke down with grief and lament. Prahlāda comforted her and made inquiries with the Vidyādharas of both the Ranges. Messages were despatched to all (15) including Pratisūrya. Hearing the bad news, Añjanā swooned. Pratisūrya comforted her and assured her of finding out Pavana (16). He went to King Prahlāda and thence wandering in search of Pavana, they came to Bhutaravā forest. There Kālamegha elephant attacked the party. He was tamed with the help of cow-elephants. Then the searching party found out Pavana. The Vidyādharas surrounded him but he was reticent and motionless (17). Then he wrote a verse on the ground, 'If Añjanā is no more, I will put an end to my life. If she is living, I would open my mouth.' Thereupon Pratisūrya related everything upto the naming of Añjanā's son. Hearing these words Pavana got up. Pratisūrya brought him to his city. Pavana and Añjanā were reunited. They talked of their tales of joys and sorrows (18)...

Rālvaņa's war with Varuņa: Varuņa's Defeat

Hanumat came of age, when Rāvaṇa declared war on Varuṇa. Messengers were sent to his allies and, feudatories. Hanumat urged his elders to send himself to assist Rāvaṇa (1). He submitted that though he was young, he was second to none in valour. Eventually permitted, he went with his forces to Laṅkā. Rāvaṇa saw Hanumat coming (2). He received him with due honour and at once he marched against Varuṇa and encamped on Mount Velandhara (3). Spies informed Varuṇa. He was advised to submit to mighty Rāvaṇa. Wrathfully Varuṇa told them, 'What could Rāvaṇa do at the time of the captivity of Khara and Dūṣaṇa?' (4). Varuṇa armed himself. His numerous sons appeared on the battle front. The two armies fell upon each other (5). Description of the battle: Rāvaṇa was surrounded by Varuṇa's son (6). Here Varuṇa was surrounded by Rāvaṇa's sons and generals. Rāvaṇa's chariot and armour were destroyed. But Hanumat went to his succour and dispersed the siege (7). He was on the point of binding all the enemy forces with his magic tail, when Varuṇa challenged him. While they were fighting, Rāvaṇa intervened and threatened Varuṇa to send the way of Yama, Indra and others (8). Varuṇa retorted and both fell upon each other. At this juncture Hanumat bound Varuṇa's sons. Receiving these sad news, Varuṇa lost heart and Rāvaṇa captured him. Bhānukarṇa brought there the whole of Varuṇa's harem crying piteously. Rāvaṇa denounced his action as unbecoming (11). Rāvaṇa married Varuṇa's daughter and returned to Lankā in great triumph. He honoured Hanumat. Sugrīva and many others offered their daughters to Hanumat. Thus marrying eight thousand girls, he returned to his city. All other kings also were honoured.

Here, Sambukumāra went to a forest to acquire the Sūrya-hāsa sword (12).
